Way Paved For Negroes To Re-Enter Milford High

Vice Chancellor Rules For NAACP

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 14 (AP)—Delaware today paved the legal way for the re-admission of ten Negro students to the formerly all-white Milford, Del., High School.

Vice Chancellor William Marvel ruled that the ten Negroes "have a clear legal right" to attend the Milford school, pending a final decision by the Delaware Court of Chancery in a case filed by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People on behalf of the ten children and their parents.

There was no immediate reaction to the vice chancellor's ruling by the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, or the organization's president, Bryant Bowles.

Exceptions May Be Filed

Louis L. Redding, attorney for the NAACP, said in Wilmington it would probably be the middle of next week before the children return to the school.

He explained that the defendants in the case — the Milford School Board, the school superintendent and the high school principal—have until Tuesday noon to file arguments or exceptions to the ruling with the chancery.

If none are filed the chancery then would issue an order, effective immediately which would clear the way for the school to readmit the pupils.

Mayor Edward C. Evans of Milford said he understands the school board will meet tomorrow to decide whether to file exceptions to the order. One source close to the school board said he didn't think they would.

No Return Date Specified

Marvel did not specify in his order when the students should return to class.

The NAACP suit was heard in Court of Chancery at Georgetown, Del., last Tuesday. During the hearing, State Atty. Gen. H. Albert Young appeared "as a friend of the court" and made a dramatic appeal for readmission of the ten Negroes.

In his ruling today, Marvel said: "I hold that the plaintiffs have constitutional rights to a non-segregated education vested on their admission to Milford High School, rights when the defendants concede but which they wish to withhold for the present. I find the plaintiffs' legal rights clear and convincing."

Lamont, Probe Figure, Indicted

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted three persons, including leftist author-lecturer Corliss Lamont, for refusing to answer questions of the McCarthy Senate subcommittee.

The others were:

Attorney Abraham Unger, who aided in the defense of the 11 top U.S. Communists convicted in 1949 of conspiring to overthrow the government by force. Unger also was counsel for some of the 13 Puerto Rican Nationalists found guilty this week on seditious conspiracy charges.

Albert Shadowitz of Nutley, N.J., a former employe of the Federal Telecommunications Laboratories which figured in Sen. McCarthy's controversial probe of subversion and espionage in vital Army Signal Corps projects.

The Senate voted contempt citations against all three last Aug. 18, and the grand jury indictments were necessary to bring them to trial.

Lamont is scheduled to appear in court tomorrow and the others Monday.

Byrd, Democratic candidate for governor, charged today the State Roads Commission named by his Republican opponent is building jetties along the ocean front north of Ocean City "to enhance the value of large tracts of speculative real estate owned by a former member of the commission."

Principal target of the statement was Avery W. Hall, Salisbury business man who resigned from the Roads Commission about a year ago.

West Considers Soviet Conditions For Arms Huddle

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—The Soviet Union was reported today to be ready to back a Western resolution for further secret negotiations on disarmament and atomic control if some minor changes are made in the proposal.

The changes were said to put more reference to Moscow's new disarmament plan in the resolution and thus make certain it would be studied by the proposed five-power group.

Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky conferred with Paul Martin, Canadian minister of health and welfare, who originally introduced the resolution. It now is sponsored also by the United States, Britain and France.

Soviet Suggestions Studied

Diplomatic sources said Martin was consulting his government and that delegates of the United States, Britain and France also were studying the Russian suggestions. These five countries would make the five-power group to be set up under terms of the Western resolution.

The Russian conditions may be accepted by the West in an attempt to get the disarmament talks back into a five-power huddle. The five countries made up a sub-committee of the disarmament commission which wrangled to a deadlock in London last spring.

Russia Makes "Concessions"

The Soviet Union has put before the U. N. Assembly a new set of proposals billed by Moscow as major concessions. These would be studied by the five-power group if and when it is set up by the assembly.

Diplomatic sources said Vishinsky wanted to make two changes in the Western resolution. One amendment would change the title of the Western resolution to include a reference to the Soviet proposal.

The other would mention the Russian proposal specifically in directing the disarmament commission, from which the five-power group would be constituted, to study the arms problem again.

Kansan, 100 Next May, Gets Divorce

IOLA, Kan., Oct. 14 (AP)—An Iola man who will be 100 years old next May was granted a divorce today and was told he must not get married again within the next six months.

Thomas K. Kimzey asked for the decree and told Judge Spencer Gard he wanted to get the divorce before he is 100 years old.

Congratulations, Gifts Shower Ike On 64th Birthday

DENVER, Oct. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower was showered with congratulations and gifts ranging from trout rods and barbecue equipment to a Black Angus calf on his 64th birthday today.

"Thank you, thank you," the smiling President said as he stepped from his car at the Denver White House this morning to the "Happy birthday" greetings of a group of aides.

From all over the nation hundreds of congratulatory messages arrived. And the gifts were piled high at the chief executive's Lowry Air Base office and at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud.

One of the gifts—the Black Angus calf—was on the way to the President's 189-acre farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

On the President's desk at Lowry were 64 red roses which came from employes of the White House in Washington. From members of his personal staff there was an undisclosed gift.

The others included an old Scotch bellows for the fireplace at his farm, asbestos barbecue mittens, a barbecue fork, trout rods and reels and a basket creel, several paintings, and two boxwood plants for the farm.

With the Eisenhowers' new home at the Gettysburg farm nearing completion, many of the gifts the President received were selected with a view to helping furnish the place.

There also were plenty of birthday cakes. One — a replica of the White House with a golf putting green on the roof — was on the table at a luncheon given for the President at Cherry Hills Country Club by a group of about 35 Colorado golfing pals.

The luncheon also was a farewell party for Eisenhower, who will end an eight-week work and play vacation tomorrow and head back to Washington.

British Labor Minister Calls Strike Parleys

2-Week-Old London Dock Tieup Cripples Shipping Industry

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP) — The Churchill government tonight stepped into the two-week-old London dock strike which has cut deeply into Britain's vital shipping industry.

Prime Minister Churchill summoned a special Cabinet meeting, and later Sir Walter Monckton, minister of labor, asked waterfront employers and union representative to meet with him separately tomorrow.

Also discussed at the Cabinet session was the strike which has brought to a halt thousands of London's red double-decker buses.

Only One Ship Worked

Walkouts spread throughout the day. Only one ship in the miles of London wharves was being worked. Industrial experts estimated between a quarter and a third of Britain's overseas trade was at a standstill. More than a third of the city's 7,100 buses stood idle in their garages, upsetting surface transport.

Union pleas to dock strikers to return to work to permit negotiation of their grievances were countered by strike committee predictions the stoppage "will become national."

One drastic step which the government could take would be to declare a state of emergency and call troops to the docks to unload perishable cargoes.

12,330 Busmen Out

This was the picture in London's surface transport:

More than 12,330 bus drivers and conductors were out. Service was at a standstill on 92 of London's 200 bus routes. Forty-two other routes were partly affected and 32 were working restricted schedules.

Tens of thousands of Londoners were delayed in the nightly rush to get home after the day's work. Queues grew longer and longer as packed buses rumbled past one stop after another. Huge jams formed at the entrances to the subway system and the trains were crowded with thousands of extra passengers who normally depend on buses. Hundreds were given lifts by passing automobiles. Others hiked it to the railway stations to catch commuter trains to the suburbs.

Doolittle Report Stirs Ike Review Of CIA Activities

BONN, Germany, Oct. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower is reviewing secret operations of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in Europe on the basis of a confidential report from aviation hero James H. Doolittle, an authoritative source disclosed here tonight.

Doolittle made a hush-hush visit to West Germany in September, conferring with intelligence officers who direct thousands of U. S.-paid agents in cold war activities inside the Soviet bloc.

A retired air force lieutenant general who served under Eisenhower in North Africa and on the Western Front, Doolittle was the President's personal nominee for the CIA survey.

Some of the highest CIA officials in Germany have been Doolittle's friends since prewar days when he was an air racer. He discussed with them some of the most guarded secrets of American espionage.

It is assumed here that one of the questions explored by Doolittle was whether the CIA's supersize staff abroad could be pared down without crippling its essential security functions. About 1,000 Americans are employed by CIA in Germany alone. Many Germans are also on its payroll.

Another question that Doolittle may have taken up was whether undercover operations behind the Iron Curtain should be modified.

Still a third question may have been the future restrictions that will be clamped on CIA by the grant of sovereignty to West Germany.

Nixon Sees 'Dog' Squabble As Republican 'Plus' Item

[By The Associated Press]

Repercussions from Secretary of Defense Wilson's dissertion on dogs still echoed along the political front yesterday (Thursday), with Vice President Nixon predicting the whole thing would wind up as a "plus" item in the GOP campaign.

Wilson himself has apologized for his remarks at the Detroit News conference Monday. He told a Republican rally in Chicago Wednesday night that he "made a mistake — an unfortunate mistake—bringing up those bird dogs at the same time I was talking about people."

But the defense chief added that his meaning was "distorted by our left wing opponents."

Discussing one aspect of the unemployment situation at the Detroit conference, Wilson had remarked, "and I've got a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches 'em—but I've always liked bird dogs better than kennel dogs. You know, one who'll get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

This brought a roar of protest from union leaders, Democrats and even some members of Wilson's own party.

Nixon, in Houston, Tex., on a speech-making tour, told a news conference yesterday that left wing elements and "dumbocrats" distorted Wilson's statement, with the first "bark" coming from CIO President Walter Reuther.

"The Wilson incident will end up as a plus for our campaign," the vice president said. "I don't believe that ever in the history of

Hurricane Hazel Leaves Her Mark

Congressman's War Exploits Questioned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — The veterans edition of the Army Times devotes most of three pages in its current issue to a copyrighted article captained "The Strange Case of Congressman Doug Stringfellow." The Utah Republican described the article as an "unfounded attack . . . politically inspired."

The article deals with Stringfellow's accounts of his wartime service, as given, the paper says, in articles in Pacific coast newspapers and on a television show (This Is Your Life, over NBC) last Jan. 24.

In those accounts Stringfellow was quoted as detailing exploits behind the German lines as an operative of the secret Office of Strategic Services.

The Army Times article, under the joint byline of editor Harold G. Stagg and managing editor Les Honeycutt, quoted Army records and reports the writers say were obtained from officers under whom Stringfellow served.

Questions Unanswered

It says the record leaves unanswered questions:

"Was Congressman Stringfellow the heroic and lone survivor of an OSS 'cloak and dagger' operation behind the German lines near the closing days of World War II in which a leading German scientist — which Stringfellow publicly claimed was Dr. Otto Hahn — was captured?

"Or, was Congressman Stringfellow a private first class with the 62nd Armored Infantry Battalion who served overseas less than one month, but never saw combat, although he was seriously injured and disabled while on a 'routine assignment to lift a mine field' in France on Nov. 19, 1944?

"And during a 14-day period when Congressman Stringfellow supposedly was en route overseas aboard the USS Le Jeune, was he —in fact—carrying out an OSS 'cloak and dagger' operation in the 'basement of the Gestapo' in Nuernberg, Germany, or—as his immediate superiors testify — was he aboard ship?"

Stringfellow himself was not immediately reachable for comment.

Stringfellow left Ogden, Utah, by air this morning and stopped shortly before noon at the Denver White House.

Did Not See President

Murray Snyder, assistant presidential press secretary, said Stringfellow talked briefly with members of the President's staff but did not see Eisenhower.

Snyder would not say who were the Eisenhower aides Stringfellow met.

He reportedly discussed the Army Times article.

Newsmen did not see Stringfellow.

The Ogden office, however, put out a statement for Stringfellow, saying:

"Coming on the eve of the November election, it seems perfectly clear that this unfounded attack is politically inspired.

"The authenticity of my service record is beyond question. No politically inspired attack, however vicious, can change that fact."

Stringfellow was quoted as saying he would withhold further comment until he and his attorneys could obtain and have full opportunity to review the magazine article.

Dutch Ship Sinks After Collision In Lake Michigan

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 14 (AP)—The 258-foot Dutch cargo ship, Prins Willem V sank in Lake Michigan tonight after colliding with a tug, but all aboard were believed rescued.

The Willem, an Oranje Line ship with 29 men aboard, went down in 80 feet of water one hour and 15 minutes after colliding with a Sinclaire Oil Co. tug, which was towing a barge.

The 2,000 ton ship, carrying a general cargo, was outbound from Milwaukee to Canada and Europe. The collision occurred in heavy seas, but there was no fog in the area. It was not immediately determined which vessel struck the other.

John Roosevelt Says People Realize Need For GOP Congress

SARASOTA, Fla., Oct. 14 (AP) — John Roosevelt said today the people of the United States "are beginning to realize the necessity to elect a Republican majority in Congress."

The son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt flew to Sarasota to help two Republican candidates for Congress — E. B. Sutton of Lakeland in the 7th District and William C. Cramer of St. Petersburg in the 1st District.

In an interview, he said the people, aware of the need for a GOP Congress to carry President Eisenhower's program, "are getting out and really going to work" to elect a Republican majority.

"They also are beginning to realize that a Democratic-controlled Congress would not cooperate with the President," Roosevelt added.

South Viet Nam 'Chaos' Possible, Mansfield Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — A report by a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today said the situation in Indochina has seriously deteriorated and in South Viet Nam there is danger it "could give way to complete internal chaos."

The report, made by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) to the full committee, urged immediate suspension of U.S. aid "preliminary to a complete reappraisal of our present policies" if the tottering South Viet Nam government should fall.

U. S. Equipment Lost

Mansfield, who returned last week from a two-month study mission to Indochina, also recommended that the Senate study losses of U.S. military equipment and other aid in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. He said expenditures there since 1950 have exceeded $2,600,000,000.

He said according to best available estimates "some 25 per cent of American economic aid went into areas which are now held by the Communists, an unwitting gift . . ."

Viet Nam Divided

Under the Geneva cease fire agreement of last summer, the state of Viet Nam was divided into two zones, with Communists controlling the North zone and non-Communists controlling the South, pending a general election in 1956. A commission composed of representatives of Canada, Poland and India is to supervise the election.

Mansfield cited one instance in which he said U.S. assistance made possible major improvements to the Hanoi airport "now passed intact to the Communists."

"It's new American - aid - built runway can handle heavy bombers capable of striking at our bases in the Philippines," he added.

Supreme Court To Decide If Sedition Is State Offense

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Whether states may prosecute alleged subversives under their own sedition laws or must leave the field exclusively to the federal government will be decided by the Supreme Court.

The court, in its first business session of the new term, agreed today to review a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision throwing out the conviction of Steve Nelson, western Pennsylvania Communist party leader, on charges of violating the state's sedition act.

The Pennsylvania court ruled that sedition against the United States is a federal offense and can be prosecuted only in federal courts.

Twenty-seven states joined Pennsylvania in asking the U. S. Supreme Court to review and overturn the State Supreme Court decision.

Nelson was tried under the Pennsylvania Sedition Act in Pittsburgh in 1952 and drew a 20-year sentence. Subsequently he was tried under the federal Smith Act and received a five-year sentence. The Smith Act makes it a crime to conspire to teach the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

In asking for a Supreme Court review, Atty. Gen. Frank F. Truscott of Pennsylvania, said:

"If prosecution is restricted to federal courts, a Communist by dilatory and frustrating tactic may protract and delay trials in federal courts to such an extent that only a comparatively small proportion of these subversive offenders may be tried and sentenced."

Vicious Storm Bearing Down On N. Carolina

Wilmington Area In Path; New England Rushes Preparations

HATTERAS, N. C., Oct. 14 (AP)—Hurricane Hazel, gaining speed and expected to move still faster, aimed its death-dealing fury at the North Carolina coast tonight.

The season's most vicious tropical storm, with winds of 130-miles an hour and moving north-northwest at 25 to 30 m.p.h., was expected to strike land near Wilmington, N. C., about 5 a.m. The Miami Weather Bureau warned that winds would increase along the coast north of the storm throughout the night.

The Weather Bureau said Hazel was centered about 275 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., and about 350 miles southeast of Wilmington at 8 p.m.

North Carolina coastal dwellers worked feverishly to prepare for the savage storm which caused uncounted death and destruction as it lumbered through the Caribbean.

New England Prepares

Storm-wary New Englanders, already battered by two death-dealing hurricanes this year, hurried preparations against Hazel just in case the storm maintained its course and hit there.

All along the coast from Charleston, S. C., to Block Island storm warnings were hoisted and the Weather Bureau cautioned against dangerous winds and high tides.

The entire North Carolina coastline was brought under hurricane alert tonight as the storm maintained its north-northwest course. Earlier only the Capes area expected the full brunt of the storm.

The Weather Bureau said the center of the storm was about 260 miles east of Melbourne, Fla., at 5 p.m. Its forward movement was about 25 miles an hour, but it was picking up speed.

Highest winds were estimated at 130 miles an hour over a small area near the center, and gales to extend 200 miles to the north and east and about 100 miles to the south and west.

Planes Drop Warnings

"Winds will gradually increase and squalls become more frequent along the coast as the hurricane approaches," the bureau said.

"This is a severe hurricane and all precautions should be taken immediately in the area of warning display for the protection of life and property against dangerous winds and abnormally high tides."

Planes from the Coast Guard Air Station at Elizabeth City patrolled North Carolina's outer banks and inland sounds during the day, dropping warnings.

Residents in threatened areas were advised to "get away and stay away" from low-lying beaches or other locations that might be swept by high tides or storm waves.

All Red Cross chapters along the North Carolina coast were alerted to offer emergency aid to possible hurricane victims.

Twenty-one professional disaster workers were dispatched into threatened areas.

Probe Of A-Sub Errors Ordered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Navy has ordered a study of its whole system of supply, contracts and other matters which might have bearing on how the wrong kind of pipe came to be installed in the atomic submarine, Nautilus, and in a test engine being built for a second nuclear sub.

In answer to a question, a Navy spokesman said today the Bureau of Ships has designated Capt. Philip W. Snyder, commander of the Boston Navy shipyard, to make the study and report to the bureau.

Snyder's inquiry will not be concerned with fixing responsibility for the error, but in trying to find any weaknesses in standard procedure which might have contributed it.

The trouble in the Nautilus showed up on Sept. 18 when a steam line burst under test. It was discovered that some welded instead of seamless piping had been included in the secondary steam system of the atomic submarine. The welded pipe has less strength than the seamless type.

Yesterday the Atomic Energy Commission disclosed that some welded piping has been found in the land-based prototype atomic engine being assembled at West Milton, N. Y. The operational version of that engine will be used in the second atomic submarine, the Sea Wolf.

Hurricane Hazel Leaves Her Mark

The town of Jeremie, on the southwest peninsula of the island republic of Haiti, shows heavy damage left by Hurricane Hazel when it struck Tuesday. Many houses are left roofless, with sidings torn away, although streets are now swept clear of debris as the town struggles out from under the blow. Earlier unverified reports of heavy loss of life apparently were false or at least exaggerated.

Congressman's War Exploits Questioned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — The veterans edition of the Army Times devotes most of three pages in its current issue to a copyrighted article captained "The Strange Case of Congressman Doug Stringfellow." The Utah Republican described the article as an "unfounded attack . . . politically inspired."

The article deals with Stringfellow's accounts of his wartime service, as given, the paper says, in articles in Pacific coast newspapers and on a television show (This Is Your Life, over NBC) last Jan. 24.

In those accounts Stringfellow was quoted as detailing exploits behind the German lines as an operative of the secret Office of Strategic Services.

The Army Times article, under the joint byline of editor Harold G. Stagg and managing editor Les Honeycutt, quoted Army records and reports the writers say were obtained from officers under whom Stringfellow served.

Questions Unanswered

It says the record leaves unanswered questions:

"Was Congressman Stringfellow the heroic and lone survivor of an OSS 'cloak and dagger' operation behind the German lines near the closing days of World War II in which a leading German scientist — which Stringfellow publicly claimed was Dr. Otto Hahn — was captured?

"Or, was Congressman Stringfellow a private first class with the 62nd Armored Infantry Battalion who served overseas less than one month, but never saw combat, although he was seriously injured and disabled while on a 'routine assignment to lift a mine field' in France on Nov. 19, 1944?

"And during a 14-day period when Congressman Stringfellow supposedly was en route overseas aboard the USS Le Jeune, was he —in fact—carrying out an OSS 'cloak and dagger' operation in the 'basement of the Gestapo' in Nuernberg, Germany, or—as his immediate superiors testify — was he aboard ship?"

Stringfellow himself was not immediately reachable for comment.

Stringfellow left Ogden, Utah, by air this morning and stopped shortly before noon at the Denver White House.

Did Not See President

Murray Snyder, assistant presidential press secretary, said Stringfellow talked briefly with members of the President's staff but did not see Eisenhower.

Snyder would not say who were the Eisenhower aides Stringfellow met.

He reportedly discussed the Army Times article.

Newsmen did not see Stringfellow.

The Ogden office, however, put out a statement for Stringfellow, saying:

"Coming on the eve of the November election, it seems perfectly clear that this unfounded attack is politically inspired.

"The authenticity of my service record is beyond question. No politically inspired attack, however vicious, can change that fact."

Stringfellow was quoted as saying he would withhold further comment until he and his attorneys could obtain and have full opportunity to review the magazine article.

Dutch Ship Sinks After Collision In Lake Michigan

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 14 (AP)—The 258-foot Dutch cargo ship, Prins Willem V sank in Lake Michigan tonight after colliding with a tug, but all aboard were believed rescued.

The Willem, an Oranje Line ship with 29 men aboard, went down in 80 feet of water one hour and 15 minutes after colliding with a Sinclaire Oil Co. tug, which was towing a barge.

The 2,000 ton ship, carrying a general cargo, was outbound from Milwaukee to Canada and Europe. The collision occurred in heavy seas, but there was no fog in the area. It was not immediately determined which vessel struck the other.

John Roosevelt Says People Realize Need For GOP Congress

SARASOTA, Fla., Oct. 14 (AP) — John Roosevelt said today the people of the United States "are beginning to realize the necessity to elect a Republican majority in Congress."

The son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt flew to Sarasota to help two Republican candidates for Congress — E. B. Sutton of Lakeland in the 7th District and William C. Cramer of St. Petersburg in the 1st District.

In an interview, he said the people, aware of the need for a GOP Congress to carry President Eisenhower's program, "are getting out and really going to work" to elect a Republican majority.

"They also are beginning to realize that a Democratic-controlled Congress would not cooperate with the President," Roosevelt added.

South Viet Nam 'Chaos' Possible, Mansfield Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — A report by a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today said the situation in Indochina has seriously deteriorated and in South Viet Nam there is danger it "could give way to complete internal chaos."

The report, made by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) to the full committee, urged immediate suspension of U.S. aid "preliminary to a complete reappraisal of our present policies" if the tottering South Viet Nam government should fall.

U. S. Equipment Lost

Mansfield, who returned last week from a two-month study mission to Indochina, also recommended that the Senate study losses of U.S. military equipment and other aid in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. He said expenditures there since 1950 have exceeded $2,600,000,000.

He said according to best available estimates "some 25 per cent of American economic aid went into areas which are now held by the Communists, an unwitting gift . . ."

Viet Nam Divided

Under the Geneva cease fire agreement of last summer, the state of Viet Nam was divided into two zones, with Communists controlling the North zone and non-Communists controlling the South, pending a general election in 1956. A commission composed of representatives of Canada, Poland and India is to supervise the election.

Mansfield cited one instance in which he said U.S. assistance made possible major improvements to the Hanoi airport "now passed intact to the Communists."

"It's new American - aid - built runway can handle heavy bombers capable of striking at our bases in the Philippines," he added.

Beard Convicted

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15 (AP) — Samuel R. Beard, 300-pound Washington gambler, was convicted tonight on one charge of evading $483,563 in federal income taxes for 1944.

Vicious Storm Bearing Down On N. Carolina

Wilmington Area In Path; New England Rushes Preparations

HATTERAS, N. C., Oct. 14 (AP)—Hurricane Hazel, gaining speed and expected to move still faster, aimed its death-dealing fury at the North Carolina coast tonight.

The season's most vicious tropical storm, with winds of 130-miles an hour and moving north-northwest at 25 to 30 m.p.h., was expected to strike land near Wilmington, N. C., about 5 a.m. The Miami Weather Bureau warned that winds would increase along the coast north of the storm throughout the night.

The Weather Bureau said Hazel was centered about 275 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., and about 350 miles southeast of Wilmington at 8 p.m.

North Carolina coastal dwellers worked feverishly to prepare for the savage storm which caused uncounted death and destruction as it lumbered through the Caribbean.

New England Prepares

Storm-wary New Englanders, already battered by two death-dealing hurricanes this year, hurried preparations against Hazel just in case the storm maintained its course and hit there.

All along the coast from Charleston, S. C., to Block Island storm warnings were hoisted and the Weather Bureau cautioned against dangerous winds and high tides.

The entire North Carolina coastline was brought under hurricane alert tonight as the storm maintained its north-northwest course. Earlier only the Capes area expected the full brunt of the storm.

The Weather Bureau said the center of the storm was about 260 miles east of Melbourne, Fla., at 5 p.m. Its forward movement was about 25 miles an hour, but it was picking up speed.

Highest winds were estimated at 130 miles an hour over a small area near the center, and gales to extend 200 miles to the north and east and about 100 miles to the south and west.

Planes Drop Warnings

"Winds will gradually increase and squalls become more frequent along the coast as the hurricane approaches," the bureau said.

"This is a severe hurricane and all precautions should be taken immediately in the area of warning display for the protection of life and property against dangerous winds and abnormally high tides."

Planes from the Coast Guard Air Station at Elizabeth City patrolled North Carolina's outer banks and inland sounds during the day, dropping warnings.

Residents in threatened areas were advised to "get away and stay away" from low-lying beaches or other locations that might be swept by high tides or storm waves.

All Red Cross chapters along the North Carolina coast were alerted to offer emergency aid to possible hurricane victims.

Probe Of A-Sub Errors Ordered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Navy has ordered a study of its whole system of supply, contracts and other matters which might have bearing on how the wrong kind of pipe came to be installed in the atomic submarine, Nautilus, and in a test engine being built for a second nuclear sub.

In answer to a question, a Navy spokesman said today the Bureau of Ships has designated Capt. Philip W. Snyder, commander of the Boston Navy shipyard, to make the study and report to the bureau.

Snyder's inquiry will not be concerned with fixing responsibility for the error, but in trying to find any weaknesses in standard procedure which might have contributed it.

The trouble in the Nautilus showed up on Sept. 18 when a steam line burst under test. It was discovered that some welded instead of seamless piping had been included in the secondary steam system of the atomic submarine. The welded pipe has less strength than the seamless type.

Yesterday the Atomic Energy Commission disclosed that some welded piping has been found in the land-based prototype atomic engine being assembled at West Milton, N. Y. The operational version of that engine will be used in the second atomic submarine, the Sea Wolf.

Kimzey and his wife, Mrs. Clara Kimzey, 70, were married in Pickneyville, Ill., in 1945. They lived together at Iola until 1952 when, Kimzey said, she left him.

Actor James Mason To Write, Produce

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14 (AP)—James Mason announced today he is giving up acting to devote his talents to writing and producing for his own company.

"I've always regarded myself as somewhat of a writer and producer," he said. "Acting never was my ultimate choice as a profession. I did it because the work came easily. Now I can enjoy the things I like more."

Lamont, Probe Figure, Indicted

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted three persons, including leftist author-lecturer Corliss Lamont, for refusing to answer questions of the McCarthy Senate subcommittee.

The others were:

Attorney Abraham Unger, who aided in the defense of the 11 top U.S. Communists convicted in 1949 of conspiring to overthrow the government by force. Unger also was counsel for some of the 13 Puerto Rican Nationalists found guilty this week on seditious conspiracy charges.

Albert Shadowitz of Nutley, N.J., a former employe of the Federal Telecommunications Laboratories which figured in Sen. McCarthy's controversial probe of subversion and espionage in vital Army Signal Corps projects.

The Senate voted contempt citations against all three last Aug. 18, and the grand jury indictments were necessary to bring them to trial.

SRC Jetty-Building Target Of Byrd Blast

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—H. C. Byrd, Democratic candidate for governor, charged today the State Roads Commission named by his Republican opponent is building jetties along the ocean front north of Ocean City "to enhance the value of large tracts of speculative real estate owned by a former member of the commission."

Principal target of the statement was Avery W. Hall, Salisbury business man who resigned from the Roads Commission about a year ago.

Nixon Sees 'Dog' Squabble As Republican 'Plus' Item

[By The Associated Press]

Repercussions from Secretary of Defense Wilson's dissertion on dogs still echoed along the political front yesterday (Thursday), with Vice President Nixon predicting the whole thing would wind up as a "plus" item in the GOP campaign.

Wilson himself has apologized for his remarks at the Detroit News conference Monday. He told a Republican rally in Chicago Wednesday night that he "made a mistake — an unfortunate mistake—bringing up those bird dogs at the same time I was talking about people."

But the defense chief added that his meaning was "distorted by our left wing opponents."

Discussing one aspect of the unemployment situation at the Detroit conference, Wilson had remarked, "and I've got a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches 'em—but I've always liked bird dogs better than kennel dogs. You know, one who'll get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

This brought a roar of protest from union leaders, Democrats and even some members of Wilson's own party.

Nixon, in Houston, Tex., on a speech-making tour, told a news conference yesterday that left wing elements and "dumbocrats" distorted Wilson's statement, with the first "bark" coming from CIO President Walter Reuther.

"The Wilson incident will end up as a plus for our campaign," the vice president said. "I don't believe that ever in the history of

Supreme Court To Decide If Sedition Is State Offense

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Whether states may prosecute alleged subversives under their own sedition laws or must leave the field exclusively to the federal government will be decided by the Supreme Court.

The court, in its first business session of the new term, agreed today to review a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision throwing out the conviction of Steve Nelson, western Pennsylvania Communist party leader, on charges of violating the state's sedition act.

The Pennsylvania court ruled that sedition against the United States is a federal offense and can be prosecuted only in federal courts.

Twenty-seven states joined Pennsylvania in asking the U. S. Supreme Court to review and overturn the State Supreme Court decision.

Nelson was tried under the Pennsylvania Sedition Act in Pittsburgh in 1952 and drew a 20-year sentence. Subsequently he was tried under the federal Smith Act and received a five-year sentence. The Smith Act makes it a crime to conspire to teach the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

In asking for a Supreme Court review, Atty. Gen. Frank F. Truscott of Pennsylvania, said:

"If prosecution is restricted to federal courts, a Communist by dilatory and frustrating tactic may protract and delay trials in federal courts to such an extent that only a comparatively small proportion of these subversive offenders may be tried and sentenced."

Witness At Roberts Hearing Threatened

Detective Tells Of Phone Call Warning

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 14 (AP)—A witness who claimed he identified James T. Roberts near the death scene of Roberts' seven-year-old daughter testified under oath today that he was threatened by an anonymous telephone caller.

Clark Wood, 60, a real-estate broker and private detective, said a "short, snappy man's voice" warned him not to testify in the habeas corpus proceeding which Roberts has brought in an attempt to get out of jail.

Wood slugged Miami Daily News photographer Jay Spencer outside the hearing room for taking his picture. Spencer was felled by the blow.

Roberts, a Baltimore, Md., attorney, has been indicted on charges of murdering his daughter, Judity Ann. Her mutilated body was found near the waterfront here July 7. She apparently had been kidnapped from her grandparents' home during a visit by Roberts and his family.

Judge Pat Cannon recessed the hearing tonight with three more witnesses left to testify. They include Mrs. Dorothy Lawrence, former Baltimore waitress who said she was with Roberts on the night the child was murdered; Detective Charles Sapp and Deputy Sheriff Earl Venno.

Wood, pointing at Roberts, said "I positively identify the man I see sitting over there as the man I saw that night."

Judge Cannon dealt the state's case a hard blow when he refused to permit two lie-detector experts from Washington to testify.

Judge Cannon said that lie detector tests were inadmissible as evidence in courts of final jurisdiction.

State Atty. George Brautigan, who is opposing the habeas corpus proceeding, entered in the court records an offer to prove that Roberts had gone voluntarily to the Washington lie detector organization and taken the test.

Brautigam also said that if the witnesses were permitted to testify, they would say the lie detector tests indicated "Roberts was implicated, and participated in the incident, but did not commit the overt act."

The two witnesses thus excused were Leon Harrelson and Lloyd Furr.

Soviet People Told Wilson Called U. S. Jobless "Dogs"

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Moscow radio told the Soviet people tonight that U. S. Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson had called Americans unemployed "dogs."

Commentator Valentine Zorin devoted 400 words to "the scandal" he said had stemmed from Wilson's comments at Detroit Monday.

"Wilson . . . attacked the American unemployed . . . by accusing them grossly and calling them—dogs," the broadcast monitored here said.

Zorin made no mention of Wilson's later acknowledgment in Chicago last night that his news conference statement was inept.

Tooth Under Pillow OK, But Not In Ear

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP) — Pat Stilson, 10, pulled a loose tooth Tuesday and was told he ought to put it under a pillow and perhaps the fairies would come along and replace it with a lovely present.

But Pat isn't the sort to be careless with merchandise of such high potential value. If he put the tooth under his pillow, it could be that one of the brothers would make off with it, he reasoned.

So he put the tooth in his ear and went to sleep.

Yesterday, Pat had an ear ache.

Sympathetic Ike Offers Haiti More U. S. Help

DENVER, Oct. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower today expressed "deepest sympathy for the Haiti victims of hurricane Hazel and offered additional American aid.

Eisenhower sent a message to Paul E. Magloire of Haiti noting that "a disastrous hurricane . . . passed over the western heart of your country."

The chief executive added:

"I am informed that ambassador Davis has already arranged for assistance from the United States Air Force to survey the damaged area and lend all possible aid.

"I trust you will inform him of additional ways in which the Unted States can render aid."

AEC Reportedly Asked Brownell Pact View Oct. 1

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Post-Dispatch reported today the Atomic Energy Commission made an urgent request to the Department of Justice 13 days ago for its opinion on legality of the controversial Dixon-Yates contract.

Atty. Gen. Brownell thus far has failed to respond to the request, the newspaper said in a dispatch from Washington by Richard Dudman.

The Justice Department was specifically asked for its view on federal income tax provisions of the proposed contract, the Post-Dispatch said.

Under the contract, the Dixon-Yates private combine would build a 107-million-dollar steam-electric power generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., and would turn electricity into the public power lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The Post-Dispatch said in a copyrighted story Tuesday the contract, which has not been made public, would give the Dixon-Yates group "a virtually risk-free guarantee of earning 9 per cent on invested capital of 5½ million dollars."

The AEC made its request to the Justice Department, the newspaper said, in an Oct. 1 letter signed by Joseph Campbell as acting chairman of the commission.

The Post-Dispatch said examination of the proposed contract disclosed it would in effect "insulate" the private combine against future tax increases and permit Dixon-Yates to include income taxes on its monthly bills to the AEC.

Floodwaters Reach New Indiana Area

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 14 (AP)—The focus of flood dangers moved to the Kankakee and Lower Yellow River Valleys of northern Indiana today as flood waters receded in Hammond, Gary and 70 miles east in Plymouth.

An end of the flood-producing rains again was forecast — this time for tonight.

While displaced persons began shoveling mud and debris out of once-flooded homes, dike-building and evacuations went on at Knox, on the Lower Yellow River.

Sheriff Lee James reported 10,000 acres of farmland flooded along the Yellow River in the 10 miles between Knox and North Judson alone after a levee broke three miles west of Knox.

Mineral wool is also called "rock wool" or "glass wool."

GETTING READY FOR "HAZEL"—Workmen are shown sandbagging a power company's main generating plant at Providence, R. I., as word was received yesterday that Hurricane Hazel might strike the area tomorrow.

High Court Won't Interfere With N. J. School Bible Ban

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review a decision banning distribution of Bibles to children in the public schools of New Jersey.

The decision was given by the New Jersey Supreme Court, which said the distribution was prohibited by the doctrine of separation of church and state, in both the federal and state constitutions.

The Bibles were offered by the Gideons International, a nonprofit Illinois association which has placed its "Gideon Bible" in hotel rooms throughout the world.

In a test case, the Gideons offered bibles to school children in Rutherford, N.J., and the school board approved the distribution to pupils whose parents signed requests. A Jewish parent, Bernard Tudor obtained an injunction against the distribution and the injunction was upheld by New Jersey Supreme Court. That court said:

"To permit the distribution of the King James version of the Bible in the public schools of this state would be to cast aside all the progress made in the United States and throughout New Jersey in the field of religious toleration and freedom.

"We would be renewing the ancient struggles among the various religious faiths to the detriment of all. This we must decline to do."

our country has there been a more distorted picture made of what a man said."

Gov. William E. Stratton of Illinois expressed the opinion that the Wilson furor had not damaged the Republican party. He added that it might have hurt, however, if it had "dragged on."

Reuther issued a statement in Detroit saying he was pleased with Wilson's apology.

"When Mr. Wilson compared unemployed workers to dogs, I was shocked," Reuther said, "and I am pleased to learn that Mr. Wilson, after sober thought, recognizes that he made a serious mistake and that his remarks were most unfortunate."

Returning to Washington tonight from his speech making tour, Wilson said he hoped his campaigning was "wound up." With a grin, he added that "I'm not in the humor" to make any more political speeches.

He said, though, that 85 per cent of the telegrams and letters he received after the dog incident were favorable.

Teacher Firing Sets Off School Dancing Dispute

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 14 (AP)—The dismissal of a gym teacher who refused to teach "the evil element" of dancing to high school youngsters threatened today to set off a public squabble here.

The Rev. Dale S. Crowley, a Baptist minister in adjoining Washington, D.C., said Alexandria citizens are "pretty steamed up" over the issue of dancing in the schools and that a move is being launched to outlaw it.

The vice chairman of the school board, Edward D. Reed, poohpoohed the idea that Alexandria parents are opposed to their kids dancing.

Asked whether he thought there was widespread opposition to the dancing courses, Reed said: "Heavens, no! Most of the parents are happy to have their youngsters learn to become less awkward. The PTA actively supports the program."

The dismissed teacher is Walter A. Kirk Jr., 27, former minor league baseball player (Lancaster, Pa.). Kirk told an interviewer that "As a Christian, I couldn't conscientiously teach dancing because I don't think it is right."

Kirk said, however, he wasn't seeking reinstatement. He has found another job teaching physical education in Washington, where he said he isn't required to give dancing lessons.

Asked whether he acted as a member of the Baptist Church, some of whose leaders oppose dancing as sinful, Kird said: "No. I didn't act as a sectarian. I acted as a Christian."

Hubby Who Fled With His Bride's Fortune Sentenced

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 14 (AP) — Percy W. Herman, handsome Californian who overplayed his love-for-luxury role, was given an eight-year prison sentence today for fleeing the romantic coop with his elderly bride's fortune.

Federal Judge Sterling Hutcheson also slapped a maximum $10,000 fine on the 50-year-old San Franciscan, who was convicted in July of unlawfully transporting some $300,000 in cash and jewels belonging to 67-year-old Mrs. Dyoll P. Havens of Palm Beach, Fla.

The prison sentence was two years under the 10-year maximum and came in the face of a defense plea for a light term because of a heart condition Herman has had for several years.

In a test case, the Gideons offered bibles to school children in Rutherford, N.J., and the school board approved the distribution to pupils whose parents signed requests. A Jewish parent, Bernard Tudor obtained an injunction against the distribution and the injunction was upheld by New Jersey Supreme Court. That court said:

"To permit the distribution of the King James version of the Bible in the public schools of this state would be to cast aside all the progress made in the United States and throughout New Jersey in the field of religious toleration and freedom.

"We would be renewing the ancient struggles among the various religious faiths to the detriment of all. This we must decline to do."

our country has there been a more distorted picture made of what a man said."

Gov. William E. Stratton of Illinois expressed the opinion that the Wilson furor had not damaged the Republican party. He added that it might have hurt, however, if it had "dragged on."

Reuther issued a statement in Detroit saying he was pleased with Wilson's apology.

"When Mr. Wilson compared unemployed workers to dogs, I was shocked," Reuther said, "and I am pleased to learn that Mr. Wilson, after sober thought, recognizes that he made a serious mistake and that his remarks were most unfortunate."

Returning to Washington tonight from his speech making tour, Wilson said he hoped his campaigning was "wound up." With a grin, he added that "I'm not in the humor" to make any more political speeches.

He said, though, that 85 per cent of the telegrams and letters he received after the dog incident were favorable.

Teacher Firing Sets Off School Dancing Dispute

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 14 (AP)—The dismissal of a gym teacher who refused to teach "the evil element" of dancing to high school youngsters threatened today to set off a public squabble here.

The Rev. Dale S. Crowley, a Baptist minister in adjoining Washington, D.C., said Alexandria citizens are "pretty steamed up" over the issue of dancing in the schools and that a move is being launched to outlaw it.

The vice chairman of the school board, Edward D. Reed, poohpoohed the idea that Alexandria parents are opposed to their kids dancing.

Asked whether he thought there was widespread opposition to the dancing courses, Reed said: "Heavens, no! Most of the parents are happy to have their youngsters learn to become less awkward. The PTA actively supports the program."

The dismissed teacher is Walter A. Kirk Jr., 27, former minor league baseball player (Lancaster, Pa.). Kirk told an interviewer that "As a Christian, I couldn't conscientiously teach dancing because I don't think it is right."

Kirk said, however, he wasn't seeking reinstatement. He has found another job teaching physical education in Washington, where he said he isn't required to give dancing lessons.

Asked whether he acted as a member of the Baptist Church, some of whose leaders oppose dancing as sinful, Kird said: "No. I didn't act as a sectarian. I acted as a Christian."

Hubby Who Fled With His Bride's Fortune Sentenced

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 14 (AP) — Percy W. Herman, handsome Californian who overplayed his love-for-luxury role, was given an eight-year prison sentence today for fleeing the romantic coop with his elderly bride's fortune.

Federal Judge Sterling Hutcheson also slapped a maximum $10,000 fine on the 50-year-old San Franciscan, who was convicted in July of unlawfully transporting some $300,000 in cash and jewels belonging to 67-year-old Mrs. Dyoll P. Havens of Palm Beach, Fla.

The prison sentence was two years under the 10-year maximum and came in the face of a defense plea for a light term because of a heart condition Herman has had for several years.

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company

GLASS PLANT TO GIVE AREA MULTI-MILLION DOLLAR PAYROLL

Contractors Will Use Estimated 2,500 Persons On Construction

When Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's plant here is placed in production, the Cumberland area will benefit from a new multi-million dollar payroll. Estimates today are that the ultra-modern plant will require two years in construction and that precision quality plate glass will be produced here early in 1957.

Excavation of the plant site already is underway and the firm has announced that the engineering plans would be completed and bids let on construction work before the close of 1954.

However, the Cumberland area will not be compelled to wait until 1957 to feel the impact of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's decision to construct its $34,000,000 plant here.

Chamber of Commerce officials who were instrumental in having Pittsburgh Plate locate its new glass producing plant here estimate that at least 2,500 persons will be employed on construction work at the new plant site.

Local residents who are seeking jobs, however, have been advised by Pittsburgh Plate officials to wait until bids are awarded on construction of the plant before applying for jobs.

The company has stated that jobs relative to construction of the plant will be in the hands of a contractor and not the company. Jobs with Pittsburgh Plate will not be available until the plant nears completion, possibly in the early months of 1957. Initial employment has been estimated at 1,000 jobs.

Of ultra-modern design, the plate glass producing plant will contain approximately 750,000 square feet of floor space and be about three-fourths miles long. As an example of the size of the planned facility, nearly five miles of railroad tracks will be located inside the plant area.

The plant is being designed to employ new techniques in plate glass manufacture entirely new to the industry. Harry B. Higgins, president of the firm, has predicted that these new processes and techniques would enable the Cumberland plant to produce the finest quality plate glass of precision optical quality.

In times of national military emergency, the product of the new plant would be utilized in radar equipment in the form of scopes and mirrors, camera windows for military aircraft, observation windows in astral navigation of subsonic and supersonic guided missiles and in countless other uses where superior quality glass is essential.

Under normal conditions, the product of the plant will be sold for mirror manufacture, furniture tops, store windows and the countless other end uses in the constantly expanding plate glass market.

U. Of Md. Regents To Disclose MSAC Report Decision Today

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP) — The University of Maryland regents met for 4½ hours today reconsidering publication of a controversial accrediting report, but postponed saying what they decided until tomorrow.

William P. Cole, board chairman, gave no indication of what would be in tomorrow's report except to say that its release was delayed "because it is at such length."

Asked if that meant it included the text of an evaluation report made by the Middle States Assn. of Colleges, Cole replied "you will have to wait to see it to decide what is in it."

The association sent its report to the regents last April and they voted later not to make it public. Its contents have become somewhat of a political issue in the campaign for governor between Theodore R. McKeldin and Dr. H. C. Byrd, the former university president.

Gov. McKeldin urged the regents to make it public and went so far as to obtain an opinion from the attorney general that he did not have the authority to force its release.

Arthur Sherwood, Republican candidate for Congress from the 4th District, disclosed last week that the medical school of the university was threatened with loss of its accreditation. Dr. Wilson Elkins, new university president, confirmed this and Cole later said the situation applied to the university as a whole.

The regents met in special session this afternoon to decide if it should give into the pressure and release contents of the report.

All Cole would say is that they "arrived at a definite decision. It is at such length it is not available for distribution tonight. It will be distributed (through the press) late tomorrow afternoon."

He said the decision was unanimous by nine of the 11 regents attending the meeting. "The two members not here will have their attention called to it and naturally we hope they will approve it, too."

He declined to identify those present and absent.

In a reply to Sherwood, Dr. Byrd took it upon himself to release a portion of the report pertaining to the medical school.

The agreement between the Middle States Association and the university, upon joining, states that the report on evaluation is to be held in strict confidence. Copies are sent to the "chief administrative officers of the institution concerned, to each member of the evaluating committee, and to any specialized agencies which cooperated in the evaluation.

"The report is not released to anyone else, under any circumstances, except by the chief administrative officer of the institution."

Dr. Elkins is presumed to be the chief administrative officer of the university. He will release the decision of the regents tomorrow in College Park.

Dr. Cole and Dr. Elkins gave assurances that the university is accredited now and continuation is dependent on meeting certain recommended improvements of the evaluators. This was confirmed in a publication of accredited institutions as of Sept. 1 which included the University of Maryland.

An evaluation for initial accreditation is made at the request of the institution seeking membership in the association. A survey made by the association at the University of Maryland last November to determine if its accreditation should be renewed was the first in more than 25 years.

McKeldin Praises GOP's Demo Allies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin today said one of the strongestest allies a Republican can have is "a committee of Democrats who feel that their party leadership has departed from Democratic principles."

McKeldin's remarks were made in a speech prepared for the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee for the District of Columbia.

"You have teamed Democrats, Republicans and Independents together in a mighty constructive coalition to raise the issues of this campaign above the party battle," said the Republican governor.

McKeldin called for the election of a Republican congress—one he said would "back Ike."

Layoffs In Three Areas Scramble Md. Job Picture

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP) — Employment in Maryland had its ups and downs last week with a rash of layoffs in three areas offsetting a brighter picture in Baltimore.

Even so, on a state-wide basis, the week apparently was one of the year's better ones, employment-wise.

There were layoffs the Frederick, Salisbury and Westminster areas. In Baltimore, however, there was a sharp drop in the number of new applications for jobless pay.

The State Department of Employment Security said the sharpest fluctuation was in the Westminster area. It had 334 applications last week compared to 42 the week before. The department said the increase was due to temporary layoffs in the apparel and shoe industries.

The previously announced closing of a garment factory was mostly blamed for a jump of 111 to 191 applications in the Frederick area. A Salisbury boost of 83 to 136 was attributed to slackening off of the canning season.

Baltimore applications dropped from 2,543 to 2,082.

There were 3,706 new applications throughout the state last week, amongthe lowest figures of the year. The 21,663 unemployment benefit checks paid out were the fewest since the week ended Jan. 2. The $552,855 paid out was the least since the week ending Jan. 16.

Two Wilcum's Inn Robbers Sentenced

FREDERICK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Two of the last three men trapped in Wilcum's Inn by Charles Wilcum and his three shotgun-toting sons, were sentenced to jail today.

A three-year sentence in the House of Correction was handed Edward M. Robinson, 30, of Baltimore on conviction of charges of breaking and entering and larceny of Wilcum's Inn, a country crossroads store near here which had been the target of repeated burglary attempts in the past 19 months.

Louis L. Ganzermiller, 26, a companion also of Baltimore, was sentenced to two years in the break in.

Pasquale Joseph DeLeo, 34-year-old third member of the trio caught by the Wilcums last Sept. 5, remains at large. He was to have been tried with Robinson and Ganzermiller but jumped $5,000 bond and has not been located.

The first stock exchange meeting in the United States took place in New York City on May 17, 1792.

Contractor Is Killed In Auto Accident

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—John O. Lawson, Jr., 35-year-old Riviera Beach contractor, died last night at South Baltimore General Hospital after his car hit a pole on the Fort Smallwood Road.

Police said the Anne Arundel County man was thrown from the car when it failed to round a curve near Carvel Beach Road.

Chemistry Said To Hold Answer To Population Control Problem

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP) — The chairman of the American Chemical Society asserted this week that chemistry must "provide the answer" to the world's "uncontrolled increase in population."

Dr. Ernest H. Volwiler, who also is president of Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, said there is a point beyond which the increase can not go without dooming the human race to starvation.

In an address prepared for the American section of the Society of Chemical Industry, Dr. Volwiler said the world's population is increasing faster than its food supply, despite scientific aids and better methods of farming. He added:

"Some who are concerned with this prospect point to the need for a non-toxic, low-cost, economical chemical or biological substance which will control the fertility of humans.

"It may be argued that this will be unacceptable to important groups of people on the earth, but India in its present five-year plan is already taking steps in this direction, and Sweden is making progress not only in the control but also in the upgrading of its population."

Dr. Volwiler said at the current rate of growth, the world's population will jump another billion by the year 2000 to reach 3½ billion.

He said half the world's population now exists on an inadequate diet.

Doesn't Like Ike; Will Change Name

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 14 (AP)—Rolland B. Ike doesn't like his name but says it has nothing to do with President Eisenhower.

Ike, 21, said today he will go into court Nov. 3—the day after voting—and ask to change his name to William Robert Veith.

That is the name he has used since he was young, when his mother was remarried to a man named Veith.

"It's just that I don't like Ike—the name, that is," he said.

Prompting for the change, Ike said, has come from the fair sex. He will marry Patricia Murphy Nov. 27 and "she doesn't like Ike either."

Ike wouldn't say what party he will vote for.

Clergymen To Watch End-Strike Balloting

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14 (AP)—Three clergymen — a Catholic, Methodist and Jew—will watch the ballot boxes Sunday while 700 AFL teamsters vote on ending their 10-month old strike against five Pittsburgh department stores.

John R. Murray, federal mediator, said both sides agreed to the change from the usual procedure of a union, store and public representative.

The clergymen are Msgr. Andrew J. Pauley, Dr. Albert G. Curry and Rabbi M. A. Landes.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"Don't throw away what is becoming to you just because people are talking about something else!" One of America's top designers said that recently. Sound advice? Yes, indeed!

The silhouette that people are talking about now is one that subdues curves. It is wonderful for a sophisticated woman. But if you are the Dresden doll type, you'll look far more attractive in the full-skirted dresses that never go out of style.

That's the clue to a flattering wardrobe — style! Now what is it that gives a woman style? Two brief phrases summarize: First: be your age. Second: be your type.

Wardrobe Pace

Your wardrobe must keep pace with changes in your coloring, your figure, and your personality. If you are tall and angular you must not try to look kittenish; if you are a petite, completely feminine individual, you must not try to look tailored.

These pointers will help you choose clothes that are becoming and practical, with a look that declares they're styled for you alone:

1. Wear fashions that play up your good points, play down the lesser ones. The cut of a dress can minimize a full hipline—or fill out a small bust. 2. Choose colors complimentary to your own coloring. A blonde often "fades out" when wearing a yellow dress that would be striking on a redhead. Color has something to do with size, too. Did it ever occur to you that few dresses for the full figure come in vivid red?

3. Suit your wardrobe to your way of life — is it casual or sophisticated? 4. Plan your purchases to avoid buying piecemeal. A listing of what is in your closet, and what you'd like to add, will help you expand your wardrobe with interchangeables. 5. Choose the simplest statement of any seasonal fashion formula: The understated look suits most women best, and it lasts longer.

6. Remember how important accessories are in dressing down a costume, or dressing it up, in accord with the mood and the hour. 7. Be your own judge of what's best for you: a hemline, for example, must be commensurate with your height and your figure. Too long a dress looks dowdy; too short a hemline is ridiculous.

Just one last word, and if your wardrobe lives up to these style statements, you can be sure it's becoming. Your clothes must be as well groomed as you are. This is an absolute essential!

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?" — Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope for a copy of WHAT'S YOUR LINE?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"Don't throw away what is becoming to you just because people are talking about something else!" One of America's top designers said that recently. Sound advice? Yes, indeed!

The silhouette that people are talking about now is one that subdues curves. It is wonderful for a sophisticated woman. But if you are the Dresden doll type, you'll look far more attractive in the full-skirted dresses that never go out of style.

That's the clue to a flattering wardrobe — style! Now what is it that gives a woman style? Two brief phrases summarize: First: be your age. Second: be your type.

Wardrobe Pace

Your wardrobe must keep pace with changes in your coloring, your figure, and your personality. If you are tall and angular you must not try to look kittenish; if you are a petite, completely feminine individual, you must not try to look tailored.

These pointers will help you choose clothes that are becoming and practical, with a look that declares they're styled for you alone:

1. Wear fashions that play up your good points, play down the lesser ones. The cut of a dress can minimize a full hipline—or fill out a small bust. 2. Choose colors complimentary to your own coloring. A blonde often "fades out" when wearing a yellow dress that would be striking on a redhead. Color has something to do with size, too. Did it ever occur to you that few dresses for the full figure come in vivid red?

3. Suit your wardrobe to your way of life — is it casual or sophisticated? 4. Plan your purchases to avoid buying piecemeal. A listing of what is in your closet, and what you'd like to add, will help you expand your wardrobe with interchangeables. 5. Choose the simplest statement of any seasonal fashion formula: The understated look suits most women best, and it lasts longer.

6. Remember how important accessories are in dressing down a costume, or dressing it up, in accord with the mood and the hour. 7. Be your own judge of what's best for you: a hemline, for example, must be commensurate with your height and your figure. Too long a dress looks dowdy; too short a hemline is ridiculous.

Just one last word, and if your wardrobe lives up to these style statements, you can be sure it's becoming. Your clothes must be as well groomed as you are. This is an absolute essential!

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?" — Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope for a copy of WHAT'S YOUR LINE?

However they sold some of their household pieces in Huntington to purchase gas as the people there were not as good to them as those of Cumberland.

BPW Have Card Party

As another part of its observance of Business Women's Week, the Cumberland Business and Professional Womens' Club held a card party Wednesday evening at Central YMCA.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Elizabeth Malone, Miss Marion Dennison, Mrs. Margaret Bittinger, Miss Helen Wilson, Mrs. William Fletchinger and Miss Kathleen Cumbee.

Miss Dessie Williams was in charge of the party.

Tonight at 7:15 members of the club will present the "BPW Emblem" in a radio program.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held at 6:30 p. m., October 26, at Frostburg State Teachers College. The Public Affairs committee is in charge of the program. It is composed of Miss Lillian C. Compton, chairman, with Miss Edith Scharf co-chairman. Miss Gerardine Pritchard will preside.

Nominating Committee Is Named

A Nominating committee was appointed at the meeting of the Pleasant Valley Homemakers Club, held at the home of Mrs. Ambrose Miltenberger, earlier in the week, in the form of a masquerade party.

It consists of Mrs. Earl Manges, Mrs. Robert Dermer and Mrs. Carl Wilson.

Prizes for the costumes were awarded to Mrs. Clayton Odgers, for the prettiest, having come as a gypsy; Mrs. Lola Hebner, the funniest, as Aunt Jemima, and Mrs. Carl Hebner, the ugliest, a witch.

Games were played and a grab bag held.

The business session opened with group singing of "God of Our Fathers." The history of the song and author were read by Mrs. Odgers, followed by the Homemakers creed by Mrs. Lola Hebner. Routine reports were given and members responded to roll call with the achievements of the year in sewing and canning. The meeting closed with the group reciting the Lord's Prayer.

Others attending were Mrs. Roy Smith Mrs. Edna Dermer, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Elizabeth Raines, Mrs. Manges, Mrs. Robert Dermer and Mrs. Charles Smith.

Young Married Group To Entertain Children

The Young Married Couples group of Centenary Church voted to purchase a record player for the children's room and planned a Halloween party. The party will be held October 28 and is for all children of the church. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

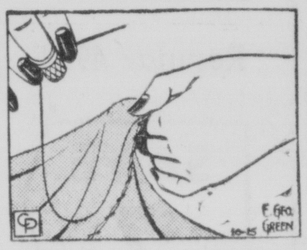
A covered dish supper preceded the meeting, which was held Tuesday evening at the church. George Brant presided.

There were 28 members present.

The next meeting will be November 9.

The WSCS district meeting is being held today at Berkeley Springs.

WIFE PRESERVERS



For easier stitching of sleeves when you are making a garment, overcast the seams before stitching instead of basting them.

Prosperity Homecoming Is Sunday

An all-day meeting will be held at Prosperity Methodist Church, Bean's Cove Road, Sunday.

It includes a "Homecoming" and "Song Service."

Sunday school will be held at 9:30, with the preaching service at 10:30, with Rev. Bruce Price giving the morning message.

The song service will begin at 1:45 and Rev. Jacob H. Snyder will give the afternoon sermon.

Tables will be available for those wishing to bring lunches. Everyone is invited to attend.

NEW YORK (INS)—Ben Wright, my idea of a sportsman, knew the place to go — the Suffolk Lodge game preserve, at Brookhaven, Long Island, N. Y. Gil Robb Wilson, one of the great men of American aviation, had the gun. I still don't know the name, gauge and calibre of the gun involved, for I am not of this sport.

But a boy knew, making me understand all over again that you never know about a kid. I had never been as far as from Washington, D. C. to New York until sent here to play in the national tennis singles at Forest Hills. Yet a kid years younger than I was at the time has worked his way around the world on a Sinclair tanker, has gone through the rigors of U. S. Marine training, and is about to go around the world again on a carrier with a Marine detachment.

Nobody remotely connected with us ever could play chopsticks, even with a chopstick aimed at his brain. But another kid toddled to a piano while still in diapers and picked out a tune he heard on the radio or television and now plays boogie woogie cross-handed. Nobody ever connected with us ever failed to cross the street to avoid stepping on an ant, or aunt. But one day still another boy said, "Please, pop, I don't want nothing else as long as I live . . . just a gun—the kind you go hunting with."

You never know. You feel that because it isn't in you it isn't really in the kids you're hanging around to raise, and that they'll forget about it soon and get interested in things like the New York Giants, and flying machines, politics, the bomb, the fight against disease, good books, good food.

This one with the gun fixation didn't change, and made known his steadfastness night and day. So it came up Columbus Day, which was a holiday in his school, and the aforementioned Messrs. Wright and Wilson were kind enough to help.

The Suffolk Lodge game preserve used to be one of those great private affairs stretched out to sea along Long Island and connected with the rest of that province by a fine old toll road built by a Vanderbilt. Now the lodge raises pheasants from the egg, sets them loose in extensive fields before a shooting party arrives, charges $5 a bird whether it is bagged or not, provides a dog and guide, and does its best to stimulate conditions which must have existed from the earliest days.

The experts, Messrs. Wright and Wilson, told this boy he had a lifetime of shooting before him, if he was truly that interested. (He had pestered the patient men on the way to the preserve by asking them about types of guns whose names I had never heard. But they did not seem pestered.) So, they said, he was not to worry about all of the misses he would have. The pheasant, they explained, was hardly distinguishable from the low-slung and often thick vegetation, never flew as expected, and could go like a bat out of a belfrey when flushed.

Ben Wright walked beside the boy through the panorama of autumn, reminding him of the position of his safety device on the gun, reminding him that Mr. Wilson was on the other side of the hedgerow. A wonderful pointer named June, head sometimes held as high as a grande dame, swept back and forth ahead of us like a fine and busy centerfielder.

And then an incredibly beautiful creature thrust itself into the air from an impassible thicket and streaked away. Wright flicked off the safety device on the boy's gun. The kid wheeled, fired, and there was a confusion of feathers and a heavy thud against the adjoining tapestry of fall. June was off with a yip and brought the bird back to the boy's feet. It was the second time in his life he had ever fired a shotgun, and the first one was a practice job against the sky.

His eyes widened. He was oblivious to the bravos of the experts. "The poor thing," he said. "I should've given her more of a chance." Then he slipped another shell in the gun. "Let's go," he said . . . And always will.

Drama-In-Church, Old Christian Art, Getting Rebirth With Helping Hand From Hollywood

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—It was a strange sermon. Voices—sharp and biting, with hurt in them and fear, and hope and laughter too—came from the church sanctuary. The congregation sat intent and staring.

"That was something!" a man said later, and daubed at his eyes.

What he had just witnessed was a revival of drama-in-the-church, an old Christian art that got lost some five centuries ago but which today is getting a rebirth with a helping hand from Hollywood.

A lofty-minded band of actors and actresses, set on lending their talents to their faith, is touring the country to give the power of the theater back to the churches, where it began.

"It's the great, sleeping giant of evangelism," said Phyllis Benbow Beardsley, a pert and pretty actress-writer who organized the project. "The churches need what it can give."

The eight performers, all with a string of movie, stage and television credits, have been on the road for 18 months, delivering their semons-in-action in churches from the West Coast to the East.

With a repertoire of half a dozen plays centered on faith, most of them classics of their kind by such writers as Christopher Fry, the cast performs virtually without props—in the chancel of the church.

Some churches, at first, have been skeptical about letting actors occupy that sacred place.

"Most churches have never known fine drama, so don't know how to use it," Mrs. Beardsley said. "And many people have never seen fine drama in the church, so they don't want to see it."

But when the play is done, the case apparently is won.

Newspaper and church organs across the country have described the unusual service variously as a "rich and moving experience," "devout without sanctimoniousness," and "a stirring message of faith."

The theater world's journal Variety also has hailed performances by the interdenominational group, called "The Bishop's Company."

"It's theater with a plus factor," said Mrs. Beardsley. "It's a way of making goodness and love and wholeness of man in God, understandable—a kind of magic modern churches have never known before."

It was in religious rites, of ancient Greece and Rome, that theater was born, only to lie dormant for 800 years, before slowly reviving in European churches, beginning in the 12th century.

In the Renaissance, "miracle" plays and portrayals of scriptural stories flourished in churches — just as Jesus did much preaching with stories and demonstrations.

But around 1500, the market place took over the art and the church abandoned it—except for Easter pageants and similar affairs.

Housing Agency "Policing" Unit Created By Cole

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole has created a central compliance division to police his four subordinate housing agencies, including the scandal-scarred Federal Housing Administration.

The action was meant to correct what an official investigator called FHA's "remarkable isolation" from the normal line of government command, with resulting inaction on cases of "fraud" and even alleged bribery.

The new unit, established in Cole's top-level Housing and Home Finance Agency, has double-barreled authority to delve into affairs of the subordinate agencies, as follows:

1. An inspection branch will maintain continuous check on operations. It will review agency audits housing inspections and office operations, and recommend changes and reforms.

2. A special investigations branch will probe individual complaints of possible law violations. Where necessary it will develop cases of criminal misconduct for referral to the Justice Department.

The chiefs of the constituent agencies—FHA, Public Housing Administration, Federal National Mortgage Association, and Home Loan Bank Board—were made responsible for taking action to correct abuses found by the HHFA division.

This step toward centralized responsibility over the government's housing programs was recommended by William F. McKenna. As Cole's deputy, McKenna and a special staff investigated the "windfall" profits of apartment builders who used FHA mortgage-insurance, and the "fleecing" of home owners under the FHA home repair program.

In his final report one month ago, McKenna said FHA's divorcement from the rest if the government permitted FHA to ignore hundreds of complaints, and to "suppress' charges of fraud and misconduct.

"In at least three cases of alleged bribery, FHA 'investigated,' then held the reports of investigation until the statute of limitations had run," McKenna said.

Of 163 cases of abuse of the home repair program, referred to FHA by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, McKenna said only nine were looked into by FHA, while "hundreds" of other cases from other sources were annually swallowed up in FHA's bureaucracy."

Harriman Leads Sen. Ives In Poll

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Daily News says Averell Harriman has taken a 53.4 to 46.6 per cent lead over Sen. Irving M. Ives in the first tabulation of its gubernatorial straw vote.

The count was of 2,774 ballots—1,474 in sections of New York City and 1,300 in Genessee, Wyoming, Columbia, Jefferson, Livingston, Orleans, Oswego, Rensselaer and Suffolk counties. It covers the first two days of polling, with incomplete returns from some counties.

In New York City Harriman, the Democratic - Liberal candidate, came out on top with 69.1 per cent of the first straws to Ives' 30.9.

Ives, the Republican nominee, was ahead in the other areas, traditionally Republican, 64.5 per cent to 35.5, although the News says he has not polled as well as the actual percentage Gov. Thomas E. Dewey got in the 1950 gubernatorial election.

Harriman's best run in the first tabulation is the Bedford-Stuyvesant area of Brooklyn, where he racked up 77.9 per cent. Dewey got better than 40 per cent of the vote there four years ago.

The News says Ives is running poorest, as compared with Dewey's vote, in Columbia, scene of continuing crime probes, Genessee and Wyoming, but is "within striking distance" of Dewey in Jefferson and Livingston counties. The straw polling is incomplete in the four other counties outside New York City.

27 Cows Got Dead Drunk On Mixture; Awarded $50,000

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 14 (AP) — A judge yesterday awarded $50,000 to Lloyd J. Cobb because 27 of his registered cows got dead drunk on a concoction mixed up at the state penitentiary.

Cobb, who owns a 3,000-acre cattle farm, said he ordered some blackstrap molasses from the penitentiary at Angola on Feb. 4, 1953, and instead received a batch of "sugared water in a high state of fermentation."

As a result, he said, 27 of his cows died from drinking the stuff.

U.S. Nurse Tells Of Pioneer Mercy Mission To Jordan

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—This is National Nurse Week and a time for paying tribute to nurses everywhere, including those hard working girls in the Kingdom of Jordan.

A U.S. Public Health nurse, Mildred Jones, has just returned from that Arab country of 1,330,000 persons.

What she had to say about her work there may interest not only the select few who have wondered about nursing conditions in Jordan, but also a much more numerous article: The U.S. taxpayer, who foots the bill for providing technical assistance to these countries.

When Miss Jones left her job as a public health nurse in Fulton County Atlanta, Ga., two years ago to go on loan to the Jordan assignment, the Federal Security Agency announced:

"She will work with Jordanian nurses and other public health workers to extend public health nursing services, particularly in rural areas."

As it turned out, the announcement was overly optimistic. For when Miss Jones arrived, she found practically no nurses, at least in the American sense.

So Miss Jones and another U.S. Public Health nurse, Elizabeth Hilborn of Minneapolis, who soon joined her, did the obvious thing. They set up their own nursing school.

For Miss Jones it was a return to a former way of life.

As a girl in Shawnee, Okla., she dreamed of becoming a doctor, but her parents didn't feel a girl should go into such a profession. So she became a teacher, and put in 12 years in Shawnee classrooms. When World War II came, with its great demands for nurses, she switched to a field nearer her first love.

But even starting a school didn't end the problems.

Nursing is held in low repute in Jordan. "We had to talk the better families into letting their girls become nurses," she said. "And we set our standards high. A girl had to have the equivalent education of a sophomore in high school. Why, they could be a teacher with that education."

Furthermore, hospitals are inadequate. The Arab-Jewish War (Miss Jones diplomatically calls this "The Troubles") left the good hospitals on the Jewish side of the border. None of the Jordan hospitals even has hot water.

"If you want hot water," she said, "you boil it."

Nowhere does a girl enter nursing to make her fortune, and Miss Jones said that goes double in drudgery for Jordan. She said a beginner gets around $15 a month, and a top supervisor only $65. "Why, we paid our secretary almost that much," she said, "and she was a poor one."

Miss Jones found some local customs hard to understand.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—It was a strange sermon. Voices—sharp and biting, with hurt in them and fear, and hope and laughter too—came from the church sanctuary. The congregation sat intent and staring.

"That was something!" a man said later, and daubed at his eyes.

What he had just witnessed was a revival of drama-in-the-church, an old Christian art that got lost some five centuries ago but which today is getting a rebirth with a helping hand from Hollywood.

A lofty-minded band of actors and actresses, set on lending their talents to their faith, is touring the country to give the power of the theater back to the churches, where it began.

"It's the great, sleeping giant of evangelism," said Phyllis Benbow Beardsley, a pert and pretty actress-writer who organized the project. "The churches need what it can give."

The eight performers, all with a string of movie, stage and television credits, have been on the road for 18 months, delivering their semons-in-action in churches from the West Coast to the East.

With a repertoire of half a dozen plays centered on faith, most of them classics of their kind by such writers as Christopher Fry, the cast performs virtually without props—in the chancel of the church.

Some churches, at first, have been skeptical about letting actors occupy that sacred place.

"Most churches have never known fine drama, so don't know how to use it," Mrs. Beardsley said. "And many people have never seen fine drama in the church, so they don't want to see it."

But when the play is done, the case apparently is won.

Newspaper and church organs across the country have described the unusual service variously as a "rich and moving experience," "devout without sanctimoniousness," and "a stirring message of faith."

The theater world's journal Variety also has hailed performances by the interdenominational group, called "The Bishop's Company."

"It's theater with a plus factor," said Mrs. Beardsley. "It's a way of making goodness and love and wholeness of man in God, understandable—a kind of magic modern churches have never known before."

It was in religious rites, of ancient Greece and Rome, that theater was born, only to lie dormant for 800 years, before slowly reviving in European churches, beginning in the 12th century.

In the Renaissance, "miracle" plays and portrayals of scriptural stories flourished in churches — just as Jesus did much preaching with stories and demonstrations.

But around 1500, the market place took over the art and the church abandoned it—except for Easter pageants and similar affairs.

Housing Agency "Policing" Unit Created By Cole

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole has created a central compliance division to police his four subordinate housing agencies, including the scandal-scarred Federal Housing Administration.

The action was meant to correct what an official investigator called FHA's "remarkable isolation" from the normal line of government command, with resulting inaction on cases of "fraud" and even alleged bribery.

The new unit, established in Cole's top-level Housing and Home Finance Agency, has double-barreled authority to delve into affairs of the subordinate agencies, as follows:

1. An inspection branch will maintain continuous check on operations. It will review agency audits housing inspections and office operations, and recommend changes and reforms.

2. A special investigations branch will probe individual complaints of possible law violations. Where necessary it will develop cases of criminal misconduct for referral to the Justice Department.

The chiefs of the constituent agencies—FHA, Public Housing Administration, Federal National Mortgage Association, and Home Loan Bank Board—were made responsible for taking action to correct abuses found by the HHFA division.

This step toward centralized responsibility over the government's housing programs was recommended by William F. McKenna. As Cole's deputy, McKenna and a special staff investigated the "windfall" profits of apartment builders who used FHA mortgage-insurance, and the "fleecing" of home owners under the FHA home repair program.

In his final report one month ago, McKenna said FHA's divorcement from the rest if the government permitted FHA to ignore hundreds of complaints, and to "suppress' charges of fraud and misconduct.

"In at least three cases of alleged bribery, FHA 'investigated,' then held the reports of investigation until the statute of limitations had run," McKenna said.

Of 163 cases of abuse of the home repair program, referred to FHA by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, McKenna said only nine were looked into by FHA, while "hundreds" of other cases from other sources were annually swallowed up in FHA's bureaucracy."

Harriman Leads Sen. Ives In Poll

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Daily News says Averell Harriman has taken a 53.4 to 46.6 per cent lead over Sen. Irving M. Ives in the first tabulation of its gubernatorial straw vote.

The count was of 2,774 ballots—1,474 in sections of New York City and 1,300 in Genessee, Wyoming, Columbia, Jefferson, Livingston, Orleans, Oswego, Rensselaer and Suffolk counties. It covers the first two days of polling, with incomplete returns from some counties.

In New York City Harriman, the Democratic - Liberal candidate, came out on top with 69.1 per cent of the first straws to Ives' 30.9.

Ives, the Republican nominee, was ahead in the other areas, traditionally Republican, 64.5 per cent to 35.5, although the News says he has not polled as well as the actual percentage Gov. Thomas E. Dewey got in the 1950 gubernatorial election.

Harriman's best run in the first tabulation is the Bedford-Stuyvesant area of Brooklyn, where he racked up 77.9 per cent. Dewey got better than 40 per cent of the vote there four years ago.

The News says Ives is running poorest, as compared with Dewey's vote, in Columbia, scene of continuing crime probes, Genessee and Wyoming, but is "within striking distance" of Dewey in Jefferson and Livingston counties. The straw polling is incomplete in the four other counties outside New York City.

27 Cows Got Dead Drunk On Mixture; Awarded $50,000

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 14 (AP) — A judge yesterday awarded $50,000 to Lloyd J. Cobb because 27 of his registered cows got dead drunk on a concoction mixed up at the state penitentiary.

Cobb, who owns a 3,000-acre cattle farm, said he ordered some blackstrap molasses from the penitentiary at Angola on Feb. 4, 1953, and instead received a batch of "sugared water in a high state of fermentation."

As a result, he said, 27 of his cows died from drinking the stuff.

U.S. Nurse Tells Of Pioneer Mercy Mission To Jordan

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—This is National Nurse Week and a time for paying tribute to nurses everywhere, including those hard working girls in the Kingdom of Jordan.

Stock Market Suffers One Of Sharpest Drops Of Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — The stock market was forced down today in one of the sharpest falls of the year.

Heavy selling at one time swamped the ticker, but trading was quite orderly except for one brief period.

All sections of the market were involved in the sell off. Railroads, however, resisted the decline and managed to show some small gains at the close.

Losses were spread over a wide range that extended to around 5 points. Gains with a few exceptions were small.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.40 at $134.70. The decline was the worst since Aug. 31 and is one of the steeper losses of the year. The average, however, only $2.70 away from the 1954 peak.

The industrial component of the average slumped $2.30, railroads were off 70 cents, and the utilities were down 50 cents.

The market broadened out to include 1,223 individual issues. Only 197 of these managed to advance while 818 declined, the most in around six weeks. Volume stepped up to 2,540,000 shares.

Royal Dutch Petroleum, which has been unusually strong in recent days, was down 3 points at 67 on volume of 54,500 shares, the most active stock in the list.

It was followed by Texas Instruments up 1/8 at 123¾, Glenn Martin off 1½ at 29⅞, General Electric off ⅜ at 42, and U. S. Steel off 2¼ at 56¾.

Sun Flashes Red And Green Corona Light To Stop, Start Rain, Meteorologist Says

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—Does the sun flash red and green lights to turn the rain on and off?

That's the conclusion of an airline meteorologist who announced recently that Transworld Airlines is expanding its study of the rays from the sun's corona for use as the basis of a new development in weather forecasting.

A four-year study of the relationship between the intensity of the rays and temperature, rainfall and upper winds in the central part of the United States was recently completed by E. D. Farthing, assistant meteorologist for Transworld.

He said the results had proved so convincing and useful in everyday forecasting in this area that TWA is now extending the program to its other forecasting offices. In addition solar reports will be taken on a daily instead of a weekly basis.

The sun's corona is a pearly white light extending for thousands of miles outward from the sun's surface. It is not visible to the naked eye except during a solar eclipse.

Farthing's studied indicated the red and green rays appeared to have a "stop and go" effect on the earth's weather, just as the operation of red and green traffic lights affect traffic.

Heaving rains appeared to be associated with those periods when areas of intense green ray emission were directly facing the earth, he told the Kansas City seminar of the American Meteorological Society.

"Further study disclosed that when the red emission intensities exceeded those of the green, then lack of water from the skies was evident," he said. "Equality of emissions in the two colors indicated near normal conditions."

Pointing to the recent weather conditions in the Middle West, Farthing said early last August intense green emission appeared at which time "we had the first substantial rains in many moons."

Stock Market Suffers One Of Sharpest Drops Of Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — The stock market was forced down today in one of the sharpest falls of the year.

Heavy selling at one time swamped the ticker, but trading was quite orderly except for one brief period.

All sections of the market were involved in the sell off. Railroads, however, resisted the decline and managed to show some small gains at the close.

Losses were spread over a wide range that extended to around 5 points. Gains with a few exceptions were small.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.40 at $134.70. The decline was the worst since Aug. 31 and is one of the steeper losses of the year. The average, however, only $2.70 away from the 1954 peak.

The industrial component of the average slumped $2.30, railroads were off 70 cents, and the utilities were down 50 cents.

The market broadened out to include 1,223 individual issues. Only 197 of these managed to advance while 818 declined, the most in around six weeks. Volume stepped up to 2,540,000 shares.

Royal Dutch Petroleum, which has been unusually strong in recent days, was down 3 points at 67 on volume of 54,500 shares, the most active stock in the list.

It was followed by Texas Instruments up 1/8 at 123/4, Glenn Martin off 1 1/2 at 297/8, General Electric off 3/8 at 42, and U. S. Steel off 2 1/4 at 56 3/4.

Railroad Man Is Found Dead Of Heart Attack

A 60-year-old Baltimore and Ohio trainman was found dead at his home yesterday after callers went there to find out why he failed to report for work.

B&O officials said Trone H. Whitney, 46 Humbird Street, had been called at approximately 4:30 a. m. to leave on Train 26, which departs at 5:25. When he failed to report for work, company officials said a check was made at his home.

His wife, Mrs. Susan H. (Snyder) Whitney, was aroused by the caller and Mr. Whitney was found fully clothed, lying on a day-bed in a downstairs room. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to natural causes.

Authorities surmise Mr. Whitney had gotten dressed after being called and then apparently suffered a heart attack.

Born at North Mountain, W. Va., a son of the late John F. and Phoebe E. (Murphy) Whitney, he had resided here 40 years. Mr. Whitney was a veteran of World War I and held membership in William McKaig Lodge 440, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; Brunswick Aerie 1136, FO Eagles, and the Knights of Malta.

Surviving, besides his widow, are two brothers, John N. and Charles R. Whitney, and three sisters, Miss Genevieve Whitney, Mrs. Louis E. Hammond and Mrs. George McGee, all of this city.

The body will remain at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where services will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Frederick J. Eckert, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Fort Cumberland Post, 13, American Legion will conduct military rites at the graveside. On Friday at 7 p. m. the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Lodge will conduct a service at the funeral home.

Hi-Jenks Club Dinner Tonight

Out-of-town guests will include R. G. Diepenbrock, Washington, assistant secretary of the company; Manager and Mrs. J. P. Moffatt and Assistant Manager and Mrs. E. C. Rosencrance, Salisbury; Manager and Mrs. J. D. Thompson and Manager and Mrs. L. D. DeHaven, Baltimore; Manager and Mrs. L. M. Twigg, Winchester; Assistant Manager and Mrs. O. S. McGaha and Assistant Manager and Mrs. J. H. Krueger, Hyattsville.

D. I. DeWitt, Bowling Green, president of the club will be toastmaster. Other officers of the club are George A. Murphy, Grantsville, secretary, and A. N. Poland, Romney, treasurer.

Dancing and entertainment will follow the dinner.

County's School Report Cards Slightly Revised

Junior and senior high school students will receive a revised report card this year, with added emphasis given for citizenship.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, was the head of the project to revise the long-standing report cards.

It was emphasized that grading system, the ABCDE method, has not been changed.

Previously students were given grades for each subject and one overall grade for citizenship or conduct.

School officials point out that the home room teacher formerly gave the citizenship grade.

This teacher only saw the student a few minutes before classes started and a few minutes at noontime, and was therefore not as qualified to give the conduct grade as the actual instructor, it is claimed.

Another factor taken into consideration in making the change concerns individual interests.

For instance, if he has an affinity to history and finds English boring, his interest will govern his conduct in class, Rizer explained.

The new report card allows space beside each subject for a citizenship grade in that class. This rating will be superior, good or unsatisfactory.

The teachers may also write comments in the space allotted for citizenship ratings.

Student and teacher groups of some of the schools are conferring to decide whether poor citizenship grades will affect the honor roll requirements.

AWOL Picked Up By MP

Fashion Editor Addresses Local Secretaries

An address on "Personal Grooming" by Miss Frances Koltun, associate fashion and merchandise editor of Charm magazine, highlighted the final meeting last night of the two-day seminar for secretaries held here by Cumberland's Algonquin Chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

In conjunction with her talk a fashion show of typical office clothing was presented by Rosenbaum's.

All sessions of the non-profit seminar were held at Ali Ghan City Club. It was the first of a proposed annual education program for all secretaries, stenographers, clerks, typists and bookkeepers in local and area business and professional offices, according to Miss Dorothy L. Campbell, project chairman.

Among the features of the final day was a demonstration and exhibit of office machinery and equipment by local and out of town dealers and manufacturers. Their display was open to the public yesterday afternoon and was presented again last night as the seminar concluded.

Exhibitors included were Ankeney Company, Pendaflex filing systems; Catherman's Business College, Speed Writing; Landis Typewriter Company, Royal office equipment; Thomas A. Edison Company, Baltimore, Voice Writer; International Business Machines Corp., Hagerstown, IBM manual and electric equipment.

Ideal Office Equipment Company, Remington products; Marquis Company, A. B. Dick equipment; Underwood Corporation, adding machines and typewriters; Associated Printing and Advertising Company, and the Dictaphone Corporation, Johnstown and Pittsburgh. A beauty clinic also was held by representatives of the Elizabeth Arden Salon, New York.

Railroad Man Is Found Dead Of Heart Attack

A 60-year-old Baltimore and Ohio trainman was found dead at his home yesterday after callers went there to find out why he failed to report for work.

B&O officials said Trone H. Whitney, 46 Humbird Street, had been called at approximately 4:30 a. m. to leave on Train 26, which departs at 5:25. When he failed to report for work, company officials said a check was made at his home.

His wife, Mrs. Susan H. (Snyder) Whitney, was aroused by the caller and Mr. Whitney was found fully clothed, lying on a day-bed in a downstairs room. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to natural causes.

Authorities surmise Mr. Whitney had gotten dressed after being called and then apparently suffered a heart attack.

Born at North Mountain, W. Va., a son of the late John F. and Phoebe E. (Murphy) Whitney, he had resided here 40 years. Mr. Whitney was a veteran of World War I and held membership in William McKaig Lodge 440, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; Brunswick Aerie 1136, FO Eagles, and the Knights of Malta.

Surviving, besides his widow, are two brothers, John N. and Charles R. Whitney, and three sisters, Miss Genevieve Whitney, Mrs. Louis E. Hammond and Mrs. George McGee, all of this city.

The body will remain at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where services will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Frederick J. Eckert, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Fort Cumberland Post, 13, American Legion will conduct military rites at the graveside. On Friday at 7 p. m. the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Lodge will conduct a service at the funeral home.

Hi-Jenks Club Dinner Tonight

A. P. Thompson, of Washington, comptroller of the Peoples Life Insurance Company, will be the principal speaker at the seventh annual dinner dance of the Cumberland District's Hi-Jenks Club this evening at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Out-of-town guests will include R. G. Diepenbrock, Washington, assistant secretary of the company; Manager and Mrs. J. P. Moffatt and Assistant Manager and Mrs. E. C. Rosencrance, Salisbury; Manager and Mrs. J. D. Thompson and Manager and Mrs. L. D. DeHaven, Baltimore; Manager and Mrs. L. M. Twigg, Winchester; Assistant Manager and Mrs. O. S. McGaha and Assistant Manager and Mrs. J. H. Krueger, Hyattsville.

D. I. DeWitt, Bowling Green, president of the club will be toastmaster. Other officers of the club are George A. Murphy, Grantsville, secretary, and A. N. Poland, Romney, treasurer.

Dancing and entertainment will follow the dinner.

County's School Report Cards Slightly Revised

Junior and senior high school students will receive a revised report card this year, with added emphasis given for citizenship.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, was the head of the project to revise the long-standing report cards.

It was emphasized that grading system, the ABCDE method, has not been changed.

Previously students were given grades for each subject and one overall grade for citizenship or conduct.

School officials point out that the home room teacher formerly gave the citizenship grade.

This teacher only saw the student a few minutes before classes started and a few minutes at noontime, and was therefore not as qualified to give the conduct grade as the actual instructor, it is claimed.

Another factor taken into consideration in making the change concerns individual interests.

For instance, if he has an affinity to history and finds English boring, his interest will govern his conduct in class, Rizer explained.

The new report card allows space beside each subject for a citizenship grade in that class. This rating will be superior, good or unsatisfactory.

The teachers may also write comments in the space allotted for citizenship ratings.

Student and teacher groups of some of the schools are conferring to decide whether poor citizenship grades will affect the honor roll requirements.

AWOL Picked Up By MP

An AWOL soldier, Pvt. Robert Nair of Kelly Boulevard Apartments, was turned over to military authorities Wednesday by city police for his return to Fort Bragg, N. C.

Detective Donald H. Smith, who arrested him Monday, said Nair had been absent without official leave since September 17.

The electrical system in each new automobile requires about seven miles of wire.

Fashion Editor Addresses Local Secretaries

An address on "Personal Grooming" by Miss Frances Koltun, associate fashion and merchandise editor of Charm magazine, highlighted the final meeting last night of the two-day seminar for secretaries held here by Cumberland's Algonquin Chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

In conjunction with her talk a fashion show of typical office clothing was presented by Rosenbaum's.

All sessions of the non-profit seminar were held at Ali Ghan City Club. It was the first of a proposed annual education program for all secretaries, stenographers, clerks, typists and bookkeepers in local and area business and professional offices, according to Miss Dorothy L. Campbell, project chairman.

Among the features of the final day was a demonstration and exhibit of office machinery and equipment by local and out of town dealers and manufacturers. Their display was open to the public yesterday afternoon and was presented again last night as the seminar concluded.

Exhibitors included were Ankeney Company, Pendaflex filing systems; Catherman's Business College, Speed Writing; Landis Typewriter Company, Royal office equipment; Thomas A. Edison Company, Baltimore, Voice Writer; International Business Machines Corp., Hagerstown, IBM manual and electric equipment.

Ideal Office Equipment Company, Remington products; Marquis Company, A. B. Dick equipment; Underwood Corporation, adding machines and typewriters; Associated Printing and Advertising Company, and the Dictaphone Corporation, Johnstown and Pittsburgh. A beauty clinic also was held by representatives of the Elizabeth Arden Salon, New York.

Local GI Discharged

Cpl. Gary J. Layman, husband of Mrs. Jeanette Lee Layman, 708 Louisiana Avenue, and son of Mrs. Edith Layman, 87 Henderson Avenue, was discharged from the Army Monday at Fort Meade after two years service. He had been stationed in Salzburg, Austria.

Walrus' "whiskers" are actually cartilage.

Happy Friends School Nears

The autumn session of "The School of Happy Friends" will be held Monday, October 18, through Friday, October 29, in the parsonage of LaVale Methodist Church.

The school for children four and five years of age is sponsored by the Young Adult Group of the church and will be conducted Monday through Friday from 10 a. m. to noon during the two weeks.

The teachers are college-trained and experienced in public school teaching. Among those participating are Mrs. Floyd V. Cozad, Mrs. Ardell Haines, Mrs. William Lee Gunter, Mrs. Ivan Daniels, Mrs. Charles Long, Mrs. R. C. Morris, Mrs. Robert Sutton and Mrs. William Russell.

Workers will donate their time and proceeds will be applied to the purchase of equipment for the school.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Bigger And Bigger

Every so often, about once every two years, I like to take Hollywood's pulse, one of the most erratic heartbeats there is. Five years ago, I recall the atmosphere was one of unalloyed gloom. Warner Brothers was shut tight. Actors were selling second hand cars for eating money. Two years ago, the actors were back before the cameras again — but they were TV cameras. The movie people were getting over their original terror at TV but were still pretty grim-lipped.

Today, the air of prosperity in both TV and movie industries is overwhelming. Movies may not be better than ever but they're certainly bigger than ever and they're making as much money as ever. In sheer size and splendor, they're hasn't been anything like the premiere of "A Star Is Born" in Hollywood for years. The excellence of this movie doesn't anywhere near match the opulence of the opening but that detail was slightly lost sight of in the general fanfare. The following night came the opening of Chrysler's "Shower of Stars" which may be the most plush television opening to come along so far — though it may be surpassed before this even hits print.

The smell of money, in short, is overpowering and it's everywhere. Movie stars who have for years turned down television because their marquee value was still strong, are succumbing fast because there seems to be no limit to the amounts of money offered them. If they turn down one sum, the offer is upped another $10,000 the next day. Eventually the price is right. Joseph Cotton, a longtime holdout, has finally made his first TV appearance and will appear in an upcoming "Best of Broadway" play. Even Humphrey Bogart, who seems to be in every movie they put out these days, is considering doing his original stage and screen role in "The Petrified Forest" on the same series.

Well, I enjoy seeing the actors get so rich but it does lead to some special problems. I lumped into one director freshly arrived in Hollywood from New York, where he directed TV dramas. He was slightly dazed by it all. "In New York," he explained, "We'd get a script we thought was pretty good. Then we'd scout around for the actors we thought best suited for the roles. Out here, you come to work and they've already hired some big shot actor for about $40,000 — or maybe two bigshots — and you got to go look for a script that will make sense — and will also please the big shots."

This is the star system with a vengeance, something even the movies have pretty well outgrown, and it leads to such strange matings of talent as Mario Lanza, Betty Grable and Harry James in one show. Any day now, we may turn on the set and see a color spectacular starring Ethel Barrymore, Peter Lorre and Lassie — simply because they all happened to be standing around with fat contracts in their pockets when the time came.

Not everyone is entirely happy about all this wild prosperity. One CBS executive, surveying about 1,000 people munching an elaborate dinner after the Chrysler spectacular, declared, somewhat irritably: "We must never forget that our bread and butter comes from Burns and Allen and the other half-conflicting views on how friendly the governor is to public education.

State School Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen Jr. presented him as one who "has listened and consulted with us with intense and sympathetic interest and endeavored in every way to help us plan intelligently for the future."

Problems "Stupendous"

Dr. Pullen said if the State is able to meet the "stupendous problems" confronting its schools "it will be due in a large measure to the fact the governor and his advisers have worked cooperatively with us."

Many of the convention delegates carried with them copies of The Maryland Teacher, official publication of their association. In it was an editorial by Milson C. Raver, executive secretary, declaring McKeldin's veto of the pay raise in 1951 "contributed to the growing teacher shortage which is depriving Maryland children of their traditional birthright."

The editorial did not call for McKeldin's defeat next month. It pointed out McKeldin's opponent, H. C. Byrd, had built "the physical facilities and the foundation of a great state university" at the University of Maryland.

Dr. Pullen, in presenting the governor, outlined the "stupendous problems" facing the schools this way:

"Within the next four years the public school population will increase at least 25 per cent.

"The number of teachers that will be employed within the next four years to replace those leaving the system and to take care of the increased number enrolled, will be more than half of the total (15,600) now teaching.

More Buildings Needed

"Additional buildings equivalent to nearly one-fourth the present facilities will be required within the next five years just to take care of the additional pupils without replacing any obsolete buildings or to relieve excessive overcrowding. . . .

"The number of youth who will knock at the doors of our institutions of higher learning within the next six years will be nearly double the number now applying."

No questions were raised about proposed statements on segregation in the schools or bylaw changes designed to effect integration of white and Negro teachers within the MSTA.

The general session also heard a concert by the All-Maryland High School Chorus, 340 young singers from schools all over the state.

The convention continues through Friday and Saturday, with more than 14,000 teachers expected to register for the various sessions.

Friday's main speaker will be Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor and Saturday's feature will be an address by Walter Reuther, president of the CIO.

4-H Federation Names Committees

The Allegany County Boys' 4-H Federation and leaders named committees Wednesday night to plan for the federation's annual ice cream cake party, tentatively scheduled for early November.

Herbert Shipe will be in charge of locations; Royce Johnson, local leader; Shipe, Jerry Lancaster, federation president, and Gary Mace, program, and Randy Pifer, Wendell Long, Royce Johnson and Leo Carter, refreshments.

About 30 members and leaders attended the meeting in the office of Assistant County Agent James A. Weamert, in the Court House.

World Still Looks To U.S. Leadership Dr. Laubach Tells Presbyterians

The United States is primarily responsible for the worldwide revolution in which the peoples of all nations are demanding more freedom, a higher standard of living and more opportunities for education and trade training, said Dr. Frank C. Laubach, head of World Literacy Inc., Wednesday night before 300 people at the opening dinner-meeting of the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church.

The speaker, a classmate of Judge George Henderson at Princeton, emphasized that this country's example in achieving the world's highest standard of living through democracy and widespread education has sparked the desire of the rest of the world's population to achieve the same status.

It is too bad, Dr. Laubach said, that the United States failed to take advantage of its spiritual leadership instead of letting the Communists "sell themselves" as the champions of a "Peoples Democracy."

Instead of H bombs, the head of World Literacy declared, this nation can win the world's heart by "helping underprivileged and backward peoples to help themselves." Charity is only a stop-gap, he said.

"Teach them to read, to learn trade techniques," he emphasized.

The program of World Literacy at this time is being concentrated in India and Dr. Laubach predicted confidently that its work in that populous country will keep the people from "going Communist." He said his own feeling about India is that the government and people are friends of the Western Democracies but are so close to Soviet and Red Chinese military might that they have to steer a careful course calculated not to offend too openly these Communist nations.

"We have nothing to fear but inaction," said Laubach.

World Literacy provides a channel through which Americans may expend their good will, their dynamic energy and their "know how."

"This could save the world," the speaker concluded, "and make the United States the best loved nation in the history of mankind."

Radio Station Manager Resigns

The resignation of Gary E. Schroeder as manager of radio station WDYK and the appointment of William B. Eisenberger as his successor has been announced by F. Perry Smith Jr., vice president of the Western Maryland Broadcasting Company.

Schroeder, of 112 Washington Street, had been manager of the station since last December. He has accepted the position of general manager of a Keokuk, Iowa, radio station, Smith stated.

His successor, known to the radio audience as "Mike Hurst," has been affiliated with station WTBO the past six years. A native of Washington, he has resided here 25 years.

Eisenberger graduated from Allegany High School in 1944, and from Washington and Jefferson College in 1948. He is a veteran of Army service during World War II and resides with his wife, the former Miss Shirley Tower, and daughter at 742 Greene Street.

World Still Looks To U. S. Leadership Dr. Laubach Tells Presbyterians

The United States is primarily responsible for the worldwide revolution in which the peoples of all nations are demanding more freedom, a higher standard of living and more opportunities for education and trade training, said Dr. Frank C. Laubach, head of World Literacy Inc., Wednesday night before 300 people at the opening dinner-meeting of the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church.

The speaker, a classmate of Judge George Henderson at Princeton, emphasized that this country's example in achieving the world's highest standard of living through democracy and widespread education has sparked the desire of the rest of the world's population to achieve the same status.

It is too bad, Dr. Laubach said, that the United States failed to take advantage of its spiritual leadership instead of letting the Communists "sell themselves" as the champions of a "Peoples Democracy."

Instead of H bombs, the head of World Literacy declared, this nation can win the world's heart by "helping underprivileged and backward peoples to help themselves." Charity is only a stop-gap, he said.

"Teach them to read, to learn trade techniques," he emphasized.

The program of World Literacy at this time is being concentrated in India and Dr. Laubach predicted confidently that its work in that populous country will keep the people from "going Communist." He said his own feeling about India is that the government and people are friends of the Western Democracies but are so close to Soviet and Red Chinese military might that they have to steer a careful course calculated not to offend too openly these Communist nations.

"We have nothing to fear but inaction," said Laubach.

World Literacy provides a channel through which Americans may expend their good will, their dynamic energy and their "know how."

"This could save the world," the speaker concluded, "and make the United States the best loved nation in the history of mankind."

The Old Army Game By Another Name

Passing the buck and bucking for sergeant appear to have been supplanted in Army standard procedures by a new one. For lack of official terminology it could be called simple "over-study."

It seem that when there is nothing else to do on staff levels they call for a staff study. In the process of one of these staff studies a young major uncovered the fact that the Army already has so many studies completed and so many others under way that it cannot keep track of them.

The major's conclusions at the end of his particular staff study were that the Army ought to set up a central filing system so that when another study is called for they can double check quickly to see if the study in mind hasn't already been made at one time or another.

The amount of manpower tied up in making the estimated 25,000 staff studies which are set in motion or completed annually is an unknown factor, but it must be considerable. The Army has started assembling several additional combat divisions without adding additional manpower to the ground forces. The personnel has been "found" by abolishing desk jobs and eliminating duplications.

In the study of the studies it was revealed that two crews would often work on the same staff project at the same time and unknown to each other. This is duplication with a vengeance.

The armed forces are beginning to show the results of efficiency measures which were set in motion by Defense Secretary Wilson's team of business experts. As a result of an Air Force study nearly 20,000 jobs have been eliminated with, it is claimed, no decrease in efficiency. Parallel studies in the Army and Navy ought to cause similar shakeouts, and perhaps the time will come when it is not necessary to "make work" in the form of studies of studies.

These Days

Definitions

So many words have crept into our language which men use differently that I thought I might make a glossary to aid those readers who like such things. It all started with someone calling me an arch-reactionary which means nothing to me as a label, for I am neither a reactionary nor arch. Then a fellow I once tried to help out of a hole said that I pontificated which is probably true but I had no idea what he meant. He had undoubtedly read a weekly magazine's description of me as the high priest of anti-communism and the words, high priest and pontiff, might be interchangeable, if there is any reason for it. And I presume that a pontiff pontificates, but how does he do it? Is it by word of mouth to which anyone is free not to listen or on the tuba from which one escapes with greater difficulty?

Let us look at some of these terms:

Reactionary—Plain: A fellow who believes that in the 8,000 or 9,000 years of recorded human history, something happened before 1933 that is worthwhile.

Reactionary—Arch: One who believes the same, only more so.

Republican—Plain: A fellow who, when he thinks of it, votes for Republican candidates for public office.

Republican—Liberal: A Republican who prefers the New Deal but finds it socially, economically and politically more advantageous to use the Republican label.

Republican—Eisenhower: A Republican, Democrat, New Dealer or arch-reactionary who believes that President Eisenhower is the greatest President since Harry Truman and that his success is assured.

Republican—Taft: An old-timer with some memories of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover who wanted Robert A. Taft to be nominated in 1952 and never got over it.

Right Wing: Don't know what it means.

I am particularly perturbed about the middle-of-the-road because if it is impossible to define with precision what is right wing or left wing, how does one find the middle?

McCarthyism: A congressional investigation of Communists by incorrect methods. In France, this definition would fit Duclos's objections to the French government investigating Soviet spies. In the United States, the National Committee for [illegible]ffective Congress has tried to confuse McCarthyism [illegible] Hitler with little success. The Watkins Committee limits itself to defining it as a senator who is a boor and who says about other senators in public what they say about each other in private—also about some generals.

Fascist: A fellow who disagrees with the New Deal but is not a Communist. The term may be applied to anyone, particularly to a Son and Daughter of the American Revolution and to one who believes that the United States can get along without the United Nations.

Democrat—Plain: One who is accustomed to vote for the Democratic party.

Democrat—Southern: A Democrat living south of the Mason-Dixon Line, who is emotionally conditioned not to vote for a Republican even when he prefers to. This tradition he has broken only for Hoover and Eisenhower with regrets.

Democrat—New Dealer: An adherent of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Democrat—Fair Dealer: An adherent of Harry Truman.

ADA (Americans for Democratic Action): Fabian Socialists who support the Democrats but also infiltrate the Republicans.

Communist: A member of the Communist party, U. S. A., disciplined by the Communist International and accepting the Marxist-Leninist principles of history, sociology and economics. He is now illegal.

Fellow Traveler: One who accepts Communist discipline but does not join the party.

Innocent: One who goes along but does not know why.

Things Are Getting Busier At The Dike

Democratic Distortion Of Wilson's Remarks Attacked

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Demagoguery knows no party line, and anybody who has been angered in recent months over the extremes of political denunciation in speeches by certain United States senators on the Republican side is invited in all fairness now to wax indignant over the palpable distortions by the Democrats.

Thus, there is more than meets the eye in the alleged faux pas made by Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense, when he spoke some blunt words about the indolent and the lazy and uttered words of praise for those who react to unemployment by diligently trying to find a new job.

Hardly had this off-the-cuff interview been reported in abbreviated fashion in the press dispatches when the mimeograph machines at Democratic headquarters began to be oiled up as statement after statement of shocked surprise was drafted to be issued under the name of this or that Democratic senator who happened to be handy to sponsor them.

Statement Misinterpreted

Today the nation is being told, in effect, that Mr. Wilson compares the unemployed to dogs, or that he is a business man without a heart, or that the Republican administration hasn't any humanitarianism in it. What Mr. Wilson actually said about the zeal of a bird dog as compared with the kennel-fed dog, hasn't been fairly interpreted at all, but the customary twist of misinterpretation is given which 20 years of demagoguery under the Democratic administration has made commonplace. Even some Republicans fell for the misinterpretation and hastened to criticize Secretary Wilson instead of emphasizing the real point.

The word "bird-dogging" is established today in our vocabulary as a mark of merit in searching out the answers to unsolved problems. But if the Democratic party comments on the Wilson statement are accepted, it is politically unwise today to say that a man who loses one job is expected to try to find another. He isn't supposed to "bird-dog" his way out, but to sit on his haunches and wait for someone to come and feed him. It is considered politically wise to say only that the government owes every man a job, whether he deserves it or not. It is considered proper, moreover, to say that unemployment compensation isn't enough and that the taxpayers who are employed must be taxed to subsidize those who will not work.

There are, of course, unemployed persons who can't find jobs in their own area or in the occupation in which they are trained. Many of them will not leave their homes to find jobs elsewhere but prefer to wait till things get better in their own localities. This is their prerogative but in any over-all survey of unemployment these varying factors have to be taken into account and the want ads in the newspapers of many cities every day are pleading for persons to come to work.

Mr. Wilson is naive enough to believe that you can discuss all phases of the unemployment problem frankly. He didn't know that he couldn't speak with affection about four-legged animals without offending the two-legged. He apparently overestimated the dog-lover vote in this country. He might have known that in free America anybody is free to twist and distort and play the demagogue.

Wise Candidate Is Indefinite

Politics has been considered heretofore to permit the saying of almost anything. Hence the wise candidate says as little as possible of a definite nature lest his words be distorted by his opponent. Mr. Wilson is one of those honest-minded individuals who says what he thinks, which, of course, in politics is a mistake. Hypocrisy evidently pays off better.

For 20 years now the philosophy has been preached—as indeed it is in the Communist world—that the persons who have acquired property are villains whose success is due only to their mastery of the art of exploitation of the poor. The CIO talks that way all the time. Class warfare is its stock in trade. The usual contention, moreover, is that the successful must part with sizable percentages of their incomes to pay for the mistakes of the unsuccessful. Nobody with an ounce of charity in his system objects to paying large taxes for relief. But during the '30s the made-work on relief projects of WPA proved fruitless. In the end, only when the war boom came was the nation able by a heavy-goods program to give the unemployed the jobs they needed. There is a right way and a wrong way to relieve unemployment, and the Eisenhower program is based on sound principles.

Certainly it is most unfortunate for anybody to be without a job and nothing that Charles Wilson said could have been properly construed as a lack of sympathy for a person who has lost his job through no fault of his own, or a disparagement of anyone who hasn't been able to get a job despite every effort. The administration's program of economic help for so-called "distress areas" negates any charges of neglect on that score.

But this is not what the Democratic party demagogues have been saying or will be saying about the Wilson comment. They will make political capital out of distortion because many voters will never hear the rebuttal. It's a good example of how distortion succeeds because men of ability and good education in the leadership of the Democratic party, selfishly seeking votes at any price, know how to play on the emotions of the uninformed.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Peace de resistance on U. N. menu is beef ala gored ox.

It all depends on whose steer is being barbecued. Let's take up the territorial hassel on Cyprus and Dutch West New Guinea.

There was some corrugated chinstrapping in general assembly that raised tempers to a modern boiling point. They voted 39 to 12 to consider Indonesia's lien on the world's second largest island.

What does Holland do in the clutch? It says no U. N. decision will ever affect Dutch sovereignty over West New Guinea. Which makes the decision as reversible as a mattress.

It also disintegrates the one-for all-and-all-for-one motif of United Nations. That's as sure as eggs for breakfast.

Now to fit the shoe to the bunion, how about Cyprus? Greece claims everything above low tide by reason of seeing it first. Like all discoveries it is a game of touch tag.

The British happen to occupy Cyprus after shaking the dice up in a hat. Ten Downing Street declares Britain will not even take part in United Nations debates over Cyprus. That's as final as amen at a Southern camp meeting.

Moscow voted solidly for full consideration of both colonial issues. Those boys are the official bone-pickers for the Museum of Natural History.

How long does an orchestra have to tune up before it plays something?

Neither Holland nor Britain will permit plebiscites of the islands. There you have the words and music for a holiday for busted strings.

Looks like the little gripes have tender whines.

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When a dentist finds more than the usual number of cavities on the routine visit, he is likely to ask the patient about his diet, particularly his consumption of sweets. These random cavities are difficult to prevent and are more common when the acid content of the saliva is higher than normal. Diet enters the picture because certain foods are acid producers.

A Boston dentist decided to tackle the problem scientifically by running acid tests on the saliva and studying the diet of all patients with an excessive number of new cavities over a six-month period. Several tests are available but he found the colormetric procedure best suited his purposes.

In this test the patient chews wax and expectorates the saliva into a tube. The specimen is then mixed with a special sucrose indicator of violet color and incubated for four hours. When the color changes to green, there is enough acid in the saliva to eat through the enamel and produce a cavity. The test can be repeated at daily or weekly intervals and, so long as the material turns green, conditions are ripe for cavity formation.

Meanwhile, the patient is instructed to keep a food chart. Instead of writing down the contents of each meal the Boston dentist supplies him with a printed form in which foods are classified into eight groups, including milk, two types of vegetables, fruits, bread, meat, fats, and sweets. In this way a daily dietary history was obtained which was most helpful because most of us forget within 24 hours what we have eaten.

Once the record is completed, the dentist is able to recommend changes or correct deficiencies or excesses. Many of his patients with dental caries fitted into one of three groups. Some were totally ignorant of food values or ate too little proteins and milk products.

Those who did not like to drink milk were told to incorporate an adequate amount into creamed dishes, custards, scrambled eggs, and stews. Furthermore, many of the minerals in milk, such as calcium and phosphorus, could be obtained in vegetables, cheese, and liver.

The second group was not eating properly because they were allergic to certain foods or were bothered by intestinal disorders that affected absorption or utilization of essential nutrients. These persons were referred to physicians for more expert care.

The third type used sweets excessively. In managing this group it was more important to determine why they used too much candy, cake, jam, and jellies than to pass off the subject with the advice, "Cut down on sweets."

As was expected, the majority craved goodies for a variety of psychological reasons and were treated accordingly.

TOMORROW: Rheumatic fever recurs.

ANEMIA AND HAIR LOSS

Mrs. Y. writes: I'm a middle-aged anemic woman. Could anemia be responsible for my falling hair?

REPLY

Yes, but more likely suspects are dandruff, ringworm, alopecia areata, and glandular disturbances such as deficient thyroid secretion.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Clifton Fadiman, steering a party of friends to a little Italian restaurant he had praised to the skies, suddenly discovered he had misplaced the proprietor's card. "We'll have to go elsewhere," mourned Fadiman, "I seem to have lost my Spaghettisburg address!"

"This legal hokus-pokus," complained a widow to her closest friend, "is driving me insane. I'm having such trouble getting my hands on the money my husband left me in his will that sometimes I actually wish he hadn't died!"

Biggest piker at the golf club got a chicken bone stuck in his throat, and gasped, "Get a doctor quick!" The doc arrived in the nick of time, and the victim, able to breathe freely once more, asked grumpily, "What are you going to charge me for this?" The doctor suggested, "Suppose we say half of what you would gladly have paid when the bone was still stuck in your throat?"

Paul Hoffman Turns Down Eisenhower Offer To Be Ambassador To India

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has been so anxious to patch up our sagging relations with India that he has tried to persuade Paul Hoffman, former administrator for the Marshall Plan, to take the post as U. S. Ambassador to India.

It will probably be denied, but the State Department has even considered the idea of asking Chester Bowles, the Democrat who was removed as envoy to India, to go back again.

Unfortunately, it has been impossible to persuade Hoffman to accept. His problems with the Studebaker Motor Company which he heads, plus his negotiations with Nash-Hudson aimed at keeping small auto companies from being swallowed by the big three, make any foreign assignment impossible.

Also, State Department advisers are doubtful that Bowles would be palatable to the hard core of GOP advisers round Eisenhower even though acceptable to Ike himself.

Bowles, a former Democratic governor of Connecticut and head of the price control agency during the war, was a sensational success in India. He became a close personal friend of Prime Minister Nehru and was hailed by the Indian masses as their champion. Following Eisenhower's inauguration, however, he was pulled out of India and replaced by career diplomat George Allen.

Allen has now been recalled to Washington and will not return to India. He is expected to replace Henry Byroade as assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs.

NOTE—Allen was an excellent envoy to Yugoslavia, put our relations with Tito on an even keel. But handling Dictator Tito and aesthete Nehru are two different things, and Allen was not a success in India.

Sudden Silence In Jersey

If you want to know why a sudden hush has settled down over squabbling Republicans in New Jersey you won't have far to go.

The answer is the Republic Steel Corporation, which, in cooperation with the White House, pulled one of the neatest bits of pressure politics witnessed in the current campaign.

For over a month Jim Selvage, public relations counsel and former vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers, had been bombarding New Jersey voters with a steady stream of denunciation against GOP senatorial candidate Clifford Case, all because Case was opposed to Senator McCarthy.

Also snapping at Case's heels were ex-Congressman Fred Hartley, the man who co-authored the Taft-Hartley Act and who is extremely close to the National Retail Dry Goods Association; together with ex-Sen. Albert Hawkes, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

The rift they caused in the Republican party made it almost certain that a Democrat, Congressman Charles Howell, would win.

However, Jim Selvage has now suddenly clammed up. Simultaneously, Fred Hartley, who talked about jumping into the race against Case, has departed to fill some speaking engagements. And ex-Senator Hawkes has gone on a vacation.

Reason: Republic Steel, which is strong in the councils of big business and which feeds public relations business into the firm of Selvage, Lee and Chase, did a little quiet talking to the New Jersey rebels.

The astute maneuver was engineered primarily by Bernard Shanley of the White House staff, who checked with Mark Trice, secretary of the Senate, and with ex-Gov. Walter Edge of New Jersey to see who were the chief clients of the Selvage public relations firm. The next moves were made by James Black, a vice president of Republic Steel, who goes in and out of the White House side door as one of Ike's best anonymous friends; and by Charley White, head of Republic Steel.

Selvage immediately took the hint, decided that Republic Steel business was more important than Jersey politics.

And that is why everything is so quiet along the Jersey banks of the Delaware.

NOTE—The idea of using the steel companies to pressure key politicians was developed by Governor Dewey during Ike's nominating race. When Gov. John Fine of Pennsylvania suddenly switched from Taft to Eisenhower there was just one reason: the influence of U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel, which pack powerful weight in Pennsylvania.

The Minnesota Chances

By Joseph Alsop

ST. PAUL, Minn.

As of now, on the face of the observable facts, and with the proviso that this is not an election forecast, it certainly looks like Hubert Humphrey here in Minnesota.

In Val Bjornson, the Republicans have a first class Senate candidate, the kind of man that ought to win in almost any other northern state with the help of Dwight D. Eisenhower's popularity. But in Minnesota, Bjornson has to contend with widespread distaste for the Eisenhower farm program, with the growing power of the Farmer's Union, and above all with Sen. Humphrey himself.

It is a formidable combination, in which Humphrey is unquestionably the most important element. Whatever you may think of Sen. Humphrey's politics, you cannot downgrade his energy and ability.

In Washington he has achieved something never before achieved by any of the liberal northern Democrats — an influential position in the inner councils of the Senate Democratic leadership. In Minnesota, he has dug himself in politically in such a way that he seems to be practically bomb-proof.

He is a tireless and brilliant campaigner; and on weekends and during recesses of the Senate he has been campaigning in this state ever since his election six years ago. It is a very poor Minnesota occasion, whether husking bee or university debate, that cannot command Humphrey's presence if the Senate is not in active session.

Service With A Smile

He is also a specialist in the old congressional art of service with a smile. The Republican businessmen of the Minneapolis Athletic Club turned, as a last resort, to Humphrey, and got a post-war priority for their new elevator. A Republican lady state official wanted to take some friends to a ceremony in Washington; applied unsuccessfully to all the Republicans on the state congressional delegation; and only got a whole box-full of seats when she desperately wired Humphrey.

There really seemed to be no length to which Humphrey will not go to keep Minnesotans happy. On one occasion, he even badgered the American delegation to the United Nations into re-arranging the U.N. voting schedule, so that Madam Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit would be free to keep her promise to address a large, rich, and heavily Republican Twin Cities audience. Politically, this sort of thing has been money in the bank since time immemorial, and it still is.

This time, moreover, Humphrey has appealing issues. There is the mild recession — unemployment is now running 5 per cent in Minneapolis and St. Paul and about 10 per cent in Duluth and on the iron range. And most important of all, there is the farm issue.

The strength of the farm issue in Minnesota can be gauged from a single, simple set of statistics. In this state, the strongest farm organization always used to be the Farm Bureau, which has supported Secretary of Agriculture Benson. But in the last two years, the more left wing, sharply anti-administration Farmer's Union has forged ahead with amazing speed. Since 1952, Farmer's Union membership has doubled. Today with something like 33,000 farm family members, the Union is slightly bigger in Minnesota than the Farm Bureau.

Polls Show Humphrey

Humphrey has been exploiting all these advantages in a campaign that would kill most senatorial candidates in about a fortnight. The polls seem to prove, moreover, that his effort is paying off. They not only give Humphrey a commanding lead—56 to 41 — over Val Bjornson. They also show the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, Orville Freeman, gaining rather importantly on the somewhat colorless Republican incumbent, C. Elmer Anderson.

Humphrey and Freeman are now much stronger, according to the pollsters, with men voters than with women voters. This the experts regard as ominous. Although the Korean peace means much to the women, the Minnesota pattern is that the women voters eventually move over to the same column as their husbands.

On the other hand, the experts rather curiously predict that even if Humphrey wins by a big enough margin to carry Freeman into the governorship, there may be no significant change in the Minnesota congressional delegation. Except for one Democrat, Roy Weir, all the congressmen are well dug in after the Humphrey manner; and the Republican congressmen have been as bitter against the Eisenhower farm program as Humphrey himself.

Such are the significant facts according to those who know Minnesota best. On the other side of the ballot, there is nothing that weighs very heavily except the President's enduring popularity, the important political effect of the Korean truce, and the personal excellence of Val Bjornson.

But although they still like Ike, this state is the reverse of Illinois, where only Eisenhower coattails can carry the Republican senatorial candidate, Joe Meek, to victory. Here in Minnesota, if Val Bjornson wins — and he has been gaining — it will be because Bjornson's personal qualities have overcome the handicap of the Eisenhower administration's policies.

The Old Army Game By Another Name

Passing the buck and bucking for sergeant appear to have been supplanted in Army standard procedures by a new one. For lack of official terminology it could be called simple "over-study."

It seem that when there is nothing else to do on staff levels they call for a staff study. In the process of one of these staff studies a young major uncovered the fact that the Army already has so many studies completed and so many others under way that it cannot keep track of them.

The major's conclusions at the end of his particular staff study were that the Army ought to set up a central filing system so that when another study is called for they can double check quickly to see if the study in mind hasn't already been made at one time or another.

The amount of manpower tied up in making the estimated 25,000 staff studies which are set in motion or completed annually is an unknown factor, but it must be considerable. The Army has started assembling several additional combat divisions without adding additional manpower to the ground forces. The personnel has been "found" by abolishing desk jobs and eliminating duplications.

In the study of the studies it was revealed that two crews would often work on the same staff project at the same time and unknown to each other. This is duplication with a vengeance.

The armed forces are beginning to show the results of efficiency measures which were set in motion by Defense Secretary Wilson's team of business experts. As a result of an Air Force study nearly 20,000 jobs have been eliminated with, it is claimed, no decrease in efficiency. Parallel studies in the Army and Navy ought to cause similar shakeouts, and perhaps the time will come when it is not necessary to "make work" in the form of studies of studies.

These Days

Definitions

So many words have crept into our language which men use differently that I thought I might make a glossary to aid those readers who like such things. It all started with someone calling me an arch-reactionary which means nothing to me as a label, for I am neither a reactionary nor arch. Then a fellow I once tried to help out of a hole said that I pontificated which is probably true but I had no idea what he meant. He had undoubtedly read a weekly magazine's description of me as the high priest of anti-communism and the words, high priest and pontiff, might be interchangeable, if there is any reason for it. And I presume that a pontiff pontificates, but how does he do it? Is it by word of mouth to which anyone is free not to listen or on the tuba from which one escapes with greater difficulty?

Let us look at some of these terms:

Reactionary—Plain: A fellow who believes that in the 8,000 or 9,000 years of recorded human history, something happened before 1933 that is worthwhile.

Reactionary—Arch: One who believes the same, only more so.

Republican—Plain: A fellow who, when he thinks of it, votes for Republican candidates for public office.

Republican—Liberal: A Republican who prefers the New Deal but finds it socially, economically and politically more advantageous to use the Republican label.

Republican—Eisenhower: A Republican, Democrat, New Dealer or arch-reactionary who believes that President Eisenhower is the greatest President since Harry Truman and that his success is assured.

Republican—Taft: An old-timer with some memories of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover who wanted Robert A. Taft to be nominated in 1952 and never got over it.

Right Wing: Don't know what it means.

I am particularly perturbed about the middle-of-the-road because if it is impossible to define with precision what is right wing or left wing, how does one find the middle?

McCarthyism: A congressional investigation of Communists by incorrect methods. In France, this definition would fit Duclos's objections to the French government investigating Soviet spies. In the United States, the National Committee for [illegible]ffective Congress has tried to confuse McCarthyism with Hitler with little success. The Watkins Committee limits itself to defining it as a senator who is a boor and who says about other senators in public what they say about each other in private—also about some generals.

Fascist: A fellow who disagrees with the New Deal but is not a Communist. The term may be applied to anyone, particularly to a Son and Daughter of the American Revolution and to one who believes that the United States can get along without the United Nations.

Democrat—Plain: One who is accustomed to vote for the Democratic party.

Democrat—Southern: A Democrat living south of the Mason-Dixon Line, who is emotionally conditioned not to vote for a Republican even when he prefers to. This tradition he has broken only for Hoover and Eisenhower with regrets.

Democrat—New Dealer: An adherent of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Democrat—Fair Dealer: An adherent of Harry Truman.

ADA (Americans for Democratic Action): Fabian Socialists who support the Democrats but also infiltrate the Republicans.

Communist: A member of the Communist party, U. S. A., disciplined by the Communist International and accepting the Marxist-Leninist principles of history, sociology and economics. He is now illegal.

Fellow Traveler: One who accepts Communist discipline but does not join the party.

Innocent: One who goes along but does not know why.

Things Are Getting Busier At The Dike

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Demagoguery knows no party line, and anybody who has been angered in recent months over the extremes of political denunciation in speeches by certain United States senators on the Republican side is invited in all fairness now to wax indignant over the palpable distortions by the Democrats.

Thus, there is more than meets the eye in the alleged faux pas made by Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense, when he spoke some blunt words about the indolent and the lazy and uttered words of praise for those who react to unemployment by diligently trying to find a new job.

Hardly had this off-the-cuff interview been reported in abbreviated fashion in the press dispatches when the mimeograph machines at Democratic headquarters began to be oiled up as statement after statement of shocked surprise was drafted to be issued under the name of this or that Democratic senator who happened to be handy to sponsor them.

Statement Misinterpreted

Today the nation is being told, in effect, that Mr. Wilson compares the unemployed to dogs, or that he is a business man without a heart, or that the Republican administration hasn't any humanitarianism in it. What Mr. Wilson actually said about the zeal of a bird dog as compared with the kennel-fed dog, hasn't been fairly interpreted at all, but the customary twist of misinterpretation is given which 20 years of demagoguery under the Democratic administration has made commonplace. Even some Republicans fell for the misinterpretation and hastened to criticize Secretary Wilson instead of emphasizing the real point.

The word "bird-dogging" is established today in our vocabulary as a mark of merit in searching out the answers to unsolved problems. But if the Democratic party comments on the Wilson statement are accepted, it is politically unwise today to say that a man who loses one job is expected to try to find another. He isn't supposed to "bird-dog" his way out, but to sit on his haunches and wait for someone to come and feed him. It is considered politically wise to say only that the government owes every man a job, whether he deserves it or not. It is considered proper, moreover, to say that unemployment compensation isn't enough and that the taxpayers who are employed must be taxed to subsidize those who will not work.

There are, of course, unemployed persons who can't find jobs in their own area or in the occupation in which they are trained. Many of them will not leave their homes to find jobs elsewhere but prefer to wait till things get better in their own localities. This is their prerogative but in any over-all survey of unemployment these varying factors have to be taken into account and the want ads in the newspapers of many cities every day are pleading for persons to come to work.

Mr. Wilson is naive enough to believe that you can discuss all phases of the unemployment problem frankly. He didn't know that he couldn't speak with affection about four-legged animals without offending the two-legged. He apparently overestimated the dog-lover vote in this country. He might have known that in free America anybody is free to twist and distort and play the demagogue.

Wise Candidate Is Indefinite

Politics has been considered heretofore to permit the saying of almost anything. Hence the wise candidate says as little as possible of a definite nature lest his words be distorted by his opponent. Mr. Wilson is one of those honest-minded individuals who says what he thinks, which, of course, in politics is a mistake. Hypocrisy evidently pays off better.

For 20 years now the philosophy has been preached—as indeed it is in the Communist world—that the persons who have acquired property are villains whose success is due only to their mastery of the art of exploitation of the poor. The CIO talks that way all the time. Class warfare is its stock in trade. The usual contention, moreover, is that the successful must part with sizable percentages of their incomes to pay for the mistakes of the unsuccessful. Nobody with an ounce of charity in his system objects to paying large taxes for relief. But during the '30s the made-work on relief projects of WPA proved fruitless. In the end, only when the war boom came was the nation able by a heavy-goods program to give the unemployed the jobs they needed. There is a right way and a wrong way to relieve unemployment, and the Eisenhower program is based on sound principles.

Certainly it is most unfortunate for anybody to be without a job and nothing that Charles Wilson said could have been properly construed as a lack of sympathy for a person who has lost his job through no fault of his own, or a disparagement of anyone who hasn't been able to get a job despite every effort. The administration's program of economic help for so-called "distress areas" negates any charges of neglect on that score.

But this is not what the Democratic party demagogues have been saying or will be saying about the Wilson comment. They will make political capital out of distortion because many voters will never hear the rebuttal. It's a good example of how distortion succeeds because men of ability and good education in the leadership of the Democratic party, selfishly seeking votes at any price, know how to play on the emotions of the uninformed.

Baering Down On The News

Peace de resistance on U. N. menu is beef ala gored ox.

It all depends on whose steer is being barbecued. Let's take up the territorial hassel on Cyprus and Dutch West New Guinea.

There was some corrugated chinstrapping in general assembly that raised tempers to a modern boiling point. They voted 39 to 12 to consider Indonesia's lien on the world's second largest island.

What does Holland do in the clutch? It says no U. N. decision will ever affect Dutch sovereignty over West New Guinea. Which makes the decision as reversible as a mattress.

It also disintegrates the one-for all-and-all-for-one motif of United Nations. That's as sure as eggs for breakfast.

Now to fit the shoe to the bunion, how about Cyprus? Greece claims everything above low tide by reason of seeing it first. Like all discoveries it is a game of touch tag.

The British happen to occupy Cyprus after shaking the dice up in a hat. Ten Downing Street declares Britain will not even take part in United Nations debates over Cyprus. That's as final as amen at a Southern camp meeting.

Moscow voted solidly for full consideration of both colonial issues. Those boys are the official bone-pickers for the Museum of Natural History.

How long does an orchestra have to tune up before it plays something?

Neither Holland nor Britain will permit plebiscites of the islands. There you have the words and music for a holiday for busted strings.

Looks like the little gripes have tender whines.

Paul Hoffman Turns Down Eisenhower Offer To Be Ambassador To India

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has been so anxious to patch up our sagging relations with India that he has tried to persuade Paul Hoffman, former administrator for the Marshall Plan, to take the post as U. S. Ambassador to India.

It will probably be denied, but the State Department has even considered the idea of asking Chester Bowles, the Democrat who was removed as envoy to India, to go back again.

Unfortunately, it has been impossible to persuade Hoffman to accept. His problems with the Studebaker Motor Company which he heads, plus his negotiations with Nash-Hudson aimed at keeping small auto companies from being swallowed by the big three, make any foreign assignment impossible.

Also, State Department advisers are doubtful that Bowles would be palatable to the hard core of GOP advisers round Eisenhower even though acceptable to Ike himself.

Bowles, a former Democratic governor of Connecticut and head of the price control agency during the war, was a sensational success in India. He became a close personal friend of Prime Minister Nehru and was hailed by the Indian masses as their champion. Following Eisenhower's inauguration, however, he was pulled out of India and replaced by career diplomat George Allen.

Allen has now been recalled to Washington and will not return to India. He is expected to replace Henry Byroade as assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs.

NOTE—Allen was an excellent envoy to Yugoslavia, put our relations with Tito on an even keel. But handling Dictator Tito and aesthete Nehru are two different things, and Allen was not a success in India.

Sudden Silence In Jersey

If you want to know why a sudden hush has settled down over squabbling Republicans in New Jersey you won't have far to go.

The answer is the Republic Steel Corporation, which, in cooperation with the White House, pulled one of the neatest bits of pressure politics witnessed in the current campaign.

For over a month Jim Selvage, public relations counsel and former vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers, had been bombarding New Jersey voters with a steady stream of denunciation against GOP senatorial candidate Clifford Case, all because Case was opposed to Senator McCarthy.

Also snapping at Case's heels were ex-Congressman Fred Hartley, the man who co-authored the Taft-Hartley Act and who is extremely close to the National Retail Dry Goods Association; together with ex-Sen. Albert Hawkes, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

The rift they caused in the Republican party made it almost certain that a Democrat, Congressman Charles Howell, would win.

However, Jim Selvage has now suddenly clammed up. Simultaneously, Fred Hartley, who talked about jumping into the race against Case, has departed to fill some speaking engagements. And ex-Senator Hawkes has gone on a vacation.

Diet Is Factor In Acid Production And Tooth Decay

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When a dentist finds more than the usual number of cavities on the routine visit, he is likely to ask the patient about his diet, particularly his consumption of sweets. These random cavities are difficult to prevent and are more common when the acid content of the saliva is higher than normal. Diet enters the picture because certain foods are acid producers.

A Boston dentist decided to tackle the problem scientifically by running acid tests on the saliva and studying the diet of all patients with an excessive number of new cavities over a six-month period. Several tests are available but he found the colormetric procedure best suited his purposes.

In this test the patient chews wax and expectorates the saliva into a tube. The specimen is then mixed with a special sucrose indicator of violet color and incubated for four hours. When the color changes to green, there is enough acid in the saliva to eat through the enamel and produce a cavity. The test can be repeated at daily or weekly intervals and, so long as the material turns green, conditions are ripe for cavity formation.

Meanwhile, the patient is instructed to keep a food chart. Instead of writing down the contents of each meal the Boston dentist supplies him with a printed form in which foods are classified into eight groups, including milk, two types of vegetables, fruits, bread, meat, fats, and sweets. In this way a daily dietary history was obtained which was most helpful because most of us forget within 24 hours what we have eaten.

Once the record is completed, the dentist is able to recommend changes or correct deficiencies or excesses. Many of his patients with dental caries fitted into one of three groups. Some were totally ignorant of food values or ate too little proteins and milk products.

Those who did not like to drink milk were told to incorporate an adequate amount into creamed dishes, custards, scrambled eggs, and stews. Furthermore, many of the minerals in milk, such as calcium and phosphorus, could be obtained in vegetables, cheese, and liver.

The second group was not eating properly because they were allergic to certain foods or were bothered by intestinal disorders that affected absorption or utilization of essential nutrients. These persons were referred to physicians for more expert care.

The third type used sweets excessively. In managing this group it was more important to determine why they used too much candy, cake, jam, and jellies than to pass off the subject with the advice, "Cut down on sweets."

As was expected, the majority craved goodies for a variety of psychological reasons and were treated accordingly.

TOMORROW: Rheumatic fever recurs.

ANEMIA AND HAIR LOSS

Mrs. Y. writes: I'm a middle-aged anemic woman. Could anemia be responsible for my falling hair?

REPLY

Yes, but more likely suspects are dandruff, ringworm, alopecia areata, and glandular disturbances such as deficient thyroid secretion.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Clifton Fadiman, steering a party of friends to a little Italian restaurant he had praised to the skies, suddenly discovered he had misplaced the proprietor's card. "We'll have to go elsewhere," mourned Fadiman, "I seem to have lost my Spaghettisburg address!"

"This legal hokus-pokus," complained a widow to her closest friend, "is driving me insane. I'm having such trouble getting my hands on the money my husband left me in his will that sometimes I actually wish he hadn't died!"

Biggest piker at the golf club got a chicken bone stuck in his throat, and gasped, "Get a doctor quick!" The doc arrived in the nick of time, and the victim, able to breathe freely once more, asked grumpily, "What are you going to charge me for this?" The doctor suggested, "Suppose we say half of what you would gladly have paid when the bone was still stuck in your throat?"

Excellent Beef Supplies Suggest Stew

In the words of a popular British journal, published a century ago, "Next to Habeas Corpus and freedom of the press, there are few things that the English people have a greater respect for and livelier faith in than beef."

Twentieth-century Americans are by no means second to the nineteenth-century British in their appreciation of beef. Happily for everyone, beef is not only plentiful, but lower priced than it has been in years. It is lean beef, grass-fed on the spacious plains, then brought straight to marke without a period of fattening on corn. This beef has the complete high quality protein, B vitamins and essential minerals found in all meat. Lean beef suggests stew—a delectable dish that offers the cook infinite variety.

Don't suppose for a moment that the cuts of beef you use for stews are the "most unkindest cuts of all." On the contrary: treat them with the respect they deserve and they will repay you handsomely with their rich flavor and inviting aroma. The secret of a trumphant stew is long, slow cooking, and let it be said at once that the slow is as important as the long. A barely perceptible simmer does right by stew; a furious boil will inevitably lead to disaster.

There are other signposts which point the way to resplendent stew. Two kinds of stew exist, brown and white, the difference lying in whether you brown the meat before simmering it. If you elect to make a brown stew, dry the meat well before browning, so that its first plunge will be into fat alone rather than fat mixed with water. Moreover, stew resents crowding in the pot. If you attempt to brown too many pieces simultaneously, the temperature of fat and pot will tion you accord the meat may turn battleship gray, instead of the toasty brown you had in mind.

Once you have browned your meat to a turn, go easy on the liquid. Whatever liquid you use will naturally tend to increase as cooking goes forward. This occurs because you are using a tightly closed pot which reduces evaporation to a minimum, while the meat juice swells the quantity of fluid. Use enough liquid just to cover meat and vegetables, but not a bit more.

Vegetables of course mean fresh vegetables, and they should be treated with the same consideration you accord the meat. Some schools of thought prefer to brown certain vegetables before adding them to the stew; they may sprinkle a bit of sugar on onions, for instance, to ensure the proper golden hue. Others like to cook fresh vegetables such as peas separately, adding them to the stew at serving time. But whether you prepare your vegetables on the side or as part of the main dish, cook them just to tenderness and not beyond it. The meat should be well along toward succulence before you put in the peas.

You can see in your mind's eye that yours will be a stew of gay color and rare flavor if you follow these few simple rules. The savory brown meat, the bright garden vegetables, the full-bodied gravy combine to a harmonious whole guaranteed to please the man of the house, the little woman (that's you) and the honored guest equally well. Here is an example of true economy: money saved and dinner better than ever.

Excellent Beef Supplies Suggest Stew

In the words of a popular British journal, published a century ago, "Next to Habeas Corpus and freedom of the press, there are few things that the English people have a greater respect for and livelier faith in than beef."

Twentieth-century Americans are by no means second to the nineteenth-century Britisl. in their appreciation of beef. Happily for everyone, beef is not only plentiful, but lower priced than it has been in years. It is lean beef, grass-fed on the spacious plains, then brought straight to marke without a period of fattening on corn. This beef has the complete high quality protein, B vitamins and essential minerals found in all meat. Lean beef suggests stew—a delectable dish that offers the cook infinite variety.

Don't suppose for a moment that the cuts of beef you use for stews are the "most unkindest cuts of all." On the contrary: treat them with the respect they deserve and they will repay you handsomely with their rich flavor and inviting aroma. The secret of a trumphant stew is long, slow cooking, and let it be said at once that the slow is as important as the long. A barely perceptible simmer does right by stew; a furious boil will inevitably lead to disaster.

There are other signposts which point the way to resplendent stew. Two kinds of stew exist, brown and white, the difference lying in whether you brown the meat before simmering it. If you elect to make a brown stew, dry the meat well before browning, so that its first plunge will be into fat alone rather than fat mixed with water. Moreover, stew resents crowding in the pot. If you attempt to brown too many pieces simultaneously, the temperature of fat and pot will tion you accord the meat may turn battleship gray, instead of the toasty brown you had in mind.

Once you have browned your meat to a turn, go easy on the liquid. Whatever liquid you use will naturally tend to increase as cooking goes forward. This occurs because you are using a tightly closed pot which reduces evaporation to a minimum, while the meat juice swells the quantity of fluid. Use enough liquid just to cover meat and vegetables, but not a bit more.

The meat should be well along toward succulence before you put in the peas.

Trick With Pot Roast Ideal For The Small Family

Everyone loves a quick trick! Here's one which makes good use of the plentiful beef pot roasts now on the market. It's made-to-order for the small family.

Instead of cooking a pot roast all in one piece, buy a thick shoulder pot roast and have your meat man cut it into two pieces. Cook one piece as a pot roast, then make an entirely different beef dish from the other. Braised beef cubes served in a rice ring is one choice—or you might prefer a savory beef and vegetable stew.

This barbecued pot roast, made from half of the roast, is one of the most delicious meat dishes ever to come out of a test kitchen:

Barbecued Pot Roast

Beef pot roast
Salt, pepper, fat
½ cup water
1 8 ounce can tomato sauce
3 medium onions
2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoons dry mustard
¼ cup each lemon juice and vinegar
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Rub meat with 2 teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper; brown in 3 tablespoons fat. Add water, tomato sauce, thinly sliced onions and minced garlic. Cover and cook over low heat 1½ hours. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat; cover and continue cooking about 1 hour, or until tender. Remove meat to hot platter. Skim off most of fat, dilute with water to suit taste, then thicken with 2 tablespoons flour mixed to smooth paste with a little water. 4 servings.

The other half of the pot roast might be cut into one-inch cubes and frozen for use at a later time. This braised beef dish, hinting of the French cuisine, is one tempting way to use diced beef.

Parisienne Beef in Rice Ring

In a Dutch oven or other large, heavy utensil, brown beef cubes in a little hot fat. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and basil. Add a small piece of bay leaf, som. chopped celery leaves and one-half-cup of bouillon. Cover and cook slowly until meat is tender, adding more bouillon in small amounts as it cooks away. (The secret of having well browned meat and rich flavored gravy is to use small quantities of liquid.) When meat is tender, add a can of mushrooms (or fresh mushrooms) which have been fried in a little butter or margarine. Taste liquid and if it is too concentrated, add bouillon or water to dilute to the right strength. If necessary, thicken with a little flour mixed to a smooth paste with a little water. Stir in a few tablespoons sherry or dry white or red wine. Serve in rice ring.

Another way to serve the meat cubes is in a continental-type beef and vegetable dish. It's a good company dish.

Continental Beef Supreme

Brown meat as above. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and add ½ cup water and ½ cup Burgundy wine (or use 1 cup bouillon). Add 1 clove garlic and some thinly sliced celery. Cover and cook slowly until tender; add more water in small amounts as it cooks away. When meat is nearly tender, add one box of frozen green beans, some sliced carrots and small onions and water or bouillon to barely cover vegetables. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cook until tender. Remove meat and vegetables to a platter; keep warm. Thicken liquid and season to taste. Just before serving, stir in a few tablespoons sour cream. Pour over meat and vegetables.

Quick Thousand Island Dressing

This is good on head lettuce or crisp greens:

1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons chopped chives or green onions
⅛ cup chili sauce
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
¼ cup mixed pickle relish

Combine ingredients, mixing well. Chill. Serve on crisp salad greens. Serves 6.

Baked Creamed Potatoes

2 pounds new potatoes
2½ cups milk
½ cup melted butter
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sliced onion
¼ cup flour
Few grains pepper

Wash and peel potatoes. Place in lightly buttered 2-quart baking dish. Combine milk, butter, salt, and onion. Pour over potatoes. Cover baking dish; bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F., 1½ hours or until potatoes are tender. Remove any film that forms during baking. Remove potatoes. Add flour mixed to a smooth paste in cold water; cook until thickened. Season with pepper. Add potatoes; heat. Serves 4-6.

Trick With Pot Roast Ideal For The Small Family

Everyone loves a quick trick! Here's one which makes good use of the plentiful beef pot roasts now on the market. It's made-to-order for the small family.

Instead of cooking a pot roast all in one piece, buy a thick shoulder pot roast and have your meat man cut it into two pieces. Cook one piece as a pot roast, then make an entirely different beef dish from the other. Braised beef cubes served in a rice ring is one choice—or you might prefer a savory beef and vegetable stew.

This barbecued pot roast, made from half of the roast, is one of the most delicious meat dishes ever to come out of a test kitchen:

Barbecued Pot Roast

Beef pot roast
Salt, pepper, fat
½ cup water
1 8 ounce can tomato sauce
3 medium onions
2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoons dry mustard
¼ cup each lemon juice and vinegar
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Rub meat with 2 teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper; brown in 3 tablespoons fat. Add water, tomato sauce, thinly sliced onions and minced garlic. Cover and cook over low heat 1½ hours. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat; cover and continue cooking about 1 hour, or until tender. Remove meat to hot platter. Skim off most of fat, dilute with water to suit taste, then thicken with 2 tablespoons flour mixed to smooth paste with a little water. 4 servings.

The other half of the pot roast might be cut into one-inch cubes and frozen for use at a later time. This braised beef dish, hinting of the French cuisine, is one tempting way to use diced beef.

Parisienne Beef in Rice Ring

In a Dutch oven or other large, heavy utensil, brown beef cubes in a little hot fat. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and basil. Add a small piece of bay leaf, som. chopped celery leaves and one-half-cup of bouillon. Cover and cook slowly until meat is tender, adding more bouillon in small amounts as it cooks away. (The secret of having well browned meat and rich flavored gravy is to use small quantities of liquid.) When meat is tender, add a can of mushrooms (or fresh mushrooms) which have been fried in a little butter or margarine. Taste liquid and if it is too concentrated, add bouillon or water to dilute to the right strength. If necessary, thicken with a little flour mixed to a smooth paste with a little water. Stir in a few tablespoons sherry or dry white or red wine. Serve in rice ring.

Another way to serve the meat cubes is in a continental-type beef and vegetable dish. It's a good company dish.

Continental Beef Supreme

Brown meat as above. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and add ½ cup water and ½ cup Burgundy wine (or use 1 cup bouillon). Add 1 clove garlic and some thinly sliced celery. Cover and cook slowly until tender; add more water in small amounts as it cooks away. When meat is nearly tender, add one box of frozen green beans, some sliced carrots and small onions and water or bouillon to barely cover vegetables. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cook until tender. Remove meat and vegetables to a platter; keep warm. Thicken liquid and season to taste. Just before serving, stir in a few tablespoons sour cream. Pour over meat and vegetables.

Quick Thousand Island Dressing

This is good on head lettuce or crisp greens:

1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons chopped chives or green onions
⅓ cup chili sauce
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
¼ cup mixed pickle relish

Combine ingredients, mixing well. Chill. Serve on crisp salad greens. Serves 6.

Baked Creamed Potatoes

2 pounds new potatoes
2½ cups milk
½ cup melted butter
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sliced onion
¼ cup flour
Few grains pepper

Wash and peel potatoes. Place in lightly buttered 2-quart baking dish. Combine milk, butter, salt, and onion. Pour over potatoes. Cover baking dish; bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F., 1½ hours or until potatoes are tender. Remove any film that forms during baking. Remove potatoes. Add flour mixed to a smooth paste in cold water; cook until thickened. Season with pepper. Add potatoes; heat. Serves 4-6.

All Coffee—nothing but coffee!

Start The Day With A Good Breakfast

Help your youngsters get the right start with a good breakfast.

A quick bite and a dash to catch the school bus, or skipping breakfast entirely — the result: mid-morning slump. And they can't make up for breakfast by eating two well-balanced meals later in the day, says nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service.

Fortified with good breakfast that will stick to their ribs, your youngsters will be full of pep and energy for the day. They'll have a better chance to do well at work and play too.

By a good breakfast Miss Coblentz means ⅓ of the day's food needs—at least fruit or fruit juice; hot or cold enriched cereal with milk or sometimes an egg; enriched or whole wheat bread; and a beverage. (For your school boys and girls—milk, by all means.)

But why don't people eat breakfast? Not enough time; not hungry; tired of the same old thing are the usual reasons. Here are some things you can do to correct these situations.

Set the alarm a half hour earlier in the morning. Then you'll have time for breakfast, and you'll have a chance to stir around and get "in the mood" for breakfast. Try it once and see how much happier you'll feel in the morning,—and how much better you'll feel all day long. Breakfast can be simple and quick. You can get this important meal of the day ready in 10-15-20 minutes.

Vary the breakfast menu. Scramble eggs one day, soft-cook the next. Serve French toast or creamed chipped beef on toast occasionally. Don't forget fruit and milk. Vary with seasonal fruits, such as melons and peaches which are good sources of vitamins A and C.

Perk up the breakfast table. If you have no fresh flowers, use a plant for a centerpiece. Have a colorful clean cloth or place mats, and keep the milk bottle off the table.

Better Grades With Better Breakfasts

This young gentleman smiles over his breakfast of orange juice, whole wheat flakes with prunes and milk, buttered French toast and honey, and hot milk beverage. A month of breakfasts like this and his report card will be better. A new scientific study of boys 12 to 14 years of age, made at a distinguished medical school of a leading mid-west university, has shown that boys get better grades, do better work, and have better attitudes from better breakfasts.

Of special interest to mothers who are re-establishing eating habits and regular meals after the vacation period are these conclusions from the experiments:

1. Maximum work rate and maximum work output were significantly less in the late morning hours during the period when breakfast was omitted.
2. It was the consensus of the school authorities that the omission of breakfast exerted a significant detrimental effect both on the attitudes and scholastic attainment of the boys who followed this practice during the time they were in school.
3. The subjects showed no significant change in body weight whether they ate no breakfast or a basic cereal breakfast, so long as their total caloric intake per day was not changed.

The conclusions drawn from the study of boys 12 to 14 years of age not only confirmed many of the findings which applied to young women and young and old men, but demonstrated that, for the most part, the good breakfast habit is a sound nutritional principle that applies to teen-agers and the young and old alike.

A basic breakfast pattern, readily adapted to individual and family needs, provides ¼ to ⅓ of the day's total food requirements and makes a good contribution of most essential nutrients. It includes the basic foods—fruit, breakfast cereal, milk, bread and butter. These foods form a nutritional basis for an adequate breakfast.

Raspberry Milk Shake

1¼ cup milk
Few grains salt
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Wash berries, drain well and crush with a potato masher; measure, and combine with milk, salt, and three-fourths of the ice creac. Shake or beat until mixture is a smooth blend. Pour into 4 glasses and top each glass with remaining ice cream and 1 or 2 whole raspberries. Serve immediately. Serves 4.

Honey Milk Shake

1 quart cold milk
2 tablespoons honey
¼ teaspoon mace or nutmeg

Add honey and spice to milk. Pour into a shaker or glass jar with a tight cover. Shake thoroughly. If a sweeter drink is desired, use more honey. Serves 4-6.

Honeykist Cooler

⅓ cup honey
2 cup orange juice
2 teaspoon grated orange rind
6 cups milk

Blend honey with orange juice and grated rind. Add cold milk, stirring to blend. Top with vanilla ice cream and garnish with grated orange rind or slice of orange. Serves 6 to 8.

Blueberry Sponge Cake

1 cup heavy cream, whipped; 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar; 4 cup fresh blueberries; 1 sponge cake.

Beat cream until it is thick as mayonnaise. Then beat in the sugar gradually. Gently mix in the blueberries. If proces.ed berries are used, drain. Cut a sponge cake into generous pieces. Spoon this cream mixture over the slices.

Yield: 10 servings.

A quick bite and a dash to catch the school bus, or skipping breakfast entirely — the result: mid-morning slump. And they can't make up for breakfast by eating two well-balanced meals later in the day, says nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service.

Fortified with good breakfast that will stick to their ribs, your youngsters will be full of pep and energy for the day. They'll have a better chance to do well at work and play too.

By a good breakfast Miss Coblentz means ⅓ of the day's food needs—at least fruit or fruit juice; hot or cold enriched cereal with milk or sometimes an egg; enriched or whole wheat bread; and a beverage. (For your school boys and girls—milk, by all means.)

But why don't people eat breakfast? Not enough time; not hungry; tired of the same old thing are the usual reasons. Here are some things you can do to correct these situations.

Set the alarm a half hour earlier in the morning. Then you'll have time for breakfast, and you'll have a chance to stir around and get "in the mood" for breakfast. Try it once and see how much happier you'll feel in the morning,—and how much better you'll feel all day long. Breakfast can be simple and quick. You can get this important meal of the day ready in 10-15-20 minutes.

Vary the breakfast menu. Scramble eggs one day, soft-cook the next. Serve French toast or creamed chipped beef on toast occasionally. Don't forget fruit and milk. Vary with seasonal fruits, such as melons and peaches which are good sources of vitamins A and C.

Perk up the breakfast table. If you have no fresh flowers, use a plant for a centerpiece. Have a colorful clean cloth or place mats, and keep the milk bottle off the table.

Better Grades With Better Breakfasts

This young gentleman smiles over his breakfast of orange juice, whole wheat flakes with prunes and milk, buttered French toast and honey, and hot milk beverage. A month of breakfasts like this and his report card will be better. A new scientific study of boys 12 to 14 years of age, made at a distinguished medical school of a leading mid-west university, has shown that boys get better grades, do better work, and have better attitudes from better breakfasts.

Of special interest to mothers who are re-establishing eating habits and regular meals after the vacation period are these conclusions from the experiments:

1. Maximum work rate and maximum work output were significantly less in the late morning hours during the period when breakfast was omitted.
2. It was the consensus of the school authorities that the omission of breakfast exerted a significant detrimental effect both on the attitudes and scholastic attainment of the boys who followed this practice during the time they were in school.
3. The subjects showed no significant change in body weight whether they ate no breakfast or a basic cereal breakfast, so long as their total caloric intake per day was not changed.

The conclusions drawn from the study of boys 12 to 14 years of age not only confirmed many of the findings which applied to young women and young and old men, but demonstrated that, for the most part, the good breakfast habit is a sound nutritional principle that applies to teen-agers and the young and old alike.

A basic breakfast pattern, readily adapted to individual and family needs, provides ¼ to ⅓ of the day's total food requirements and makes a good contribution of most essential nutrients. It includes the basic foods—fruit, breakfast cereal, milk, bread and butter. These foods form a nutritional basis for an adequate breakfast.

Raspberry Milk Shake

¾ cup fresh raspberries
1¼ cup milk
Few grains salt
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Wash berries, drain well and crush with a potato masher; measure, and combine with milk, salt, and three-fourths of the ice creac. Shake or beat until mixture is a smooth blend. Pour into 4 glasses and top each glass with remaining ice cream and 1 or 2 whole raspberries. Serve immediately. Serves 4.

Honey Milk Shake

1 quart cold milk
2 tablespoons honey
¼ teaspoon mace or nutmeg

Add honey and spice to milk. Pour into a shaker or glass jar with a tight cover. Shake thoroughly. If a sweeter drink is desired, use more honey. Serves 4-6.

Honeykist Cooler

⅓ cup honey
2 cup orange juice
2 teaspoon grated orange rind
6 cups milk

Blend honey with orange juice and grated rind. Add cold milk, stirring to blend. Top with vanilla ice cream and garnish with grated orange rind or slice of orange. Serves 6 to 8.

Blueberry Sponge Cake

1 cup heavy cream, whipped; 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar; 4 cup fresh blueberries; 1 sponge cake.

Beat cream until it is thick as mayonnaise. Then beat in the sugar gradually. Gently mix in the blueberries. If proces.ed berries are used, drain. Cut a sponge cake into generous pieces. Spoon this cream mixture over the slices.

Yield: 10 servings.

Spicy Custard With Bananas

2 cups milk, scalded
3 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon vanilla
4 medium bananas

Heat milk in top of double boiler. To slightly beaten eggs add sugar, salt, cinnamon, and nutmeg. Pour in hot milk, a little at a time, stirring constantly. Return to double boiler and cook over hot, but not boiling water for 7 to 8 minutes, stirring constantly. When done the custard will coat a metal spoon. Remove at once from hot water; cool. Stir in vanilla and serve with bananas and chopped nuts. Serves 6.

Honey Lemon Sponge Pudding

INGREDIENTS:

- 2 cups water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup uncooked white rice
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup strained honey
- ¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, separated
- ⅓ cup lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1½ cups cold butter milk or 1½ cups sweet milk plus 1½ tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar

METHOD: Put the water, salt and rice into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Turn heat off. Leave lid on for 10 minutes. While rice is cooking, cream the butter or margarine until soft and light. Gradually work in the honey. Beat in the flour and salt, alternately with the egg yolks. Beat in the lemon juice and lemon rind alternately with the milk. Mix thoroughly. Place the cooked rice in an ungreased 2-quart baking dish. Mix in half of the lemon-milk mixture. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Fold into the remaining lemon-milk mixture. Pour into the baking dish, on top of, but do not mix with, rice mixture. Place in a pan of very hot water and bake in a preheated 325° F. oven for 45 minutes. Cool slightly and serve warm or cold. This recipe makes 10 servings.

Breakfast, luncheon or dinner, Quick Coffee Cake is sure to be a favorite.

You'll have no trouble with breakfast "skimpers" when you serve this Quick Coffee Cake. It is so tender and delicately delicious that finicky appetites will perk up for a second helping.

Because it's not too rich, this quick coffee cake makes a luscious accompaniment for luncheons and dinners too. Serve it with tender, juicy baked ham gone glamorous with golden pineapple chunks for garnish. Add garden fresh, cooked vegetables with plenty of melted butter or margarine. The coffee cake is so easy because it doesn't even require special shaping. Just pour the batter into a greased 8-inch square pan and pop it into the oven while the ham is baking.

Serving specialty breads with your meals is a simple way to add variety and taste appeal to menus.

If you don't have time to bake a coffee cake yourself, your bake shop is sure to have one that will please your family. Check to see that your baker uses enriched flour, just as you do. Enrichment means extra nutrition for your family at no extra cost to you.

QUICK COFFEE CAKE

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg, milk and shortening. Add to flour mixture, stirring until smooth. Pour into greased 8-inch square pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 25 minutes. Makes 1 coffee cake.

He-Man Special

Restaurant owners report that short ribs always are a favorite with the men. They're one of the thriftier beef cuts which, when combined with vegetables, make an inexpensive and wholesome one-dish meal for the family.

Braised Short Ribs With Vegetables

- 2½ to 3 pounds beef short ribs
- Salt, papper, flour, fat
- 1 medium onion
- ½ cup celery leaves
- 2 sprigs parsley
- 1½ cups hot water or bouillon
- 6 medium carrots
- 8 small onions
- 3 to 4 medium potatoes

Have short ribs cut into individual servings. Remove any excess fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll in flour. In a Dutch oven or other large heavy utensil, melt 2 tablespoons fat and in it brown short ribs thoroughly. Add sliced onion, celery leaves, parsley and liquid. Cover and simmer over low heat for 2 hours or until meat is nearly tender, adding more liquid in small quantities, as needed. Add vegetables, sprinkle with salt and pepper and continue cooking, covered, for 30 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Remove meat and vegetables to hot platter. Skim most of fat from liquid, dilute to the desired strength and thicken with a smooth flour and water paste. Season. 4 servings.

Novel 'Burgers

After the football game, the gang will be ravenous. Hamburgers always have been popular for after-the-game suppers. A novel kind of 'burger for such gatherings — and a nice change from hamburgers — is pork sausage 'burgers. Pork sausage patties served between toasted buns, with thinly sliced sweet onions, pickle relish and catsup on the side, will make a hit with the younger set. They're a good evening snack for the older crowd, too. (Pan-fry one-half inch thick patties until well browned and thoroughly cooked.)

Veal Steak Success

Your chances of a dinner hit are good when you choose veal steaks as the main dish. In preparing this cut, remember these cooking tips:

1. Before browning, dip the steaks either in flour or in beaten egg, then in fine crumbs. The coating helps the meat to brown easily.
2. Veal should be braised rather than broiled. Because veal is from young beef, it lacks the fat necessary for successful broiling. (If pounded very thin, breaded veal steaks may be pan fried quickly in a little hot fat.)

Hawaiian Float

- 3 tablespoons pineapple sirup
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 cup milk
- Few grains salt

Combine ingredients, beat until thoroughly blended. Serve ice cold topped with whipped cream or ice cream. Serves 1.

Maple Cooler

- 2 tablespoons maple sirup
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup milk
- Few grains salt

Combine ingredients and beat one minute. Pour into tall glass. Top with ice cream if desired.

Consolidation Of White And Negro Schools Urged

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 13 (AP)—The 1955 Legislature will be urged to provide for the consolidation, as of next July 1, of the state's white and Negro schools for the deaf and blind.

The State Board of Education adopted that proposal today as a part of the legislative program it will lay before the session convening next Jan. 13.

It noted that any such consolidation, suggested for the present white schools at Romney, should be accompanied by a transfer to the combined schools of the Negro institutions' budget for 1955-57.

A resolution by Board Member Lawrence R. Lynch of Clarksburg urging the unification step noted that the lawmakers should be reminded of a joint report in July by heads of the two existing groups of schools.

Supt. Hugo Schunhoff of the white institutions and Supt. E. A. Bolling of the Negro schools, located at Institute in Kanawha County, recommended that such a consolidation be carried out.

Amishmen Given Jail Sentences

SOMERSET — Three Somerset County (Pa.) Amish farmers are serving jail sentences for violation of the Compulsory School Attendance Law by refusing to send their children over 14 years of age to classes.

Convicted were Sam Bender, 45, of Grantsville; Menno Peachey, 54, of Salisbury, and Emanuel Hershberger, 44, of Springs.

The trio accepted five-day jail terms Tuesday in the Somerset County lockup rather than pay fines and costs of $23.50 each before Justice of the Peace C. A. Maust of Salisbury.

Authorities said the Amishmen refused to send their children over 14 to the Crossroads Parochial School in Elk Lick Township.

The incident, they added, parallels a similar case in which four Amish farmers were arrested six years ago in the county. In the 1948 case, the defendants contended they did not send their children to school after the age of 14 because of religious scruples.

The Crossroads School is operated by the Amish Mennonite Church.

Officers also reported that Earl Martin, 38, RD 5, Somerset, was returned from Warren, Ohio, this week for trial. He is charged with larceny by employe and fraudulent conversion of personal property.

According to police, Martin is linked with the disappearance of a large sum of money early this year from a service club.

Consolidation Of White And Negro Schools Urged

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 13 (AP)—The 1955 Legislature will be urged to provide for the consolidation, as of next July 1, of the state's white and Negro schools for the deaf and blind.

The State Board of Education adopted that proposal today as a part of the legislative program it will lay before the session convening next Jan. 13.

It noted that any such consolidation, suggested for the present white schools at Romney, should be accompanied by a transfer to the combined schools of the Negro institutions' budget for 1955-57.

A resolution by Board Member Lawrence R. Lynch of Clarksburg urging the unification step noted that the lawmakers should be reminded of a joint report in July by heads of the two existing groups of schools.

Supt. Hugo Schunhoff of the white institutions and Supt. E. A. Bolling of the Negro schools, located at Institute in Kanawha County, recommended that such a consolidation be carried out.

Amishmen Given Jail Sentences

SOMERSET — Three Somerset County (Pa.) Amish farmers are serving jail sentences for violation of the Compulsory School Attendance Law by refusing to send their children over 14 years of age to classes.

Convicted were Sam Bender, 45, of Grantsville; Menno Peachey, 54, of Salisbury, and Emanuel Hershberger, 44, of Springs.

The trio accepted five-day jail terms Tuesday in the Somerset County lockup rather than pay fines and costs of $23.50 each before Justice of the Peace C. A. Maust of Salisbury.

Authorities said the Amishmen refused to send their children over 14 to the Crossroads Parochial School in Elk Lick Township.

The incident, they added, parallels a similar case in which four Amish farmers were arrested six years ago in the county. In the 1948 case, the defendants contended they did not send their children to school after the age of 14 because of religious scruples.

The Crossroads School is operated by the Amish Mennonite Church.

Officers also reported that Earl Martin, 38, RD 5, Somerset, was returned from Warren, Ohio, this week for trial. He is charged with larceny by employe and fraudulent conversion of personal property.

According to police, Martin is linked with the disappearance of a large sum of money early this year from a service club.

Westernport Will Improve Street Lights

Council Views Other Problems

WESTERNPORT—The streets of Westernport will be brightened by the installation of six lights and the change of the position of the street light near the First Baptist Church at the corner of Philos Avenue and Main Street. This area near the church will be better lighted by increasing the watts of the globe.

The additional lights, recommended by Carl P. McMillen, street commissioner, were approved at the meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners. They will be placed on Baughman Street, at the residence of Mrs. Lucy Marsh; McKinley Street, near the residence of Dr. R. N. Williams; corner Ross and Baughman Street; Rearden Road near the residence of Mrs. Anna M. D. Mullen; Greene Street and at corner of Fairview Street and Lynn Street.

Mrs. Jane Jardine, Ross Street, asked that the sewer in the vicinity of her home be extended. She was advised that the town would not be able to do anything this year due to lack of funds. But the mayor told her when plans are drawn up for next year's work this project with others will be considered.

Ellie Friend, Main Street, was appointed to fill the vacancy in the street department caused by the recall of Anderson Grove, to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Shops in Keyser.

Mrs. Katherine Dailey, city clerk, was instructed to contact the Latimer Construction Company, at Conshocken, Pa., as to the price of repairing the Westernport reservoir.

About September 2, William Norris, of the company inspected it and gave an approximate cost of the work of $5,000. He told officials that when he returned to his office he would prepare and furnish the town a definite estimate. Since that time the town has not received any further information.

After the inspection by Norris and Harry Richards, water superintendent of the town it was reported that the town was losing about 25,000 gallons during a 24-hour day due to a leak in the reservoir.

Norris stated at the time it would take three years for the proposed repairs and the job would last for 25 years.

General Federation Officer Addresses Woman's Club At Moorefield Meeting

MOOREFIELD—Mrs. Carroll E. Miller, Missoula, Mont., recording secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was honor guest and speaker at the October meeting of the Moorefield Woman's Club Tuesday night.

In presenting her remarks on the General Federation and the part of the local club woman in her community, Mrs. Miller gave a definition of a club woman—"A club woman is a woman with a club which she uses to batter down intolerance, combat ignorance, and police up community institutions."

Mrs. Miller mentioned a few achievements of the many for which the General Federation claims credit: 85 per cent of the libraries in the United States were started by club women; in 1896 club women began advocating the arbitration of international disputes, rather than settlement by war; made possible the enactment of Pure Food and Drug Laws; advocated the eight-hour working day, child labor laws; promulgated an extensive educational program which included Home Economics, conservation, vocational and shop training and many other phases now found in all school programs and promoted an international Youth Conservation program.

And all of this, said Mrs. Miller, accomplished by the largest group of organized women in the world on the smallest budget—the cost of an ice cream soda per member.

Bringing her remarks to the community level, Mrs. Miller stated that every club woman "should know what she stands for and what she is against and do something about it." Clubs need "leadership, enthusiam and action." The best way to fight Communism is to participate actively in community affairs. She said a club woman should "boost more, beef less; give more, grab less; act more, talk less."

"We must make our club the pulse and conscience of every community in America," said the speaker, "for the margin of what we do and what we can do is enough to save the world."

Urging her hearers to be active, she said "Work with the construction gang and not with the wrecking crew." And in conclusion, quoted the motto found over a fireplace at General Federation Headquarters in Washington—"I cannot warm you if your heart be cold."

During the short business meeting held before Mrs. Miller spoke, the chairman of International Affairs, reported on plans for celebrating United Nations Day, October 24.

The president, Mrs. C. B. Bishoff, reminded the members that November 2 was election day and urged each and everyone to vote.

Miss Betty D'Auito and Mrs. James Stump, members of the Romney Club, were guests as was Mrs. Hill, Hillsboro, mother of Mrs. C. R. Whiteman.

Westernport Will Improve Street Lights

Council Views Other Problems

WESTERNPORT—The streets of Westernport will be brightened by the installation of six lights and the change of the position of the street light near the First Baptist Church at the corner of Philos Avenue and Main Street. This area near the church will be better lighted by increasing the watts of the globe.

The additional lights, recommended by Carl P. McMillen, street commissioner, were approved at the meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners. They will be placed on Baughman Street, at the residence of Mrs. Lucy Marsh; McKinley Street, near the residence of Dr. R. N. Williams; corner Ross and Baughman Street; Rearden Road near the residence of Mrs. Anna M. D. Mullen; Greene Street and at corner of Fairview Street and Lynn Street.

Mrs. Jane Jardine, Ross Street, asked that the sewer in the vicinity of her home be extended. She was advised that the town would not be able to do anything this year due to lack of funds. But the mayor told her when plans are drawn up for next year's work this project with others will be considered.

Ellie Friend, Main Street, was appointed to fill the vacancy in the street department caused by the recall of Anderson Grove, to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Shops in Keyser.

Mrs. Katherine Dailey, city clerk, was instructed to contact the Latimer Construction Company, at Conshocken, Pa., as to the price of repairing the Westernport reservoir.

About September 2, William Norris, of the company inspected it and gave an approximate cost of the work of $5,000. He told officials that when he returned to his office he would prepare and furnish the town a definite estimate. Since that time the town has not received any further information.

After the inspection by Norris and Harry Richards, water superintendent of the town it was reported that the town was losing about 25,000 gallons during a 24-hour day due to a leak in the reservoir.

Norris stated at the time it would take three years for the proposed repairs and the job would last for 25 years.

General Federation Officer Addresses Woman's Club At Moorefield Meeting

MOOREFIELD—Mrs. Carroll E. Miller, Missoula, Mont., recording secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was honor guest and speaker at the October meeting of the Moorefield Woman's Club Tuesday night.

In presenting her remarks on the General Federation and the part of the local club woman in her community, Mrs. Miller gave a definition of a club woman—"A club woman is a woman with a club which she uses to batter down intolerance, combat ignorance, and police up community institutions."

Mrs. Miller mentioned a few achievements of the many for which the General Federation claims credit: 85 per cent of the libraries in the United States were started by club women; in 1896 club women began advocating the arbitration of international disputes, rather than settlement by war; made possible the enactment of Pure Food and Drug Laws; advocated the eight-hour working day, child labor laws; promulgated an extensive educational program which included Home Economics, conservation, vocational and shop training and many other phases now found in all school programs and promoted an international Youth Conservation program.

And all of this, said Mrs. Miller, accomplished by the largest group of organized women in the world on the smallest budget—the cost of an ice cream soda per member.

Bringing her remarks to the community level, Mrs. Miller stated that every club woman "should know what she stands for and what she is against and do something about it." Clubs need "leadership, enthusiam and action." The best way to fight Communism is to participate actively in community affairs. She said a club woman should "boost more, beef less; give more, grab less; act more, talk less."

"We must make our club the pulse and conscience of every community in America," said the speaker, "for the margin of what we do and what we can do is enough to save the world."

Urging her hearers to be active, she said "Work with the construction gang and not with the wrecking crew." And in conclusion, quoted the motto found over a fireplace at General Federation Headquarters in Washington—"I cannot warm you if your heart be cold."

During the short business meeting held before Mrs. Miller spoke, the chairman of International Affairs, reported on plans for celebrating United Nations Day, October 24.

The president, Mrs. C. B. Bishoff, reminded the members that November 2 was election day and urged each and everyone to vote.

Democrats Blast Sen. Kimble And Md. Government

The McKeldin Administration and particularly the Republican State Senator from Allegany County were taken to task Wednesday at a Democratic rally in Lonaconing.

Candidates appeared before a capacity crowd of 300 persons in the Lonaconing Legion Home at the rally sponsored by the Georges Creek Democratic Club which has William P. Kelly, member of the Allegany County Democratic State Central Committee, as president.

William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland and former judge, made the following comments on remarks made by State Senator Robert B. Kimble at a GOP rally Tuesday night in Lonaconing.

"Senator Kimble, according to the Cumberland News, boasted that the present state tax rate of 5.67 cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation is the lowest in the state's history, accused Dr. Harry C. Byrd, Democratic candidate for governor of being 'confused,' and attempted to explain the size of Governor McKeldin's budgets.

"The senator, himself, is not only confused, but misleading and forgetful, or was he just trying to confuse and mislead the voters?

"For example on the state tax rate he forgot to mention that it will be 10.39 cents in 1955, almost twice the present rate, as a result of the passage of Chapter 46 of the Acts of the 1954 General Assembly.

"This increase is needed to take care of the increased state bond debt incurred during the McKeldin Administration. Senator Kimble was a member of the Legislature which passed this act and must have known about it, and in fairness he should have mentioned it instead of trying to give the impression that Governor McKeldin had permanently reduced the rate.

"He also failed to mention that Governor McKeldin, who complained four years ago that Governor Lane was extravagant, has actually spent or appropriated to spend approximately $260,000,000 more during his four years as governor than Lane spent during his four-year administration.

"This difference is pretty well pointed up by the fact that the last annual Lane budget was $150,000,000, while the present, and I believe last, McKeldin budget is $237,000,000, an increase of $87,000,000 for one year's expenditures.

"The senator also forgot to mention that McKeldin started out with a $13,000,000 surplus left by Lane and if the present state expenditures established by McKeldin are continued, the new administration will face an $18,000,000 deficit.

"And he also forgot to tell the people of this county that there would be a $4,000,000 deficit in the present budget had not the McKeldin administration put through a bill which will enable the state to collect the gross receipts tax on utilities twice in the present state fiscal year.

"This was accomplished by Chapter 28 of the Acts of 1954 which provides that this tax on 1953 receipts be paid on or before August 1, 1954, and that the tax on 1954 receipts be paid on June 1, 1955.

"Both dates are in the same state fiscal year, which runs from July 1 to June 30. The tax amounts to about $5,000,000 a year and through this 'hocus pocus' of collecting it twice in one fiscal year, the McKeldin Administration picked up an extra $5,000,000.

"Without this there would be a deficit in the current fiscal year.

"I suggest in the future the Senator tell all the facts so that the people will get the whole story."

Julius Schindler, Cumberland attorney and former trial magistrate, pointed out that the Republican government has given away valuable timberland at nominal prices to huge lumber trusts, and hundreds of millions of dollars in tidelands oil.

It is endeavoring to barter away billions of public dollars invested in atomic research by turning atomic development over to private utilities and guaranteeing them a nine per cent on their investments, he added.

Schindler stated the recent "dog" remarks of Secretary of Defense Wilson summarize the philosophy of the administration toward the working public.

William L. Wilson, Democratic candidate for the State Senate, vigorously exhorted the needs for Democratic representation from this county in the General Assembly.

"The next state administration will be Democratic and if the county does not have Democratic representation in both the Senate and House of Delegates, this county will be left out in the cold as it has in the past," Wilson charged.

The Senate candidate urged the need for completion of the state recreation area near Lonaconing.

He concluded by stating he is a resident of this county and can be reached at all times.

Dr. W. O. McLane, county campaign director, and Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee spoke in behalf of the state candidates, especially Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg attorney who is Democratic nominee for House of Representatives from the Sixth Maryland District. Ryan was unable to be present due to campaign commitments in the eastern part of the district, but sent a message.

CHRISTOPHER KNISELEY

EVERETT — Christopher Kniseley, 73, died here Sunday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Merl Edwards.

Born at Hopewell Township, a son of the late George and Susan (Baker) Kniseley, he was a coal miner by occupation. Mr. Kniseley was a member of Bethel Church of the Brethren, Tatesville.

Youth Is Jailed In Auto Larceny

Harold L. Walters, 18, of 236 Paca Street, yesterday was removed from the city lockup to the County Jail to await sentence on a charge of larceny of an automobile from the West Side.

Meanwhile, police last night continued a search for another suspect in the case.

Detective Lt. James E. Van said the pair allegedly took the car of Norman Taylor, 771 Fayette Street, Monday. The abandoned vehicle was found near Crownsville.

the group was shown the general area over which the new road will go. It will follow in general the existing route part way down the west slope to the lowest point of the three-lane strip. From there it will project downward in virtually a straight line, eliminating one hairpin curve and a final sharp curve at the foot of the mountain.

The new highway will travel a route slightly north of both Gilpintown and Flintstone, returning to the present road west of Flintstone. Then it will swing north of the existing highway again swinging in a wide arc north of the present road up Martin's Mountain. The grades are planned to be not more than six per cent in nearly all cases and no curve will be more than three per cent.

McCain and Pritchett both emphasized that in SRC planning they steered away from deep cuts and tunnels which would eliminate the scenic beauty of the route.

Democrats Blast Sen. Kimble And Md. Government

The McKeldin Administration and particularly the Republican State Senator from Allegany County were taken to task Wednesday at a Democratic rally in Lonaconing.

Candidates appeared before a capacity crowd of 300 persons in the Lonaconing Legion Home at the rally sponsored by the Georges Creek Democratic Club which has William P. Kelly, member of the Allegany County Democratic State Central Committee, as president.

William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland and former judge, made the following comments on remarks made by State Senator Robert B. Kimble at a GOP rally Tuesday night in Lonaconing.

"Senator Kimble, according to the Cumberland News, boasted that the present state tax rate of 5.67 cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation is the lowest in the state's history, accused Dr. Harry C. Byrd, Democratic candidate for governor of being 'confused,' and attempted to explain the size of Governor McKeldin's budgets.

"The senator, himself, is not only confused, but misleading and forgetful, or was he just trying to confuse and mislead the voters?

"For example on the state tax rate he forgot to mention that it will be 10.39 cents in 1955, almost twice the present rate, as a result of the passage of Chapter 46 of the Acts of the 1954 General Assembly.

"This increase is needed to take care of the increased state bond debt incurred during the McKeldin Administration. Senator Kimble was a member of the Legislature which passed this act and must have known about it, and in fairness he should have mentioned it instead of trying to give the impression that Governor McKeldin had permanently reduced the rate.

"He also failed to mention that Governor McKeldin, who complained four years ago that Governor Lane was extravagant, has actually spent or appropriated to spend approximately $260,000,000 more during his four years as governor than Lane spent during his four-year administration.

"This difference is pretty well pointed up by the fact that the last annual Lane budget was $150,000,000, while the present, and I believe last, McKeldin budget is $237,000,000, an increase of $87,000,000 for one year's expenditures.

"The senator also forgot to mention that McKeldin started out with a $13,000,000 surplus left by Lane and if the present state expenditures established by McKeldin are continued, the new administration will face an $18,000,000 deficit.

"And he also forgot to tell the people of this county that there would be a $4,000,000 deficit in the present budget had not the McKeldin administration put through a bill which will enable the state to collect the gross receipts tax on utilities twice in the present state fiscal year.

"This was accomplished by Chapter 28 of the Acts of 1954 which provides that this tax on 1953 receipts be paid on or before August 1, 1954, and that the tax on 1954 receipts be paid on June 1, 1955.

"Both dates are in the same state fiscal year, which runs from July 1 to June 30. The tax amounts to about $5,000,000 a year and through this 'hocus pocus' of collecting it twice in one fiscal year, the McKeldin Administration picked up an extra $5,000,000.

"Without this there would be a deficit in the current fiscal year.

"I suggest in the future the Senator tell all the facts so that the people will get the whole story."

Julius Schindler, Cumberland attorney and former trial magistrate, pointed out that the Republican government has given away valuable timberland at nominal prices to huge lumber trusts, and hundreds of millions of dollars in tidelands oil.

It is endeavoring to barter away billions of public dollars invested in atomic research by turning atomic development over to private utilities and guaranteeing them a nine per cent on their investments, he added.

Schindler stated the recent "dog" remarks of Secretary of Defense Wilson summarize the philosophy of the administration toward the working public.

William L. Wilson, Democratic candidate for the State Senate, vigorously exhorted the needs for Democratic representation from this county in the General Assembly.

"The next state administration will be Democratic and if the county does not have Democratic representation in both the Senate and House of Delegates, this county will be left out in the cold as it has in the past," Wilson charged.

The Senate candidate urged the need for completion of the state recreation area near Lonaconing.

He concluded by stating he is a resident of this county and can be reached at all times.

Dr. W. O. McLane, county campaign director, and Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee spoke in behalf of the state candidates, especially Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg attorney who is Democratic nominee for House of Representatives from the Sixth Maryland District. Ryan was unable to be present due to campaign commitments in the eastern part of the district, but sent a message.

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels will test Coach Hunter Maddex's unbeaten and untied Handley High School Judges of Winchester, Va., in the regular Friday night football feature at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

Followers of Fort Hill will recall that the Virginians handed Fort Hill its lone defeat of the 1953 campaign and the gridders from the Cavalier State come to Cumberland tonight with a 4-0 record. Handley has scalped Wilson Memorial of Fisherville, Waynesboro, Lexington and Harrisonburg, all Virginia opponents.

Tonight's game marks the tenth clash on the gridiron between Handley and Fort Hill. The Sentinels hold a 4-3 edge in wins while one game ended in a tie.

Coach William P. Hahn, of Fort Hill, which owns a 3-1 record to date, announced last night that John Kesler, regular halfback, was on the sick list yesterday and Byron Valentine will start in his place if he is unable to play tonight.

Four Johnstown officials will handle tonight's contest.

Fort Hill's players will sport white jerseys while the Winchester eleven will wear maroon. Allen Stryker, quarterback, and Bill Carver, left end, are Handley's co-captain's. Eddie Seibert, former Fort Hill guard and tackle and 1953 captain of the Shepherd College Rams, is assistant coach of the Judges.

Sommas Adopt Kim — Nick Likes Dawson — Jr. Price Is Fourth — Boxers' Father Dies

By C. V. BURNS

DURING our visit to New York for the World Series we learned that Salvatore (Sal) Somma's New Dorp (Staten Island) High School gridders got off to a flying start by crushing James Madison High of Brooklyn, 45-0, and Evander Childs of the Bronx, 15-4.

New Dorp High's backfield includes a Korean lad, John Kim, who was brought to this country by a GI and remains here on a school visa, which is renewable each scholastic season.

Last fall the soldier no longer was able to be responsible for the youngster and he probably would have had to return to his native land had it not been for Coach Somma, a native of Ridgeley, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Somma decided to take the 15-year-old 132-pounder into their home for the remainder of his high school career.

In New Dorp's opening game against James Madison, the young Korean took a handoff and streaked down the sideline for 81 yards and a score. What made his run all the more remarkable was the fact that it was Kim's first game and also the first time he ever carried the ball.

NICK SHINKOFF, well known Giants' scout, told me the day before the series began, that the "boss" — Horace Stoneham — told the players that he would be pleased if they took the Indians in four straight.

Harold "Pie" Traynor, the Hall of Famer from Pittsburgh, whom we talked to in the Hollenden Hotel at Cleveland, figured the Giants in four if they won the first game in the Cleveland park. That's exactly what happened.

Shinkoff, incidentally, likes our Bobby Dawson, the Allegany High and Barrelville pitching star, whom the Giants have signed for a trial with Mayfield in the Kitty League in 1955.

"That youngster was impressive at the baseball school we held at Gaithersburg and I hope he makes good," Shinkoff declared.

Included among the photos are those of Walter L. Bowers' Allegany High Campers, winners of the Maryland Class "A" title and Augie Eichhorn's Bruce High quint, state Class "B" champions.

Carl "Wink" Hartman, former Ridgeley High athlete, who scored 957 points for Alderson-Broaddus College of Phillippi, W. Va., including 43 in a single game, received honorable mention in the 1954 All-American Selections.

ENOCH (Junior) Price, of Frostburg, tied W. J. Hughes for fourth place in the trainers' race at the recent 61-day race meeting at Wheeling Downs by saddling 14 winners.

Price thoroughbreds finished "in the money" 39 times during the 61-day session. In addition to the 14 wins, "Junior" saddled 15 place horses and ten that finished third.

Bus N Bus was the stable's ace with five wins in eight outings. Mr. Frostburg and Hurry Beacon copped three races, Croton Boy, two, and Hunters Glory one.

The Prices have been in the racing business for seven years. Six years ago "Junior" saddled 20 winners in the stable's debut at Wheeling Downs.

Melissa W., Erejee, Rectortown and Junior Bell are the other oat eaters in the Price barns.

Frieda W., Busy Beacon and Stanley were sold and the latter won its first two starts under its new owner at a Rhode Island track.

Bonziah Seniah, the 12-year-old campaigner, has been retired and now is used by the Prices as a lead pony.

The Price string is now at Waterford Park., W. Va., for the 19-day session. They'll return to Wheeling for the next meeting, Nov. 3-27 and conclude the year at Charles Town, Dec. 4-18.

Mark Little, young jockey, who suffered a broken collarbone and fractured leg when Erejee figured in a three-horse spill at the West Virginia track, is still a patient in a Wheeling hospital.

FINAL RITES were conducted Tuesday at St. Mary's Church for Andrew Dombrosky Sr., 69, who died Friday in a local hospital.

Mr. Dombrosky was the father of two of Cumberland's outstanding amateur boxers of almost 20 years ago and was regarded as one of Cumberland's dyed-in-the-wool fight fans.

Andy Jr., the elder of the fighting brothers was a welterweight, and Gene boxed as a featherweight. They were regular performers in the days of the Knights of Columbus shows here and the Devon Club fistic carnivals at Luke. The brothers now reside in Baltimore.

Amateur boxing, now extinct, was a top sport here in the early 1930s.

Some of the other leather pushers of that era included Jimmy O'Rourke, Abe Gurson, Frankie Smith, Jack Rorick, Bill Niland, John Junior Kirk, Tracy Riggins, Albert Nasser, Charley Viney, Al and Sammy Madero, Delton and Allan Parker, Ralph Brant, Tony DiUbaldo, Ed "Siki" Kenney, Woody Gurley, Joe McGreevy, Frankie Freeman, Ferdy and Armand Franchi, "Chick" Harbell, Clarence Shrout, Jimmy Ringler, Gilbert Becker, "Jiggs" McKnight, Oliver Crowe, Bucky Walbert, Ted Rorick, Jimmy Pezzanite, Abby Eyler, Curley Hughes, Jim Kelley Jr., and Freddie Kaboskey.

THE 20-7 win scored by Potomac State over Salem College last Friday was the 30th consecutive setback for the Tigers who have not won a game since the 1950 season.

PRO Max Elbin's golf shop at the Burning Tree Country Club, Bethesda, was robbed last week and the culprits were picked up with their Jimmy Demaret outfits lined with the $600 cash loot.

AL MARTIN, local minor league umpire, would like to get into the Piedmont League next season after two years' experience in other circuits. He made his debut in the Kitty League in 1953 and called 'em in the Evangeline League during the 1954 campaign.

Marines Win, 3-0

The Marines defeated the Air Force, 3-10, in the V.F.W. Shuffleboard League last night.

Mike Eror was high for the Marines with 20 points and Jim Conlon headed the losers with 14.

The Marines oppose the Army Wednesday and the Air Force meets the Navy Thursday in games carded next week.

Hemmis Posts Sixth Straight Cycle Triumph

Takes Both Events At Bethlehem, Pa.

Joseph W. Hemmis, Cumberland's motorcycle hill-climbing ace, riding an Indian Chief, racked up his fifth and sixth consecutive wins in a recent program at Bethlehem, Pa., by taking both professional events on the card.

Hemmis has figured in 18 meets this season and has finished "in the money" 32 times in 36 outings. He scored two wins each at Rochester, N. Y., and York, Pa., before the Bethlehem climb and has a total of ten first places for the year.

Joe was the nation's high point scorer for 1953-54 and is now setting the pace in the 1954-55 point race.

Hemmis gives credit for his successful performances this year to an able pit crew, namely, C. W. "Tan" Hemmis, his father, who is engineer, and Joe LaGratta, mechanic.

In the Bethlehem events Hemmis defeated the veteran Howard Mitzel, of York, Pa., on both occasions. His time for the first event was 11.30 seconds while Mitzel was clocked in 12.31. "Tee" Hemmis, brother of Joe, finished third in 14.12 and Tom Paradise, Albany, N. Y. was fourth in 14.33.

Joe's winning time in the final was 11.69, Mitzel's 12.18, Sam Kakabar, Beaverdale, Pa., 13.50 and Earl Buck, Detroit, 13.84.

Hemmis will attempt to gain more laurels Sunday when he competes at Washington, Pa., in what may be the final hill climb of the season in the east.

North Carolina is the only state with an even 100 counties.

Sommas Adopt Kim — Nick Likes Dawson — Jr. Price Is Fourth — Boxers' Father Dies

Frostburg Teachers Face Slippery Rock Booters Today

Ken Babcock's Bobcats Seek Third Victory

Game At Frostburg Set For 2; Pennsy Team Highly Rated

Frostburg State Teachers' College will be gunning for its third straight victory of the season today when it meets the soccerites of Slippery Rock State Teachers College of Slippery Rock, Pa., in Frostburg at 2 o'clock.

The Pennsylvania school is usually represented by topnotch soccer teams and Coach Kenneth Babcock's Bobcats are expected to have a battle on their hands when the Keystone Staters step put on the Mountain City pitch. Last year Frostburg won in an overtime battle over a Slippery Rock team whose lineup included many sophomores.

In the two games played to date, the Bobcats have shown plenty of scoring punch with nine points to their credit while holding the opposition to a single tally. Frostburg whipped Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers, 4-0, and Mount St. Mary's College of Emmitsburg, Md., 5-1.

Tommy Kelly, Olan LaPorta and Bill Kirk are pacing the Frostburg team in scoring with two points each. Jim Kelly, Ronnie Carter and Jimmy Byrnes have one point apiece.

Shepherd College Will Play Soccer

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. — Shepherd will field its first soccer team next month when it travels to Boonsboro, Md., to play an exhibition game with St. James School.

The Soccer Club is trying to make soccer a varsity sport for Shepherd. Already 20 members have come out for the team.

Shepherd is following a plan used in the Midwest where soccer is played as a varsity sport. The plan is used by Ohio State and Purdue University.

Ross Kenny, captain of the Shepherd team, played for the City team in Baltimore, making the second team of the All-Maryland squad.

Allan Lessel, also a former City team member, is acting as coach. He played soccer in England. And there are other experienced players among the Rams.

Trabert Wins Pan-American

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14 (AP)—Tony Trabert, second seeded player from Cincinnati, today won the men's singles championship of the Pan-American Tennis Tournament with a 2-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 victory over 22-year old Mexican champion Mario Llamas.

Llamas, the upset player of the tournament with a victory over U.S. champion Vic Seixas enroute to the finals, was no match for the experienced Trabert after he had won the first set.

Trabert also teamed with Seixas in winning the men's doubles. They defeated Sweden's Davis Cup combination of Sven Davidson and Lennart Bergelin 6-4, 6-4, 6-1.

The U.S. also won the women's doubles with Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., and Dorothy Cheney of Santa Monica, Calif., beating the Mexican pair of Maria Relean and Martha Hernandez 2-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Gene Kuykendall scored a touchdown on a 15-yard end run in the second quarter to give Keyser High School's junior varsity gridders a 6-0 decision over the Allegany High Jayvees yesterday at Keyser.

Kuykendall's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Center Jim Turbin and Tackle Billy Beall starred on defense for the Keyserites while Kuykendall and Floyd Boor gained most of the yardage for the winners. The line play of Brent Dyche, "Bucky" Grimes and Gene Rexroad and the line-backing of Lonnie Jackson highlighted the play of the Allegany team. Mike Lease excelled in the kicking department for the losers, one of his punts traveling 52 yards and going out of bounds on the 8-yard line.

Keyser reeled off 10 first downs, completed two of seven passes for 19 yards and rolled up 148 yards rushing. Two of Keyser's passes were intercepted. Allegany made three first downs, clicked once in ten passes for nine yards and gained 94 yards overland.

Harridge Says Mack Can't Be Forced To Sell

Roy Hopes To Keep A's In Philadelphia

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—American League President Will Harridge said tonight that although the way is clear for Roy Mack to sell the Philadelphia Athletics to a new home in Kansas City, the league "can't force him to sell."

This was in reply to Roy Mack's surprising statement at Philadelphia he had still hopes of keeping the A's there even though the league Tuesday formally okayed a sale to Arnold Johnson of Chicago and transfer of the A's to Kansas City.

Set Monday Deadline

"We took up and disposed of the matter of selling to Johnson and the transfer to Kansas City at Roy Mack's request," Harridge said. "We gave him until Monday morning (11 a.m. EST) to make up his mind. At the meeting he said he would accept Johnson's offer. If he changes his mind, I suppose that is his prerogative.

"There is nothing further to say. We just have to sit and wait."

What if Mack lets the deadline pass without notifying Harridge?

"We'll face that when we come to it," said Harridge, "it was Roy Mack who asked us to approve the sale to Johnson. We did and we can't anticipate what Roy Mack will do now. Certainly the league has no idea of forcing him to do anything he doesn't want to do."

Harridge emphasized in an earlier statement today that the league action in approving the sale to Johnson and shifting to Kansas City included an affirmative vote by the Washington Senators.

Only Six Voted

This was in rebuttal to an assertion by Calvin Griffith, Senators' vice-president, that the league vote was not official. The vote was 6 to 0 with Detroit and Philadelphia absent from the balloting. Harridge said the record of the meeting was "quite clear" that the necessary six votes for a transfer were cast.

First globes made in the United States were the work of James Wilson in 1810.

Frostburg Teachers Face Slippery Rock Booters Today

Game At Frostburg Set For 2; Pennsy Team Highly Rated

Frostburg State Teachers' College will be gunning for its third straight victory of the season today when it meets the soccerites of Slippery Rock State Teachers College of Slippery Rock, Pa., in Frostburg at 2 o'clock.

The Pennsylvania school is usually represented by topnotch soccer teams and Coach Kenneth Babcock's Bobcats are expected to have a battle on their hands when the Keystone Staters step put on the Mountain City pitch. Last year Frostburg won in an overtime battle over a Slippery Rock team whose lineup included many sophomores.

Slippery Rock defeated Indiana (Pa.) Teachers 3-0 and lost to Pitt, 1-0, on a penalty goal.

In the two games played to date, the Bobcats have shown plenty of scoring punch with nine points to their credit while holding the opposition to a single tally. Frostburg whipped Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers, 4-0, and Mount St. Mary's College of Emmitsburg, Md., 5-1.

Tommy Kelly, Olan LaPorta and Bill Kirk are pacing the Frostburg team in scoring with two points each. Jim Kelly, Ronnie Carter and Jimmy Byrnes have one point apiece.

Shepherd is following a plan used in the Midwest where soccer is played as a varsity sport. The plan is used by Ohio State and Purdue University.

Ross Kenny, captain of the Shepherd team, played for the City team in Baltimore, making the second team of the All-Maryland squad.

Allan Lessel, also a former City team member, is acting as coach. He played soccer in England. And there are other experienced players among the Rams.

Mayo Smith Succeeds Terry Moore As Phillies' Manager

Minor League Leader Signs One-Year Pact

Headed Birmingham Two Years; Played With A's In 1945

By BILL LOFTUS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies dipped into the minor leagues—and for the fourth time to the New York Yankee organization—today and tapped lean, greying Mayo Smith to lead the National League ball club in 1955.

The 39-year-old, mild-mannered Smith was introduced to a gasping group of newspapermen, radio and television reporting at a specially summoned news conference. When he walked into the room with General Manager Roy Hamey, Smith was a complete stranger to the 50 waiting there.

Wanted "Experienced" Man

Hamey, the last Yankee employe to join the Phillies, said Smith was named to succeed Terry Moore, the former St. Louis Cardinals ball hawk, because the Phillies wanted an "experienced" manager. Smith has managed for six years in minor league ball, ranging from Class D to AA.

Hamey said Moore was released after a half-season tenure at the head of the Phillies because he was "inexperienced." His three months as manager of the Phillies followed 11 seasons as a St. Louis Cards star.

Moore said in St. Louis that he asked Hamey, when told by telephone today about the appointment of Smith, if there was any other reason besides "inexperience" for his replacement and Hamey said there was "absolutely none."

Moore said he had never heard of Smith, but that he wishes him "a lot of luck because he has a tough job ahead of him."

Smith was born in New London, Mo., in 1915 and 10 years later his family moved to Lakeworth, Fla., where he learned to play baseball. In 1933 he was signed by Dan Howley and went to Toronto of the International League. From 1934 to 1936 he played for Wilmington, N. C., of the Piedmont League.

Played With 1945 A's

A left-handed hitter, he started out playing third base but switched to the outfield. For the next seven years he was with the Buffalo Bisons of the International League and in 1945 played briefly with the Philadelphia Athletics. His only major league experience from 1946 to 1948 he was with Portland, Ore., of the Pacific Coast league as a player and in 1949 was named manager of the Amsterdam, N. Y., club in the Canadian-American League.

Amsterdam finished fifth in 1949 and fourth in 1950. He moved up to the Norfolk club of the Class B Piedmont league and won pennants there in 1951 and 1952.

In 1953 his Birmingham team finished fourth, and last year the Barons placed third.

Lehigh Sets Record

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — The 46 points Lehigh scored in losing to Bucknell 48-46 last Saturday apparently is a record score for a losing football team.

The Service Bureau of National Collegiate Athletic Assn. dug into its record today and was unable to locate any losing team scoring more points. The closest was 40 points by Tulsa in dropping a 46-40 decision to the Oklahoma Aggies in 1944.

Basilio Fights Gronik Tonight

Welterweight Bout Set For Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Patient Carmen Basilio, who has waited a year for another crack at welterweight champion Kid Gavilan without getting a nibble, takes on hard-slugging Allie Gronik of Detroit here tomorrow night.

The 10-round welterweight scrap will be nationally televised (NBC) from the War Memorial Auditorium with Syracuse blacked out. About 5,000 fans are expected.

Basilio, the number one welterweight contender, is putting his hopes on the line. Gronik is putting his dreams in the pot. A win for the 24-year-old Michigan welterweight champ could put him squarely in line for a title match with the winner of the upcoming Gavilan-Johnny Saxton tussle.

Reportedly, Basilio has been promised the winner of that match if he gets by Gronik. It will be Carmen's first outing here under a new co-sponsorship arrangement of the International Boxing Club and Syracuse promoter Norm Rothschild. He defeated Carmine Fiore in New York in his last outing Sept. 10.

Gronik has lost only one of his last 17 starts, that to second-ranked welterweight Del Flanagan. His overall record shows 55 wins, 12 defeats and five draws. He won 27 by knockouts.

Ring-wise Basilio has won 42, lost 11 and drawn in 6 with 19 knockouts.

Mayo Smith Succeeds Terry Moore As Phillies' Manager

Minor League Leader Signs One-Year Pact

Headed Birmingham Two Years; Played With A's In 1945

By BILL LOFTUS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies dipped into the minor leagues—and for the fourth time to the New York Yankee organization—today and tapped lean, greying Mayo Smith to lead the National League ball club in 1955.

The 39-year-old, mild-mannered Smith was introduced to a gasping group of newspapermen, radio and television reporting at a specially summoned news conference. When he walked into the room with General Manager Roy Hamey, Smith was a complete stranger to the 50 waiting there.

Wanted "Experienced" Man

Hamey, the last Yankee employe to join the Phillies, said Smith was named to succeed Terry Moore, the former St. Louis Cardinals ball hawk, because the Phillies wanted an "experienced" manager. Smith has managed for six years in minor league ball, ranging from Class D to AA.

Hamey said Moore was released after a half-season tenure at the head of the Phillies because he was "inexperienced." His three months as manager of the Phillies followed 11 seasons as a St. Louis Cards star.

Moore said in St. Louis that he asked Hamey, when told by telephone today about the appointment of Smith, if there was any other reason besides "inexperience" for his replacement and Hamey said there was "absolutely none."

Moore said he had never heard of Smith, but that he wishes him "a lot of luck because he has a tough job ahead of him."

Smith was born in New London, Mo., in 1915 and 10 years later his family moved to Lakeworth, Fla., where he learned to play baseball. In 1933 he was signed by Dan Howley and went to Toronto of the International League. From 1934 to 1936 he played for Wilmington, N. C., of the Piedmont League.

Played With 1945 A's

A left-handed hitter, he started out playing third base but switched to the outfield. For the next seven years he was with the Buffalo Bisons of the International League and in 1945 played briefly with the Philadelphia Athletics. His only major league experience from 1946 to 1948 he was with Portland, Ore., of the Pacific Coast league as a player and in 1949 was named manager of the Amsterdam, N. Y., club in the Canadian-American League.

Amsterdam finished fifth in 1949 and fourth in 1950. He moved up to the Norfolk club of the Class B Piedmont league and won pennants there in 1951 and 1952.

In 1953 his Birmingham team finished fourth, and last year the Barons placed third.

Lehigh Sets Record

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — The 46 points Lehigh scored in losing to Bucknell 48-46 last Saturday apparently is a record score for a losing football team.

The Service Bureau of National Collegiate Athletic Assn. dug into its record today and was unable to locate any losing team scoring more points. The closest was 40 points by Tulsa in dropping a 46-40 decision to the Oklahoma Aggies in 1944.

Basilio Fights Gronik Tonight

Welterweight Bout Set For Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Patient Carmen Basilio, who has waited a year for another crack at welterweight champion Kid Gavilan without getting a nibble, takes on hard-slugging Allie Gronik of Detroit here tomorrow night.

The 10-round welterweight scrap will be nationally televised (NBC) from the War Memorial Auditorium with Syracuse blacked out. About 5,000 fans are expected.

Basilio, the number one welterweight contender, is putting his hopes on the line. Gronik is putting his dreams in the pot. A win for the 24-year-old Michigan welterweight champ could put him squarely in line for a title match with the winner of the upcoming Gavilan-Johnny Saxton tussle.

Reportedly, Basilio has been promised the winner of that match if he gets by Gronik. It will be Carmen's first outing here under a new co-sponsorship arrangement of the International Boxing Club and Syracuse promoter Norm Rothschild. He defeated Carmine Fiore in New York in his last outing Sept. 10.

Gronik has lost only one of his last 17 starts, that to second-ranked welterweight Del Flanagan. His overall record shows 55 wins, 12 defeats and five draws. He won 27 by knockouts.

Ring-wise Basilio has won 42, lost 11 and drawn in 6 with 19 knockouts.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14 (INS) — Danny Kaye tells me that unknowingly I've turned casting director. He says he was looking everywhere for a sexy English actress for "Court Jester," his next personal production.

Then he read in my column that Angela Lansbury has just returned to pictures and is doing "The Purple Mask" at U-I.

That reminded him of what a good actress Angela is — and you've guessed it — Angela got herself another good job.

P. S. Angela was also very good on George Gobel's TV show.

Just as I was leaving the Beverly Hills Hotel I met Benny Goodman who is here conferring with Valentine Davies at Universal-International about his life story. Benny was in great fettle and I thought I hadn't seen him look as well in years.

I kidded him and told him that Dorothy Manners, who has been in Las Vegas, told me that he didn't care what actor was given his role, but that Mrs. Goodman said she'd like Cary Grant to play her husband. I laughed because every wife whose husband's life story is put on the screen seems to want Cary.

Benny says he heads east for TV appearances and he's been lining up some of his old musicians.

Handsome Caesare Sieppi, bass-baritone for the Metropolitan Opera Company, arrives in town Saturday. He's coming here to discuss with MGM the possibility of remaking "Kismet" as a musical.

You may or may not remember that this was made at MGM some years ago with Ronald Colman and Marlene Dietrich in the leads. Since that time it has been one of the top Broadway hits as a musical. Originally, Otis Skinner played it on the stage. Yes, I saw Otis in Chicago. Does or does that not date me?

The proud performers who are in Jack Benny's jam session on his TV show next Sunday had a preview at a buffet dinner party given by Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse.

Fred MacMurray and June Haver, Kirk and Annie Douglas, Dick Powell and June Allyson were the guests, and need I add the joint was jumping!

Dan Dailey came stag, guess all that ice-water Gwenn O'Connor threw at him chilled his romantic ardor.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jacques Fath, one of the best and nicest of the Paris couturiers, is in the American Hospital suffering from the dread leukemia. It was Fath who made Rita Hayworth's wedding dress when she married Aly Khan.

British Actor Francis X. Sullivan will apply for his citizenship papers next month. He has just finished "The Prodigal" for MGM.

At Mala Powers' wedding, Mitzi Gaynor caught the bridal bouquet. She has announced that she'll marry Jack Bean in November, but she whispered to someone that she's going to be married sooner — this month in fact.

Gregory Peck came within inches of being killed while shooting one of the final scenes for "Moby Dick." He wears a peg leg and while climbing a rope ladder, he lost his balance and fell backward. He was rushed to a hospital badly shaken up and bruised.

Joan and Lew Schrieber are back home after having a grand holiday in Paris and London.

Went to the Statler Hotel to hear Helen Traubel. Frank Tashlin's beautiful wife Mary was so admired that a man from another table came and introduced himself and wanted an introduction. Mary never knew a thing about it because the admirer was given a quick brush.

Tony Romano, who has done such wonderful work overseas with his guitar, now has a straight dramatic role in "Robber's Roost."

Barbara Bebe and Richard Lyon telephoned to say au revoir. They arrive home in London tomorrow and it's going to be mighty lonesome without them, and all the other young generation who have been at my house this past week.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14 (INS) — Danny Kaye tells me that unknowingly I've turned casting director. He says he was looking everywhere for a sexy English actress for "Court Jester," his next personal production.

Then he read in my column that Angela Lansbury has just returned to pictures and is doing "The Purple Mask" at U-I.

That reminded him of what a good actress Angela is — and you've guessed it — Angela got herself another good job.

She'll play the princess in "Court Jester," her first comedy role, opposite this prince of clowns, Danny, in the lead.

P. S. Angela was also very good on George Gobel's TV show.

Just as I was leaving the Beverly Hills Hotel I met Benny Goodman who is here conferring with Valentine Davies at Universal-International about his life story. Benny was in great fettle and I thought I hadn't seen him look as well in years.

I kidded him and told him that Dorothy Manners, who has been in Las Vegas, told me that he didn't care what actor was given his role, but that Mrs. Goodman said she'd like Cary Grant to play her husband. I laughed because every wife whose husband's life story is put on the screen seems to want Cary.

Benny says he heads east for TV appearances and he's been lining up some of his old musicians.

Handsome Caesare Sieppi, bass-baritone for the Metropolitan Opera Company, arrives in town Saturday. He's coming here to discuss with MGM the possibility of remaking "Kismet" as a musical.

You may or may not remember that this was made at MGM some years ago with Ronald Colman and Marlene Dietrich in the leads. Since that time it has been one of the top Broadway hits as a musical. Originally, Otis Skinner played it on the stage. Yes, I saw Otis in Chicago. Does or does that not date me?

The proud performers who are in Jack Benny's jam session on his TV show next Sunday had a preview at a buffet dinner party given by Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse.

Fred MacMurray and June Haver, Kirk and Annie Douglas, Dick Powell and June Allyson were the guests, and need I add the joint was jumping!

Dan Dailey came stag, guess all that ice-water Gwenn O'Connor threw at him chilled his romantic ardor.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jacques Fath, one of the best and nicest of the Paris couturiers, is in the American Hospital suffering from the dread leukemia. It was Fath who made Rita Hayworth's wedding dress when she married Aly Khan.

British Actor Francis X. Sullivan will apply for his citizenship papers next month. He has just finished "The Prodigal" for MGM.

At Mala Powers' wedding, Mitzi Gaynor caught the bridal bouquet. She has announced that she'll marry Jack Bean in November, but she whispered to someone that she's going to be married sooner — this month in fact.

Gregory Peck came within inches of being killed while shooting one of the final scenes for "Moby Dick." He wears a peg leg and while climbing a rope ladder, he lost his balance and fell backward. He was rushed to a hospital badly shaken up and bruised.

Joan and Lew Schrieber are back home after having a grand holiday in Paris and London.

Went to the Statler Hotel to hear Helen Traubel. Frank Tashlin's beautiful wife Mary was so admired that a man from another table came and introduced himself and wanted an introduction. Mary never knew a thing about it because the admirer was given a quick brush.

Tony Romano, who has done such wonderful work overseas with his guitar, now has a straight dramatic role in "Robber's Roost."

Barbara Bebe and Richard Lyon telephoned to say au revoir. They arrive home in London tomorrow and it's going to be mighty lonesome without them, and all the other young generation who have been at my house this past week.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Radio And Television

an-hour regulars once a week." One gets the definite impression that CBS would rather never have got into this mad race to see who could devise the biggest and most expensive and most star-ridden show but were pushed into it by NBC.

God knows the color spectaculars, the hour-long dramas with their all-star casts and the other extravaganzas have not been unqualified successes but they have given television a sense of excitement and unexpectedness that has been very refreshing. I have an idea that — whether one network decreed it that way or not — television was bound to kick up its heels in unexpected ways. Time and again, the industry has shown that it will not and cannot settle down to a nice comfortable 25 year sleep like radio.

The emphasis this year is on bigness and, at the moment, there seems no end to how big the shows will be. (Coming along, a week from Sunday is David Selznick's "Light's Diamond Jubilee." Two hours. Four networks. $1,000,000.) Wandering around CBS's cavernous Television City where the sets are beginning to approach the dimensions of the movies, I get to thinking that it seems like only yesterday the biggest stars on television were "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" who are only about a foot high.

ONE FLANK IS EXPOSED

MANY a No Trump declarer, with barely enough strength for his game contract, is like an imperiled army with one flank exposed while the other is impregnable. In either case the problem is to guard against an attack from one side, which may be the right or the left. If sound measures are taken to provide against the danger from that direction, the result is victory. Neglect of that one vital sector can bring defeat.

Upon winning the heart 10 lead, after letting West take the first trick with the Q, South reckoned the best chance for a maximum number of diamond tricks would be by finessing the 10. East won and returned his last heart to eliminate South's last stopper. Counting tricks now, South found only six in the red suits and one in clubs, so that two more were needed. He sought these by leading a spade, hoping East had the A. But West did, and followed it with two more hearts to beat the contract.

South thought it was two-fold hard luck to find both the diamond J and the spade A in the wrong places. It was not. It was bad bridge. He had an absolutely sure way to make his contract. All he had to do was make his moves in the correct order. If he had counted up his tricks, he could have found the simple way. Only four were required in diamonds if he also took two in spades.

The only possible re-entry to West's hand, if he postponed the diamond finesse, was the spade A. Upon taking the second heart lead, he should have knocked out the spade top. Getting in with his last heart, he could have finessed diamonds safely. East, with no more hearts, would then have had to give South the lead to run the rest of his needed nine tricks.

Here the job of South was to protect his left flank by taking away the threat from that direction before doing anything else.

an-hour regulars once a week." One gets the definite impression that CBS would rather never have got into this mad race to see who could devise the biggest and most expensive and most star-ridden show but were pushed into it by NBC.

God knows the color spectaculars, the hour-long dramas with their all-star casts and the other extravaganzas have not been unqualified successes but they have given television a sense of excitement and unexpectedness that has been very refreshing. I have an idea that — whether one network decreed it that way or not — television was bound to kick up its heels in unexpected ways. Time and again, the industry has shown that it will not and cannot settle down to a nice comfortable 25 year sleep like radio.

The emphasis this year is on bigness and, at the moment, there seems no end to how big the shows will be. (Coming along, a week from Sunday is David Selznick's "Light's Diamond Jubilee." Two hours. Four networks. $1,000,000.) Wandering around CBS's cavernous Television City where the sets are beginning to approach the dimensions of the movies, I get to thinking that it seems like only yesterday the biggest stars on television were "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" who are only about a foot high.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for the kindness extended to us during the illness and following the death of my husband and our father, Arthur E. Montgomery. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and offered the use of cars. Words cannot express our appreciation but we will always remember.
Louise Montgomery and Daughters.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Redmond. We especially wish to thank Rev. J. E. Dorsey, those who sent flowers, the pallbearers and all who donated cars for the funeral.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for the kindness extended to us during the illness and following the death of my husband and our father, Arthur E. Montgomery. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and offered the use of cars. Words cannot express our appreciation but we will always remember.

SRC To Let Route 40 Bids Early In '55

Polish, Martin's Mt. Relocations Mapped In Current Phase

Contracts for the major improvement and relocation of U.S. Route 40 over Martin's Mountain and Polish Mountain will be awarded early next year.

That was the assertion Norman M. Prichett, chief engineer for the State Roads Commission, made yesterday afternoon as members of a special five-man committee from the Legislative Council began a tour to study the possibility of pushing Route 40 projects forward in the state's 12-year, $568,000,000 roads program.

As things now stand, Pritchett said, the improvements to Route 40 over Town Hill are scheduled in the second four-year phase (between 1958 and 1961 inculsive) and over Green Ridge Mountain in the third four-year phase (between 1962 and 1965 inclusive.)

Improved All Way

When the 12-year program is ended Route 40 will be at least a three-lane improved road all of the 27 miles from the Allegany County line at Sideling Hill Creek to the Cumberland city limits, said Russell H. McCain, chairman of the Baltimore Democrat; State Sena-

Joining in the four-man tour, which started at the top of Sideling Hill Mountain, were the five legislators, representatives of the State Roads Commission, officers and directors of the Route 40 Association and members of the County Delegation in the House of Delegates.

Members of the special committee, appointed on motion of State Senator Robert B. Kimble, were Speaker of the House John C. Luber, Baltimore Democrat; Delegate Thomas F. Dempsey, also a State Roads Commission.
tor David K. McLaughlin of Washington County, Delegate Arthur H. Green of Garrett County, and Kimble.

Need Agreed

Virtually everyone on the tour appeared agreed upon the need for extensive improvements to Route 40 between Sideling Hill and Cumberland. The only way that the Town Hill and Green Ridge projects can be advanced in the 12-year program is by act of the General Assembly. The committee members seemed agreed upon recommending such action.

The tour began at the top of Sideling Hill where the delegation surveyed the improved Washington County road. There slightly over six miles of Route 40 were built in a modern three-lane highway at a cost of about $2,200,000.

As the group stood at the edge of the 40-foot cut at the top of Sideling Hill, McCain called attention to the road as the only major modification on Route 40 west of Hancock.

Prichett was asked about the necessity for the rather sharp curve at the top of Sideling Hill. The engineer said that there were only three alternatives and the other two were discarded as being too costly.

80-Foot Cut

Had the curve been made flatter it would have necessitated an 80-foot cut through the mountain. The other alternative was a tunnel, which at a cost of $2,500 a running foot would have cost $6,000,000 for the 3,000 feet needed.

The SRC spokesmen, in discussing the most immediate improvements planned on Route 40, said that the survey was begun on the west slope of Polish Mountain and the east slope of Martin's Mountain. It was decided after these surveys that such a plan was not feasible. As a result both sides of the two mountains nearest Cumberland will be improved in the same project.

At the top of Town Hill, where much of the discussion of the proposed improvements was carried on, both McCain and Senator Kimble argued that the General Assembly next January must sustain Governor Theodore R. McKeldin's veto of a bill which would have deferred the increase in the annual registration fee for motor vehicles.

They said that the increase from $15 to $20 for small cars and from $23 to $30 for large ones will bring in an additional $80,000,000 in the coming 12 years. Half of that, or $40,000,000 is earmarked for the State Roads Commission for road maintenance. Another $24,000,000 will go to Baltimore City for maintenance or new construction. The other $16,000,000 will go to the 23 counties, with Allegany getting in the neighborhood of $800,000 for the county roads system.

Would Boost Traffic

There was virtually unanimous agreement among those on the tour that improvements to Route 40 east of here should do much to increase the volume of traffic over the now obsolete highway. SRC representatives said that a traffic count at Fifteen-Mile Creek last summer showed an average daily traffic load of only 3,000 cars.

Walter McKinney Is Indicted On Assault Charge

8 Criminal Trials Are Set For Monday

An indictment charging Walter A. McKinnel, 810 Ashland Avenue, with assault and battery in the shooting of a 19-year-old Cumberland girl last July 4 near Cresaptown, was placed on the open docket yesterday at Allegany County Circuit Court.

The indictment returned by the October Grand Jury said McKinney, owner and operator of Hidden Village at Cresaptown, where the shooting occurred fired a 20-gauge shotgun at Miss Nancy Rice, 314 North Mechanic Street, and three companions.

The shotgun blast struck Miss Rice in both legs, wounding her with seven pellets.

State Police who investigated at the time said Miss Rice, another girl, Rosemary V. Corley, 18, of 120 North Mechanic Street, and two companions, Zane Schwartzwelder, 20, and Charles Hammond, 21, of Charlesville, Pa., had gone to a drive-in theatre Saturday night July 3, and then had driven to Hidden Village to look it over.

McKinney heard the four persons on the premises and opened fire at them with the shotgun.

McKinney's trial, along with seven others, is scheduled to begin Monday in Circuit Court.

Thomas N. Berry was appointed attorney for Larry G. Patton, 18-year-old Maryland Avenue youth, who along with James Robert McMillan, this city, faces trial Monday in the theft of brass and copper from the American Iron and Metal Company, this city.

Counsel appointed for Chester R. Albright, who is charged with carnal knowledge of a girl between 14 and 16 years of age, was William L. Wilson Jr.

Joseph Washington, city, was informed by Judge Harris he would have to obtain his own lawyer because of circumstances in his case. Washington faces four paternity charges.

Other trials listed Monday include Robert Lee Early Jr., on a carnal knowledge charge, Earl E. Boor in a paternity case, and Kenneth D. Porter on a morals charge.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed Wednesday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Carl G. Scharf vs. Dorothy Jane Scharf.

Two Counties Will Share $43,293,000 In Road Funds

McCain Submits 12-Year Cost Breakdown

Allegany and Garrett counties together will get $43,293,000 out of the $568,000,000 12-year State Roads Commission road improvement program, Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman, said yesterday on a tour of Route 40 between Sideling Hill and Cumberland.

Allegany County is scheduled to receive $27,592,000 and Garrett County will receive $15,701,000, the state official reported.

McCain explained that 79.72 miles and $21,455,000 of the county's share will go for primary road improvements, including the crosstown expressway here in Cumberland. The other $6,137,000 is earmarked for secondary roads.

In Garrett County $7,068,000 is for 53.26 miles of primary road improvements and the other $8,633,000 for 64.98 miles of secondary road work.

The SRC chairman's figures also include breakdowns for each of the three four-year phases of the program.

For Allegany County:

First four years, 28.17 miles and $5,320,000, primary roads; 16.06 miles and $2,494,000, secondary roads. Second four years, 27.74 miles and $8,510,000, primary roads; 13.11 miles and $1,886,000, secondary roads. Third four years, 23.81 miles and $7,625,000, primary roads; 12.76 miles and $1,757,000, secondary roads.

For Garrett County:

First four years, 22.30 miles and miles and $2,489,000, secondary roads. Second four years, 13.99 miles and $1,773,000, primary roads; 21.30 miles and $2,661,000, secondary roads. Third four years, 16.97 miles and $2,465,000, primary roads, 27.14 miles and $3,483,000, secondary roads.

McCain pointed out that under present legislation the commission may vary no more than 10 per cent, plus or minus, in the allotted projects for any four-year phase and no more than five per cent plus or minus in the entire 12 years.

Old Friends Reunited In Korea

Two local men who grew up together in the same neighborhood, met a couple of weeks ago in Korea, after one of them walked seven miles to locate the other.

Lt. Pat DeMartino and Pfc. Leonard White, both residents of South Cumberland, write that they had a "real reunion."

DeMartino is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James DeMartino, 401 Springdale Street, and is stationed with the First Marine Division in Korea. He is a graduate of LaSalle High School and of St. Francis College in Loretto, Pa. He played football at both high school and college.

White, who heard that his old friend and former buddy was in Korea, walked seven miles and found him. White is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl White, 182 Thomas Street and is stationed with the First Marine Division at Inchon, Korea. He graduated from Fort Hill High School and played on the football team there in 1952 when Fort Hill took the city championship.

Engineers Get Extension Of No-Firing Order

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP) — A Federal court injunction barring the firing of six Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engineers was extended today by Judge Roszel C. Thomsen until next Wednesday.

The temporary injunction was given additional life to permit the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineeds, one of the defendants, to file a motion to dismiss.

The engineers claim they were refused readmission to the Brotherhood after taking an active part in forming a rival labor union.

Their attempted discharge came under provisions of a closed shop agreement between the B & O and the union.

The engineers are J. R. Alabaugh, W. H. Schaver, J. W. Welman, E. J. Schweinninger and C. H. Smith, all of Cumberland, and C. B. Fledderman, Cincinnati.

Midland Couple's Holstein Wins Butterfat Honors

Star, a registered Holstein owned by C. O. and Elizabeth Miller of Midland, was the September butterfat production champion of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association with 79 pounds in 1,830 pounds of milk.

However, Harry E. Miller, one of the association's supervisors, emphasized that only 388 cows were tested during the month because of the illness of his associate supervisor, Wheeler W. Arnold. There are over 850 cows in the association.

The average production for those cows tested in September was 667 pounds of milk, 25.3 pounds of butterfat, and 3.79 per cent butterfat.

Trailing last month's butterfat champion were grade Holstein owned by John T. Mason of Cresaptown and Brinker Brothers of Springfield, W. Va.

Six dairy farmers were represented on the list of 10 top producers. Mason had three cows listed, two of them products of artificial breeding. Brinker Brothers had two A. E. and D. W. Light of Pinto had one, Harry T. Delbrook of Mt. Savage had one and Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings had two cows tied for ninth place. Eight of the 10 big butterfat producers were Holsteins, one was a Guernsey and the other a Jersey.

Miller also belatedly released his August report which showed No. 20, a grade Holstein belonging to Shumaker Brothers as the butterfat champion with 74 pounds in 1,774 pounds of milk.

Other farms cited on the August report were James H. Weimer, Mt. Savage; Potomac State College, Keyser; Mason, Wilbert R. Paul, Mt. Savage; Lights and Delbrook.

In August only 717 of the association cows were tested because of Arnold's illness. They averaged 596 pounds of milk, 23.5 pounds of butterfat and 3.94 per cent butterfat.

Gas Co. Leases 3,000 Acres In Allegany County

Drilling Operations To Begin Shortly

The New York State Natural Gas Corporation has leased some 2,979 acres of land in Allegany County to begin immediate operations to drill for natural gas and oil.

Twenty-five leases recorded yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court indicated the Pittsburgh, Pa., corporation will pay a quarterly rental of nearly $752.75 to the property owners while drilling operations are in progress.

The most of the land leased by the gas company is located in Allegany County Election District No.3 near the Maryland-Pennsylvania state line with about 1,895 acres being in this district.

The remainder of the acreage is located in Election District No. 3 near the Washington County Line amounting to approximately 1,084 acres.

The leases reveal that immediate payment of rentals will begin until drilling operations are started. The rental basis will continue on all acreage throughout drilling operations until or if natural gas or oil is struck.

The lessors will obtain one-eighth of all gas or oil utilized from the operations in royalties under terms of the leases.

The second largest single amount of acreage was leased to the company by John T. Shipway and Belle Shipway, his wife, and Eldon H. Shipway and Gladys Shipway, his wife, of Flintstone. The Shipways turned over 362 acres of land for the drilling operations in District 3.

Cecil C. Shawver, Baltimore, leased 511 acres of property near the Washington County line, for the largest amount on one lease. He will receive $127.75 quarterly rental for his property.

The third largest lease was 216 acres by Benjamin F. Lashley Jr., and Ada Lashley, his wife, Artemas, Pa.

McKeldin Cites Record On Aid To Education

Governor Addresses State Teacher Meet

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin, who vetoed a salary increase for Maryland school teachers in 1951, came before 10,000 of them today in the midst of his campaign for re-election and declared the State's spending for schools has increased 35 per cent under his administration.

The governor addressed the opening general session of the 87th convention of the Maryland State Teachers Association. It was a record crowd. More than 9,500 chairs at the Fifth Regiment Armory were taken and there were hundreds of standees.

McKeldin noted the State budget for schools, colleges and teachers' pensions was $48,032,000 the year before he took office. This past year it was $64,838,000.

To Spend Still More

"A further increase in next year's budget of several millions of dollars, at least, is anticipated," he said.

"It has been stated, for political purposes, that the State has spent too much money under my regime.

"I might defend my position on the ground that most of this additional spending has come as the result of legislation.

"I prefer to state that I am proud that Maryland has undertaken to meet the required increases in the fields of education and health, without any tax increases in the past four years.

"I believe the people are prepared to pay all reasonable bills incurred for educational purposes.

"The cost of education, then, represents a third of all the money spent each year by the State of Maryland, far more than is spent by any other department of the government."

Cites Aid To Teachers

The governor declared he and his administration have "tried reasonably to improve upon the status of teachers." He said he felt the special school commission he had appointed, which suggested the gradual increases of salaries now in effect, made a "well reasoned, studied effort to move in the right direction."

As the governor spoke, the convention delegates had before them

Hyde Says GOP Has Benefitted Federal Worker

Attacks Critics Of Administration

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, campaigning for re-election in his home county of Montgomery, yesterday defended the employment of businessmen in top-level government posts, and said the Eisenhower Administration is helping the federal worker.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Montgomery County Businessmen's Association at Four Corners, Hyde said his opponent had, a few days ago, spoken in the same community, and had "engaged in some bellicose bleating about businessmen in government."

This said Hyde, would sound "as if there were something inherently bad about all businessmen who might want to give the benefit of their experience to the operation of our government."

"The Eisenhower Administration, with the aid of these berated businessmen, brought about the most remarkable transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy in the nation's history," Hyde declared.

He pointed out that after-taxes personal income had increased by 7.2 per cent since 1952, and that the purchasing power of the American working people is higher. In June 1954, he said, there were 1,300,000 more people with jobs than there were in January 1953 when the Republicans took over.

Dollar stabilization under the present GOP Administration, he said, means a real increase in spending power.

Last night, in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Hillmead Citizens Association at Bradley Elementary School in Bethesda, Hyde also answered charges concerning GOP treatment of federal employes.

"My opponent," he said, "has spent a great deal of time and money in speeches and circulars trying to impress upon the Civil Service employes that this Administration and I have ruined their lives. He has neglected to tell them what benefits the federal employes have derived from this Administration."

Hyde went on to say that the Republican 83d Congress granted 15 important fringe benefits, which he called a near record for one Congress.

The GOP Congressman said he would, if re-elected, work for passage of a bill to provide "a fair increase" for federal employes, as he did in the last Congress.

Recounting various benefits which have come the way of federal employes under the present Administration, Hyde charged: "The New Deal and Fair Deal administrations were in power for 20 years without seeing fit to enact any of these benefits into law."

Hyde plans to spend today and tomorrow in Allegany County.

Robbery Charges Face Suspects After Attack

Five young suspects in an attack upon a soldier on North Mechanic Street yesterday were charged with robbery after an investigation in the office of State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

The five, including a 19-year-old youth, will be given a preliminary hearings in Trial Magistrate's Court this morning for the purpose of setting their bonds. Meanwhile they are being lodged in the County Jail.

In addition warrants have been obtained charging two local establishments with selling beer to the 19-year-old boy.

Facing trial Monday in Police Court will be representatives of the South End Republican Club, 332-34 Virginia Avenue, and Mary's Beer and Lunch, 143 North Centre Street.

The minor, Donald I. Davidson of RD 5, city, who was slated to leave yesterday for induction into the armed forces, was charged with unlawfully purchasing beer at the two places Tuesday evening.

The warrants were issued by Magistrate Donald W. Mason to Detective Joseph H. Stitcher and Donald H. Smith. Both officers stated that similar action against minors will be taken in future cases.

Others arrested in the attack incident were Dallas G. Bittner, 22, of LaVale; Edward R. Grabenstein, city; Ronald W. Keiser, 23, RD 1, city, and James D. Warden, RD 5.

Bittner was picked up first by Stitcher and State Police Cpl. William F. Baker. He was working at a sawmill off Braddock Road. The others were taken into custody late last night, and all reportedly admitted being on a beer drinking spree prior to the attack.

Police said Davidson jumped Sgt. First Class Maurice Campbell, Wiley Ford, who is stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash. The incident occurred early Wednesday on North Mechanic Street.

During the scuffle, the soldier said, his wrist watch was removed and the assailants tried to take his wallet before being scared off by lights of an approaching car. The watch was recovered.

Zembower has been appointed secretary for the committee and Rankin, treasurer. The general committee will be in charge of the program.

Russler was named chairman of the Housing Committee, assisted by DeHaven, Rankin and Pritchard. Wilson, Kirk and Pritchard will head the Parade Committee and the parade this year will be held on Friday evening of the convention.

Kirk has been named chairman of the Publicity Committee. Members of each company of the two-county association will be represented on the various committees.

Preparatory business for the coming convention was discussed at the Wednesday night meeting and the local hotels will be contacted to learn the number of rooms which will be available for those who plan to attend the convention, according to the Housing Committee.

A meeting of the convention committee is planned for the near future, according to the co-chairmen.

Polish, Martin's Mt. Relocations Mapped In Current Phase

Contracts for the major improvement and relocation of U.S. Route 40 over Martin's Mountain and Polish Mountain will be awarded early next year.

That was the assertion Norman M. Prichett, chief engineer for the State Roads Commission, made yesterday afternoon as members of a special five-man committee from the Legislative Council began a tour to study the possibility of pushing Route 40 projects forward in the state's 12-year, $568,000,000 roads program.

As things now stand, Pritchett said, the improvements to Route 40 over Town Hill are scheduled in the second four-year phase (between 1958 and 1961 inculsive) and over Green Ridge Mountain in the third four-year phase (between 1962 and 1965 inclusive.)

Improved All Way

When the 12-year program is ended Route 40 will be at least a three-lane improved road all of the 27 miles from the Allegany County line at Sideling Hill Creek to the Cumberland city limits, said Russell H. McCain, chairman of the Baltimore Democrat; State Sena-

Joining in the four-man tour, which started at the top of Sideling Hill Mountain, were the five legislators, representatives of the State Roads Commission, officers and directors of the Route 40 Association and members of the County Delegation in the House of Delegates.

Members of the special committee, appointed on motion of State Senator Robert B. Kimble, were Speaker of the House John C. Luber, Baltimore Democrat; Delegate Thomas F. Dempsey, also a State Roads Commission.

tor David K. McLaughlin of Washington County, Delegate Arthur H. Green of Garrett County, and Kimble.

Need Agreed

Virtually everyone on the tour appeared agreed upon the need for extensive improvements to Route 40 between Sideling Hill and Cumberland. The only way that the Town Hill and Green Ridge projects can be advanced in the 12-year program is by act of the General Assembly. The committee members seemed agreed upon recommending such action.

The tour began at the top of Sideling Hill where the delegation surveyed the improved Washington County road. There slightly over six miles of Route 40 were built in a modern three-lane highway at a cost of about $2,200,000.

As the group stood at the edge of the 40-foot cut at the top of Sideling Hill, McCain called attention to the road as the only major modification on Route 40 west of Hancock.

Prichett was asked about the necessity for the rather sharp curve at the top of Sideling Hill. The engineer said that there were only three alternatives and the other two were discarded as being too costly.

80-Foot Cut

Had the curve been made flatter it would have necessitated an 80-foot cut through the mountain. The other alternative was a tunnel, which at a cost of $2,500 a running foot would have cost $6,000,000 for the 3,000 feet needed.

The SRC spokesmen, in discussing the most immediate improvements planned on Route 40, said that the survey was begun on the west slope of Polish Mountain and the east slope of Martin's Mountain. It was decided after these surveys that such a plan was not feasible. As a result both sides of the two mountains nearest Cumberland will be improved in the same project.

At the top of Town Hill, where much of the discussion of the proposed improvements was carried on, both McCain and Senator Kimble argued that the General Assembly next January must sustain Governor Theodore R. McKeldin's veto of a bill which would have deferred the increase in the annual registration fee for motor vehicles.

They said that the increase from $15 to $20 for small cars and from $23 to $30 for large ones will bring in an additional $80,000,000 in the coming 12 years. Half of that, or $40,000,000 is earmarked for the State Roads Commission for road maintenance. Another $24,000,000 will go to Baltimore City for maintenance or new construction. The other $16,000,000 will go to the 23 counties, with Allegany getting in the neighborhood of $800,000 for the county roads system.

Would Boost Traffic

There was virtually unanimous agreement among those on the tour that improvements to Route 40 east of here should do much to increase the volume of traffic over the now obsolete highway. SRC representatives said that a traffic count at Fifteen-Mile Creek last summer showed an average daily traffic load of only 3,000 cars.

Missing Man Returns

City police said yesterday that Wade H. Miller, 32, of Ridgeley, who was reported missing late Wednesday afternoon, had returned to his home.

Legislators See Route 40 Needs

McCain, chairman of the State Roads Commission, points to a proposed improvement of Route 40 down the west slope of Polish Mountain. Left to right are Edward Wolfe, president of the Route 40 Association; Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the State Department of Legislative Reference; McCain, Delegate Arthur H. Green of Garrett County; Senator Robert B. Kimble of Allegany County; Speaker of the House John C. Luber of Baltimore; Senator David K. McLaughlin of Washington County, and Delegate Thomas F. Walter McKinney Is Indicted On Assault Charge

8 Criminal Trials Are Set For Monday

An indictment charging Walter A. McKinnel, 810 Ashland Avenue, with assault and battery in the shooting of a 19-year-old Cumberland girl last July 4 near Cresaptown, was placed on the open docket yesterday at Allegany County Circuit Court.

The indictment returned by the October Grand Jury said McKinney, owner and operator of Hidden Village at Cresaptown, where the shooting occurred fired a 20-gauge shotgun at Miss Nancy Rice, 314 North Mechanic Street, and three companions.

The shotgun blast struck Miss Rice in both legs, wounding her with seven pellets.

State Police who investigated at the time said Miss Rice, another girl, Rosemary V. Corley, 18, of 120 North Mechanic Street, and two companions, Zane Schwartzwelder, 20, and Charles Hammond, 21, of Charlesville, Pa., had gone to a drive-in theatre Saturday night July 3, and then had driven to Hidden Village to look it over.

McKinney heard the four persons on the premises and opened fire at them with the shotgun.

McKinney's trial, along with seven others, is scheduled to begin Monday in Circuit Court.

Engineers Get Extension Of No-Firing Order

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP) — A Federal court injunction barring the firing of six Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engineers was extended today by Judge Roszel C. Thomsen until next Wednesday.

The temporary injunction was given additional life to permit the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineeds, one of the defendants, to file a motion to dismiss.

The engineers claim they were refused readmission to the Brotherhood after taking an active part in forming a rival labor union.

Their attempted discharge came under provisions of a closed shop agreement between the B & O and the union.

The engineers are J. R. Alabaugh, W. H. Schaver, J. W. Welman, E. J. Schweinninger and C. H. Smith, all of Cumberland, and C. B. Fledderman, Cincinnati.

Midland Couple's Holstein Wins Butterfat Honors

Star, a registered Holstein owned by C. O. and Elizabeth Miller of Midland, was the September butterfat production champion of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association with 79 pounds in 1,830 pounds of milk.

However, Harry E. Miller, one of the association's supervisors, emphasized that only 388 cows were tested during the month because of the illness of his associate supervisor, Wheeler W. Arnold. There are over 850 cows in the association.

The average production for those cows tested in September was 667 pounds of milk, 25.3 pounds of butterfat, and 3.79 per cent butterfat.

Trailing last month's butterfat champion were grade Holstein owned by John T. Mason of Cresaptown and Brinker Brothers of Springfield, W. Va.

Six dairy farmers were represented on the list of 10 top producers. Mason had three cows listed, two of them products of artificial breeding. Brinker Brothers had two A. E. and D. W. Light of Pinto had one, Harry T. Delbrook of Mt. Savage had one and Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings had two cows tied for ninth place. Eight of the 10 big butterfat producers were Holsteins, one was a Guernsey and the other a Jersey.

Miller also belatedly released his August report which showed No. 20, a grade Holstein belonging to Shumaker Brothers as the butterfat champion with 74 pounds in 1,774 pounds of milk.

Other farms cited on the August report were James H. Weimer, Mt. Savage; Potomac State College, Keyser; Mason, Wilbert R. Paul, Mt. Savage; Lights and Delbrook.

In August only 717 of the association cows were tested because of Arnold's illness. They averaged 596 pounds of milk, 23.5 pounds of butterfat and 3.94 per cent butterfat.

The New York State Natural Gas Corporation has leased some 2,979 acres of land in Allegany County to begin immediate operations to drill for natural gas and oil.

Twenty-five leases recorded yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court indicated the Pittsburgh, Pa., corporation will pay a quarterly rental of nearly $752.75 to the property owners while drilling operations are in progress.

McKeldin Cites Record On Aid To Education

Governor Addresses State Teacher Meet

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin, who vetoed a salary increase for Maryland school teachers in 1951, came before 10,000 of them today in the midst of his campaign for re-election and declared the State's spending for schools has increased 35 per cent under his administration.

The governor addressed the opening general session of the 87th convention of the Maryland State Teachers Association. It was a record crowd. More than 9,500 chairs at the Fifth Regiment Armory were taken and there were hundreds of standees.

McKeldin noted the State budget for schools, colleges and teachers' pensions was $48,032,000 the year before he took office. This past year it was $64,838,000.

To Spend Still More

"A further increase in next year's budget of several millions of dollars, at least, is anticipated," he said.

"It has been stated, for political purposes, that the State has spent too much money under my regime.

"I might defend my position on the ground that most of this additional spending has come as the result of legislation.

"I prefer to state that I am proud that Maryland has undertaken to meet the required increases in the fields of education and health, without any tax increases in the past four years.

"I believe the people are prepared to pay all reasonable bills incurred for educational purposes.

"The cost of education, then, represents a third of all the money spent each year by the State of Maryland, far more than is spent by any other department of the government."

Cites Aid To Teachers

The governor declared he and his administration have "tried reasonably to improve upon the status of teachers." He said he felt the special school commission he had appointed, which suggested the gradual increases of salaries now in effect, made a "well reasoned, studied effort to move in the right direction."

As the governor spoke, the convention delegates had before them

Hyde Says GOP Has Benefitted Federal Worker

Attacks Critics Of Administration

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, campaigning for re-election in his home county of Montgomery, yesterday defended the employment of businessmen in top-level government posts, and said the Eisenhower Administration is helping the federal worker.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Montgomery County Businessmen's Association at Four Corners, Hyde said his opponent had, a few days ago, spoken in the same community, and had "engaged in some bellicose bleating about businessmen in government."

This said Hyde, would sound "as if there were something inherently bad about all businessmen who might want to give the benefit of their experience to the operation of our government."

"The Eisenhower Administration, with the aid of these berated businessmen, brought about the most remarkable transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy in the nation's history," Hyde declared.

He pointed out that after-taxes personal income had increased by 7.2 per cent since 1952, and that the purchasing power of the American working people is higher. In June 1954, he said, there were 1,300,000 more people with jobs than there were in January 1953 when the Republicans took over.

Dollar stabilization under the present GOP Administration, he said, means a real increase in spending power.

Last night, in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Hillmead Citizens Association at Bradley Elementary School in Bethesda, Hyde also answered charges concerning GOP treatment of federal employes.

"My opponent," he said, "has spent a great deal of time and money in speeches and circulars trying to impress upon the Civil Service employes that this Administration and I have ruined their lives. He has neglected to tell them what benefits the federal employes have derived from this Administration."

Hyde went on to say that the Republican 83d Congress granted 15 important fringe benefits, which he called a near record for one Congress.

The GOP Congressman said he would, if re-elected, work for passage of a bill to provide "a fair increase" for federal employes, as he did in the last Congress.

Recounting various benefits which have come the way of federal employes under the present Administration, Hyde charged: "The New Deal and Fair Deal administrations were in power for 20 years without seeing fit to enact any of these benefits into law."

Hyde plans to spend today and tomorrow in Allegany County.

Robbery Charges Face Suspects After Attack

Five young suspects in an attack upon a soldier on North Mechanic Street yesterday were charged with robbery after an investigation in the office of State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

The five, including a 19-year-old youth, will be given a preliminary hearings in Trial Magistrate's Court this morning for the purpose of setting their bonds. Meanwhile they are being lodged in the County Jail.

In addition warrants have been obtained charging two local establishments with selling beer to the 19-year-old boy.

Facing trial Monday in Police Court will be representatives of the South End Republican Club, 332-34 Virginia Avenue, and Mary's Beer and Lunch, 143 North Centre Street.

The minor, Donald I. Davidson of RD 5, city, who was slated to leave yesterday for induction into the armed forces, was charged with unlawfully purchasing beer at the two places Tuesday evening.

The warrants were issued by Magistrate Donald W. Mason to Detective Joseph H. Stitcher and Donald H. Smith. Both officers stated that similar action against minors will be taken in future cases.

Others arrested in the attack incident were Dallas G. Bittner, 22, of LaVale; Edward R. Grabenstein, city; Ronald W. Keiser, 23, RD 1, city, and James D. Warden, RD 5.

Bittner was picked up first by Stitcher and State Police Cpl. William F. Baker. He was working at a sawmill off Braddock Road. The others were taken into custody late last night, and all reportedly admitted being on a beer drinking spree prior to the attack.

Police said Davidson jumped Sgt. First Class Maurice Campbell, Wiley Ford, who is stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash. The incident occurred early Wednesday on North Mechanic Street.

During the scuffle, the soldier said, his wrist watch was removed and the assailants tried to take his wallet before being scared off by lights of an approaching car. The watch was recovered.
